Floods Persist

ISLAND MOPS SOGGY FACE

By NANCY BROWN

Floods were beginning to recede from soggy basements and sloppy roads throughout Vancouver Island by late afternoon, Friday, after two days of record rainfall.

From two to nine inches of rain pelted down Thursday and Friday to block, flood and wash out roads and cause mud slides.

Higher than normal temperatures which melted snow combined with near record rainfalls and high tides to cause heavy flooding. (See also Page 34).

ISLAND CUT OFF

According to officials most of the snow is now gone except from the high levels, and even repeated storms are unlikely to cause the havoc that came in the wake of Thursday's rain.

Predictions of Port Renfrew residents came true Thursday and Friday, when some 30 families and 175 men on an island in Harrison Cove at the mouth of the San Juan River were completely isolated.

A tree was carried by the rapidly rising waters, hitting a pier of the 110-foot-long Harrison Cove bridge, and knocking it nearly two feet out of line.

"It was touch and go for a while there," said B.C. Forest Products engineer Burley Bowler. "It looked like the bridge might go Friday afternoon, but I think it'll still be there in the morning.

BRIDGE CLOSED

"How much good it will be, and how soon it will be in use is a different matter, though."

The bridge, which local residents want replaced because they claim it is dangerous, was closed by provincial highways department crews Friday.

Some 200 men were thrown out of work, when they could not cross the bridge to work,

Defence

Johnson Chooses Close Friend

Clifford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson Friday chose Clark M. Clifford, a close friend, prominent Washington lawyer and "insider's insider" at the White House under three Democratic presidents, to succeed Robert McNamara by March 1 as secretary of defence.

A suave, silver-haired man of 61, Clifford told newsmen he much preferred to be an outside adviser to the President, and told Johnson so.

But, he said, "when the President of the United States looks you straight in the eye and says as President of the country, 'I ask you as a citizen to take this assignment,' then I cannot conceive of anyone having but one answer — yes."

★ ★ ★

Johnson made the announcement at a hastily-called White House news conference. He tapped Clifford Friday from among four or five men McNamara had suggested as his successor in one of the most demanding and exhausting jobs in Washington.

McNamara announced in November he was quitting

Stanfield on Medicare:

It's Provincial Task

'Canada First' Bennett Label

VANCOUVER (Special) — Opposition Leader Stanfield said Friday he doesn't agree with critics who claim Premier Bennett has separatist leanings because he hasn't attended some recent federal-provincial conferences.

In reply to the question at a press conference here, Stanfield said: "I can't believe that a man like Mr. Bennett who was born in the Maritimes and now lives in the west can be anything but a good Canadian."

Stanfield, who resigned a premier of Nova Scotia to take over as national leader of the Conservatives last October, added: "Over the past 10 years I've attended a number of federal-provincial meetings where Mr. Bennett was present and I always found him co-operative and understanding so far as the rest of the country was concerned."

★ ★ ★

He said he hoped Prime Minister Pearson would permit some opposition members to attend the February conference on constitutional matters as observers. The prime minister said he would consider such a move when it was proposed recently in the Commons.

Stanfield said it was vital that the opposition as well as the government know first-hand what transpires and what views are expressed. He had earlier called the February federal-provincial conference the "most important of our lifetimes."

By IAN STREET

VANCOUVER—The federal government must redraft its national medicare plan, scheduled for implementation July 1, after "genuine consultation" with the provinces, Opposition Leader Stanfield said here Friday.

Stanfield told reporters that the process by which the Pearson administration arrived at the current medicare scheme made a "farce" and a "mockery" of the principle of consultation with the 10 provinces. (See also Pages 6, 15.)

Later, at a $50-a-plate nonpartisan dinner, he told 400 listeners that a Tory government in Ottawa for some time to come would give priority to economic growth in Canada.

GRITS INCAPABLE

He attacked the Liberal government for allowing inflation to reach the existing serious proportions and said the present administration has shown itself to be incapable of solving the major problems which face Canada today.

"I suggest real consultation must be held because medical care, after all, falls within the jurisdiction of the provinces," said Stanfield at the airport press conference.

FOUR PRINCIPLES

After the federal government settled on the four principles on which medicare is based, Stanfield said, provincial spokesmen tried in vain to obtain a meeting to discuss the matter with federal authorities. They were faced with a solid "take-it-or-leave-it" attitude.

Stanfield attacked Finance Minister Sharp's inconsistency in, on the one hand, urging provincial governments to exercise fiscal restraint, and on the other, attempting to force a costly medicare program upon the country.

FUNDS DIVERTED

Most of the provinces oppose a medicare plan starting July 1, the Tory leader said, because this would mean diverting funds from other projects which they consider hold a higher priority.

This threatens "a serious deterioration" of federal provincial relations, Stanfield said, at a time with constitution talks scheduled for early February when accord with the provinces is vital to Canadian unity.

"I am very anxious to see a

Liquor Prices Rise Twice in Month

Retail liquor prices were increased by a B.C. cabinet order-in-council passed Friday.

The retail price list was revised upwards last month following federal government tax increases.

A new price list approved Friday raised prices from five to 45 cents on more than 170 brands. Most increases were in the 5-10 cent range. There were also a few reductions, of between five and 30 cents.

Prices on most 12-ounce size ryes and gins went from $2.40 to $2.45. Prices increased from $4.70 to $4.80 on most 25-ounce bottles.

Trudeau Promised B.C.'s Co-operation

Justice Minister Pierre-Elliott Trudeau met with Premier Bennett Friday only hours after a similar meeting with Alberta's Premier Manning to discuss the forthcoming federal-provincial constitutional conference.

Both the premier and the federal minister shied at reporters' questions.

"I'm not here publicly," Trudeau said. "I'm not seeing the press.

"I'm not granting any interviews."

Following a 45-minute meeting with the premier, Trudeau said "we just talked about the conference to come and how we envisage it."

Premier Bennett said "I've just had a very frank discussion with the minister from Ottawa."

He said "we reached complete agreement."

Asked for more comment on the agreement, the premier said, "No further statement."

Trudeau said the complete agreement involved a promise by the premier to take Trudeau into the provincial cabinet if he ever decided to move from Ottawa to B.C.

Trudeau declined to answer reporters' questions here about the Liberal party leadership, saying "it would be wrong for me to discuss the political leadership."

Trudeau arrived here from Edmonton where he met with Premier Manning Friday morning.

And Now There Are Eight

Eight Liberals have announced their intentions to seek the leadership of their party and the office of prime minister that goes with it (See Page 22.)

The leader will be chosen in Ottawa April 6.

In the field:

J. J. Greene, 47, minister of agriculture.

Paul Martin, 64, minister for external affairs.

Mitchell Sharp, 56, finance minister.

John Turner, 38, minister of consumer affairs.

Allan MacEachen, 46, health minister.

Paul Hellyer, 44, transport minister.

Eric Kierans, 53, former Quebec minister of health and past-president of the Quebec Liberal Federation.

Rev. Lloyd Henderson, 60, former mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man.

Derelict Dutch Freighter

Little Trawler Dares Giant Salvage Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — An audacious band of Grand Banks fishermen watched the rescue of all 16 persons aboard the stricken Dutch freighter Ocean Sprinter Friday, then braved North Atlantic wind and waves to seize the derelict as a prize of the sea.

The 312-ton trawler, Zebreinney, put men aboard the Ocean Sprinter and took her briefly in tow. But the line broke and the freighter, without lights, drifted aliist through the blackness of the ocean night.

★ ★ ★

"We are waiting until morning and will put a line aboard again at dawn if the weather permits," the Zebreinney's skipper, Capt. James Chayter, said.

Asked if he considered her a salvage prize, Capt. Chayter replied: "Yes. We only hope to God we get her in."

The drama of the little trawler boldly seeking to make captive a ship four times her size overshadowed the rescue of 15 men and one woman from the Ocean Sprinter after three days at the mercy of the cruel sea.

★ ★ ★

The tug Clyde was en route to the scene 245 miles off Newfoundland, commissioned to salvage the freighter.

Capt. Chayter was asked if he would make way for the Clyde upon her arrival, or whether he would seek to retain his prize.

"If we get a towline on her," he replied, "under no circumstances would we give the towline up."

The Zebreinney is a 142-foot trawler out of Trepassey, Nfld. She has 14 men aboard.

Capt. Chayter said the U.S. coast guard asked him to stand by after one of its cutters had a lifeboat smashed during the rescue of the Ocean Sprinter's crew.

"We were more manoeuverable," Chayter explained. "We would have had no difficulty in aiding the Ocean Sprinter."

However, all survivors were taken aboard the coast guard cutter, climaxing a chain of illfortune that plagued the Ocean Sprinter ever since she set out on a transatlantic voyage eight days ago from Summerside, P.E.I.

'Dove' Leads Cheers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Powerful members of Congress greeted President Johnson's selection of Washington lawyer Clark Clifford as secretary of defence with enthusiasm. Vietnam dove Sen. J. William Fulbright was the cheerleader.

★ ★ ★

"He will make an excellent defence secretary and he will be capable of re-evaluating policies," the Arkansas Democrat said "It is an outstanding appointment. I didn't know he'd accept it."

Fulbright said he did not know Clifford's views on Vietnam but he described him as a "reasonable" man who was "willing to listen." He predicted he would be a "team player."

★ ★ ★

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers (D—S.C.) of the House armed services committee, applauded the selection. He is in the "hawk" category.

"I believe the President has made a very wise choice," he said in a statement issued by the committee. "I've known Clark Clifford for many years and I'm confident that the defence of the nation will be in good hands."

ICC Help Denied

NEW DELHI (LAT) — An official spokesman of the Indian government said Friday that the U.S. could expect no help from the International Control Commission in deciding what to do about Viet Cong use of Cambodian territory in the Vietnam war.

"Our government's aim is not to contain the war in Vietnam, but to see peace restored throughout Indochina," the official spokesman said.

The Indian spokesman's statement was in accord with Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk's negative response to American efforts to get him to request a beefing up of the three-nation commission, of which India is chairman.

The official spokesman said: "The commission cannot take on the job of safeguarding the safety of Cambodia all along the border."

The ICC was set up under the Geneva agreements of 1954 as an investigative and advisory agency with no official enforcement powers. Composed of representatives from India, Canada and Poland, its recommendations hinge on the Indian vote, since Canada nearly always sides with the Americans and Poland with the communists.

Asked about the long delay in the ICC investigation of evidence in the case of the Viet Cong camp discovered by three American journalists in Kompong Cham province last November, the spokesman said:

"The commission is not bound to consider complaints made by our journalist friends. It considers complaints from the Cambodian government."

Island Mops Up Its Soggy Face

while 100 children were out of school.

Until waters recede on the Cowichan side of the island, and residents can get out through Shawnigan, the stranded islanders have no doctors, fuel, post office or school.

On the northern part of Vancouver Island, roads were closed, sometimes becoming rivers, families were evacuated, and blame was hurled at government flood control measures. (see stories, pictures, page 19).

At Long Beach, a fully-loaded log barge remains stuck in the sand, and stormy weather kept a tug from pulling it free.

Indian families in the Cowichan Valley watched the high water anxiously, and several were moved to higher ground.

At Port Alberni a giant boulder was blasted off a road, and in Campbell River a mudslide carried cars down a hill.

In Duncan, some residents wanted to know why dikes weren't built so they would hold back the almost - annual flooding.

At least one death was directly attributed to the storm. William Peterson, 23, a commercial skindiver, drowned Thursday while attempting to clear a rain-choked culvert at Elk Falls timber camp, near Campbell River.

At Vancouver the rainfall was dubbed the rainstorm of the century as 4.9 inches of rain fell on Vancouver during a 24-hour period ending 10 a.m. Friday, the most since a 5.1 inch rainfall in 1808.

The torrent flooded hundreds of basement, interrupted air and rail traffic, caused power blackouts and closed scores of streets and highways.

New Westminster had five inches of rain in 24 hours, breaking the record of 4.45

Parts of the Crown Zellerbach plant at Fraser Mills, 15 miles east of Vancouver were under three feet of water.

FLIGHTS OFF

Air Canada flights between Vancouver and Victoria were cancelled Thursday night, but resumed early Friday.

Flood waters knocked out the Great Northern and Canadian National railway lines in New Westminster. The CNR said its two trans-Canada trains were delayed for hours.

Victoria, with 1½ inches of rain Friday after 2.12 inches Thursday, fared better than the rest of the Island, though highways crews were plagued with reports of minor flooding and blocked culverts.

MUD SLIDES

There were three mud slides on Mill Bay Road during Thursday night and Friday but traffic was going through again Friday night.

Greater Victoria water commissioner Ron Upward said his crews had been out clearing culverts, and work had stopped for the day in Japan Gulch because of road closures.

At Bear Creek, near Jordan River, nine inches of rain were recorded Thursday, added to 2.4 inches the previous day.

Medicare Provincial Task

program of medical care for Canadians, particularly those in need," Stanfield said. He told questioners this would not mean abandoning all the work that had gone into the present medicare plan.

However, the Tory leader said, it will require the federal government to "consult with the provinces in a genuine way to arrive at a national standard of medical care which is acceptable to the provinces."

Stnafield said he saw no immediate threat of separatism in Canada but added it is there in the background and will loom larger unless "We recognize the other fellow's point of view."

TRAGIC ANOMALY

It's up to people of moderate views, both in Quebec and the rest of Canada, Stanfield said, "to make the necessary changes" before extremists on either side cause a further rift.

Stanfield told an attentive audience at the Hotel Vancouver dinner, the proceeds of which went to university development and which attracted many B.C. civic and industrial leaders, "the existence — and the persistence of poverty and misery in this country is a tragic anomaly.

STABLE GROWTH

"I seek to underline that unless we manage our economic affairs capably, and unless we assure continuing economic growth, we will not be able to combat poverty and lack of poverty among our citizens and among our regions."

Stanfield said this meant if the Tories had the responsibility of forming the national government at this stage "I would regard it as a duty to emphasize policies for stable economic growth and the improvement of our technological and educational capacity."

Productivity increase languishes at approximately one half the level the Economic Council of Canada said the nation must achieve, the Tory leader said.

Meanwhile the Liberals insist on introducing national medicare in July, which on top of other social programs and rising federal housekeeping bills, will still further increase inflation.

Ottawa has been unable to convince people of the need for restraint, Stanfield said, because the government itself showed no inclination to restraint.

"The resort to increase in taxation — while it might be dressed up as an anti-inflationary measure — was really necessary in order to pay the bills, to cover the spending programs to which the government was already committed or which were underway," the speaker said.

"Second, the government had temporized with the inflation problem for so long that by the time of its mini-budget, inflation was accompanied by an increase in unemployment and some clear signs of a levelling off of the economy. It was clearly unable to take expansionary measures to reduce unemployment. And it had to be wary in bringing in its anti-inflationary measures for fear of encouraging recession."

Thirdly, Stanfield said, the government was unable to take certain obvious steps — such as postponement of medicare — for policy reasons of its own.

He said: "The medicare issue is a tangled web in which old commitments, cabinet compromises, ambition, idealism, ideology and an instinct for the political jugular all play a part in the considerations of the present government. The highest political motives, and the lowest, are in operation."

Contract for 3Cs Would Save 3Gs

BILL THOMAS' NOTEBOOK — Saturday

UNHAPPY BAND: The Three Cees Association is unhappy at the treatment meted out by the city fathers. The group offered to handle parking meter patrol duties for $2.10 an hour instead of the $2.20 now charged by the Corps of Commissionaires.

The city turned down the deal and Mayor Hugh Stephen said "We know there has been friction between these groups and the last thing I want to see is the city caught in the middle.

"I think we should be content with our present service."

Don Sykes, secretary-treasurer of the Three Cees, is quite unhappy at the city attitude.

He puts up a strong case. "We offered to save the city $3,000 a year. They know we have good reliable men for we proved ourselves in patrol work in Beacon Hill Park. The money we saved the city would have paid the $3,000 a year raise the city gave city manager Dennis Young last year.

"The Maritime Museum could use the money we could have saved the city. It would have been glad of an extra $3,000. There seems to be a complete disregard for economy on this council. It ignored the McPherson estate bill which could have been looked at further with a view to saving money and now it has turned us down.

"It's not just a matter of money. There is a principle involved here.

"The mayor has taken a stand on this issue and he is caught in the middle because he has rejected a low bid for municipal work from a group of responsible citizens.

"We plan to appeal to the Chamber of Commerce for support in this matter. We do not intend to let it rest here."

It will be interesting to see how the city fathers explain this one away when there is supposed to be an economy drive going on.

□

WEATHER EYE OPEN: Alderman Ian Stewart has said time and again that his wife will never permit him to get involved in politics outside the municipal level. But just in case Mrs. Stewart changes her mind the busy lawyer is keeping his fences in order.

This weekend he trips to Winnipeg to see what the Liberal Party sachems are up to. If you can get odds, then take a bet that he will be in the running in the near future.

There is so much confusion on the local Grit front right now Mr. Stewart could come out on top.

□

TOURISM STUDY: Remember when Saanich council said "No" to a request for money to publicize tourist facilities in Greater Victoria?

Now the council has asked the Saanich Chamber of Commerce to evaluate the whole business of tourist promotion.

President Ken Hole says a questionnaire is being prepared at the University of Victoria and it will be mailed soon.

There is word that Oak Bay is unhappy with the present setup and wants to quit.

It is not known how long the study will take but it will be interesting to see what Ken Hole and his group come up with. The Saanich council has asked for the recommendations and will probably set policy on the basis of the study's results.

Even the suggestion of a study has ruffled a few feathers.

BAR CLOSED: The Drummer's Bar was closed Thursday because nobody had the heart to open it.

Just about 4 p.m. Thursday Ron Inman wondered what had happened to Dan Place the bartender. He sent one of his staff to look for the man who billed himself as the biggest bartender in B.C.

They found Dan dead in his room. He had survived half a score of heart attacks but Thursday finished him.

He enjoyed his job and it was kept open for him while he was under treatment in Gorge Road Hospital and he started back just a few weeks ago. Dan Place was just 39. He had no relations here, just a bunch of friends who will miss him.

Pearson Makes Pledge To Keep Dollar Strong

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson declared Friday that Canada will keep its dollar strong against what he called "temporary fluctuations" in the foreign exchange market.

He delivered a formal reassurance to counter a wave of speculation against Canadian currency, prompted by the U.S. controls on foreign investments.

OFF THE CUFF

The prime minister covered a batch of other subjects off the cuff at an afternoon news conference, but he went to a carefully-prepared statement when he was asked about the dollar.

He said it is a matter "of great importance and great delicacy," and he would not want his reply to be misinterpreted.

The dollar has been trading this week close to its minimum permitted rate under the international agreement Canada made at the time of the 1962 devaluation.

It is pegged at 92.50 cents in terms of the United States dollar, and the Bank of Canada sells U.S. currency out of its foreign exchange reserves as necessary to prevent it slipping more than one per cent below 92.50.

This makes the bottom end of the trading range 91.57, and the dollar hovered near the mark Thursday and Friday.

It was reported that the central bank had sold about $150,000,000 from official reserves to prevent a further fall.

Mr. Pearson said Canada can meet market fluctuations because its reserves are high and it has access to "very important resources."

Reserves at the end of December, including gold, U.S. dollars and the Canadian credit position in the International Monetary Fund, totalled $2,516,000,000.

Canada has an automatic call on the IMF for another $185,000,000 and a conditional right to draw a further $550,000,000.

UN Renews Cyprus Plea

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Secretary-General Thant appealed urgently Friday for $10,810,000 in voluntary pledges to maintain the UN peacekeeping operation in Cyprus.

The money was needed, he said in the latest of such appeals for peacekeeping funds, if the force is to stay on the Mediterranean island until March 26 — the latest date to which its mandate has been extended by the Security Council.

Johnson Chooses

after seven years at the Pentagon to be president of the World Bank. He stayed on at Johnson's request to complete work on the new defence budget for the fiscal year starting July. 1.

Clifford himself, meeting newsmen in a well-tailored, double-breasted grey suit in the White House press secretary's office, declined in characteristic fashion to discuss his views until he testifies before Congress on his appointment.

★ ★ ★

Someone asked whether he was a "hawk" or a "dove" on Vietnam. "I am not conscious of falling under any of these ornithological divisions," he said. He added the country was committing a "grievous error in attempting to categorize people in these various bird terms."

As for politics, Clifford, a grandfather to 10 children, smiled and said: "I am 61 and I am sure this will finish me off." He said his appointment "takes me out of the campaign entirely."

★ ★ ★

There had been speculation that in an election year, Johnson might have selected a Republican for McNamara's job. Clifford discounted any political implications in his appointment. He noted he is neither a Republican (he is a registered Democrat) nor a Democrat with a large national following.

Raw Eggs Mixed in Liquid Utter Fancy as Cold Cure

Your Good Health

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Years ago when I was in school I heard that if you drank a raw egg mixed in some liquid, it would cure a cold. Is this true? Do you happen to know what liquid?

I also heard recently on television that the first cold in a submarine will result in no more colds after that. Also that after the first cold at the North Pole, a person will have no more colds. Is either statement true?—MRS. R.J.

The thing about the raw egg is utter fancy, so forget it.

The other two statements are true, within limits.

The point is that we catch cold from encountering various cold viruses. Having the cold confers a temporary immunity to that particular type of cold — but we can catch a different cold from some other virus.

Whether it's in a submarine or at the North Pole, or in the middle of a desert or deep in a jungle, if a group of people are isolated, they can catch colds depending on what viruses are present in the group. Once they've had the colds and developed immunity, they are safe from more colds until in some way new cold viruses are brought in.

This has happened repeatedly among men at remote Arctic stations. First they have colds. Then, no matter what the temperature, no more colds until a mail or supply party arrives — bringing some new varieties of cold viruses. Then another round of colds.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother, 87, has skin cancer in the early stages. I remember you had an article about a cure for this in powder form. I would like to find out what this is as soon as possible.—Mrs. M.P.

Sorry, but you are quite mistaken. I may have mentioned that years ago caustic was used in quack or amateur efforts to "burn away" such cancers. It is easier, quicker, safer, more comfortable and far less disfiguring to remove them by modern methods, surgery being preferred in most cases. Take your mother to your doctor.

THE LONG-SOUGHT AGREEMENT between the Soviet Union and the United States, as representative of the Western nations, for the so-called non-proliferation of nuclear arms will be welcomed for its implications rather than for any effectiveness as a guarantee against disaster.

It may be seen as evidence of a mutual desire of the two giants to reduce world tensions or even a step towards their closer collaboration with a view to reducing the risk of nuclear war.

But a further advance along this road is still an urgent requirement: an agreement by which they will jointly undertake to use their massive deterrent strength to prevent any nation from employing nuclear weapons.

Neither France nor China will be a signatory to the treaty, scheduled for final approval in June. And while France is too vulnerable to risk a nuclear adventure and feels she needs such weapons solely for an independent defence, China is a rather less reliable subject. It is not incredible that she might use nuclear arms to dominate those neighbors who do not possess them. Utterances of the past seem to suggest the leaders in Peking would be prepared to make enormous sacrifices in human life for the success of their expansionist revolution.

But if the United States and the Soviet Union would offer a guarantee by retaliation in the event of a nuclear attack, none of the nations along the Chinese perimeter need worry about providing themselves with a nuclear arsenal.

In its present form the draft does guarantee inspection and control of peaceful nuclear establishments the world over, and assurances to those states which have no nuclear arms that they will have full access to nuclear developments, for peaceful purposes.

The machinery already exists for such controls in the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna and the European Common Market countries' Euratom in Brussels.

Theoretically it is no great distance to an agreement for the outlawing of nuclear weapons, for the power for control exists in this case also—in the hands of the men in Washington and Moscow.

New Arithmetic

EDUCATION MINISTER Leslie Peterson says the new, standard tax notice forms prescribed for all municipalities by cabinet order will improve efficiency and save money for the taxpayers, as well as being easier to understand. For a start, however, they apparently will cost taxpayers more money, some municipalities already having obtained supplies of their usual tax forms for this year and started work on them. And all because the government couldn't wait for legislation to try to improve its political image in the perennial debate over property taxation for schools.

This, of course, is the purpose of the exercise, as was made abundantly clear last fall when Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, looking ahead to the change in tax forms, uttered that most vain of insistences: "We insist that education costs will not become a political football in B.C."—as if they had not been kicked around for years.

The essential difference between the new form and those that have been in use is that now the provincial homeowner grant will be shown as deducted from the school tax and the remainder of it, if any, deducted from the other municipal levies, instead of the grant being subtracted from the total. The result will be that the taxpayer will see a comparatively low net school tax figure, in many cases zero.

But it is the constantly rising final figure on the new form or the old that matters to the ratepayer—the total payable. And neither will this be affected by the new arithmetic nor will citizens cease to hear, if not to see, that the yearly mill-rate increases are mainly for schools.

It is doubtful in other words that the government will get much political mileage out of this manoeuvre. It has already earned some resentment, for its haste.

Fighting Factions

THE HOPES of the Peking government that suppression of those factions allegedly or apparently opposed to Chairman Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution would put an end to political violence in the land have been dashed.

Recently there has been very convincing evidence that rivalry within the ranks of those supposedly loyal to Chairman Mao will prolong the turbulence.

From Shanghai and Canton sources have come reports of continued clashes in at least six provinces where previously it had been indicated that the anti-Mao elements had been controlled.

The pattern seems to be that the downfall of Mao's enemies is a signal for ambitious leaders to struggle fiercely for power within the officially accepted party organization, with the result that new and violently divided factions are created.

Increasingly, the Peking government is appealing to the army to maintain order. And the army, it seems, is confused—and with good reason—over the rights or wrongs of warring elements.

If Peking has not the power to discourage conflict among its own supporters, as is now evident, there will be a tendency for army commanders to make their own independent decisions in areas of unrest and confusion. This would inevitably lead to an even greater disruption of Peking's authority and further fragmentation of government.

More than one observer has suggested the situation in China could easily degenerate into creation of a number of separate and ill-defined states, on much the same pattern as existed in the days of the warlords.

If this should occur it would be a long, hard march back to national solidarity or even some sort of federalist organization, a development which could be a comfort to those who fear China's aggressive intent.

Such a possibility may be remote, but so is the prospect of any early consolidation of Chairman Mao's authority while his own supporters quarrel among themselves and his overt opponents continue to avoid elimination.

Only his hairdresser knows for sure.

In Leadership Campaign

A Soviet Setback in East Europe

By LOUIS P. FLEMING from The United Nations

THE Soviet Union appears to have suffered a setback in its new campaign to reassert its leadership over world communism through an international communist conference.

Some East European diplomats here now doubt that the planning meeting, scheduled for the end of February in Budapest, will be held as scheduled.

There is widespread belief among East Europeans and Western observers that the plenary conference, if held at all, will be so watered down that it will not accomplish the purpose desired by Moscow.

The prospect of a setback of this sort is all the more unattractive to the Soviet Union since it comes on the heels of an embarrassing reverse in Czechoslovakia and on the eve of negotiations with Romania that almost certainly will further dramatize the weakening role of Moscow in connection with the neighboring socialist states.

In Czechoslovakia, Leonid Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party, put his reputation on the line by intervening personally in the leadership struggle in December. The resignation of Antonin Novotny as head of the Czech Communist Party was proof Brezhnev failed.

In Romania, the unreliability of Soviet economic relationships was the subject of open discussion at a party congress at the beginning of December. The subsequent visit to Moscow by Nicolai Ceausescu, head of government and head of the Communist Party in Romania, ended with a communique that did not conceal the deep differences between the two countries. These will be exposed most specifically, it is assumed, in the forthcoming negotiation of a friendship treaty to replace the treaty expiring this year.

There is the immediate prospect of an even greater embarrassment to the general Soviet strategy in Europe.

Secret talks between West Germany and Yugoslavia appear to be reaching a conclusion which almost certainly will lead to the restoration of diplomatic relations between the two nations.

This, in turn, could accelerate the West German initiatives with other communist states. These initiatives have been frozen since Jan. 31 of last year, the day that West Germany and Romania established diplomatic relations. But they have been frozen only through extreme diplomatic efforts of the Soviet Union. And the months ahead will provide a critical test of Soviet ability to impose such control, notably as it affects Bulgaria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

Soviet concern about the West German diplomatic initiatives is related to the potential effect of these initiatives on the Communist regime of Walter Ulbricht in East Germany. Any extension of West German influence would weaken Ulbricht's already fumbling influence. Even the shift of leadership in Czechoslovakia could have a psychological impact on Ulbricht and hasten change in East Germany.

Should the Stalinism of East Germany yield to the more progressive communism that reigns in most of the other Eastern European states, there would almost certainly be a liberalization of the party attitude in Poland, perhaps reversing the strange regression that has taken place in Warsaw in recent years.

Thus, as the year 1968 begins, forces of change have been unleashed quite accidentally in East Europe. These same forces could produce changes that would rival the de-Stalinization that began in Poland and failed in Hungary in 1956 after the famed 20th Party Congress in Moscow.

At this point, it is not clear what will happen to Soviet hopes for a world communist conference. The only official announcement was the Tass declaration in November that a preliminary consultative meeting would be held in February in Budapest.

Part of the answer may lie in the secret talks held between President Tito of Yugoslavia and Ceausescu of Romania. These two nations boycotted the European party meeting last April in Karlovy Vary, Czechoslovakia, and are the most likely to boycott the proposed new meeting.

Their official silence, according to some diplomats here, is due to a difference of opinion as to strategy. The Yugoslavs have not been invited to the Budapest meeting because they were not among the parties at the last world conference in Moscow in 1960, and they do not want to be invited to the preliminary meeting in Budapest. But the Romanians, who did attend the 1960 meeting, now must decide whether to boycott the Budapest session or to attend in the hope of using their influence to make sure the planning conference does not violate their policy that Communist parties should be equal.

But even in other Eastern European capitals it is now said that the Soviets are prepared to pay a heavy price for universal or near universal attendance. Moscow will not press for any anti-Chinese resolutions, it is said. Moscow will recognize the national independence of communist parties, it is added. If this is true, one can wonder why anyone should bother to hold the conference.

It is understood that the Italian party, the largest non-ruling communist party has already made its acceptance conditional on elimination of any action that would reassert Moscow's exclusive authority over other Communist parties.

Events of the last seven months in Czechoslovakia provide evidence of the relative weakness of Moscow in the affairs of what used to be called satellites.

Novotny had been head of the party since 1951, and, since 1957, also president of the republic. He and Ulbricht were the only Stalinists to survive the policy shift that followed the 20th party congress in Moscow and the only leaders to hold both party and state control.

Last December, the Romanians revived the double control in a single man, naming Ceausescu president of the state council in addition to his duties as party head. But the trend has been the reverse ever since the dismissal of Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1964. And Ulbricht must now be feeling particularly uncomfortable.

Novotny proved a master politician during the transition which saw Czechoslovakia adopt in 1965 the most progressive economic reorganization in all of Eastern Europe. But he never fully moved from the Stalinist era to the more liberal era now touching all of Europe except Albania. He was unpopular. His overreaction last June to the rebellion in the Writers Union Congress and the student demonstrations in November further deteriorated his popularity. But he finally fell on the historic and non-Marxist issue stemming from the traditional friction between the Czech majority and the Slovak minority.

Alexander Dubcek, chosen as his successor Jan. 5, is the first Slovak to head the nation. But beyond that fact, no one really knows the significance of his selection as head of the party. He is not a national figure, except for his membership in the presidium. His party leadership has been focused primarily in Slovakia.

"I knew nothing about the man until I read his biography in a New York paper," one Czech here commented.

Dubcek's close ties to the Soviet Union, where he lived until 1938, could be a restraining factor on the trend to nationalism in Eastern Europe. But his step-by-step rise to power in the Slovak Communist Party came, for the most part, after the 20th party congress. This and his relative youth — he is 46 — encourage hopes of a more liberal attitude.

The first test of his political position may well be what he does about Vaclav David, the foreign minister. David is regarded as an old line conservative. His retention would dampen hopes for a more liberal foreign policy, including prospects for diplomatic relations with Bonn.

West Germany's diplomatic initiatives have been successful in the last 12 months even though they did not achieve a wholesale breakthrough

In the days ahead, the west Germans and the Yugoslavs will complete negotiations on a new and broader trade exchange arrangement. This will probably be followed by the formal reopening of diplomatic relations between Bonn and Belgrade.

★ ★ ★

The Yugoslavs have already treated with contempt an East German effort to sabotage the move to re-establish diplomatic relations with Bonn. Last Dec. 11 the foreign minister of East Germany, Otto Winzer, rushed to Belgrade just before the reopening of formal talks with Bonn. The Yugoslaves chose this moment to elevate the status of the West German consulate in Zagreb.

Last July, almost overlooked in the Eastern European furor over the Israel-Arab war, West Germany signed a trade agreement with the Czechs which established in Prague a German trade mission like the ones previously established in all the other Eastern European capitals except those in East Germany and Albania.

The West German successes have not, however, encouraged any groundswell of support for the reunification of Germany. Both West and East Europeans appear to remain essentially in favor of a divided Germany because of lingering fears of a rise of militarism in Germany itself.

"With Germany divided, we can sleep better at night," one East European commented.

But with the accelerating changes, it is not clear just how easily the Kremlin leaders are sleeping at night.

Kuwaiti Business

French Dividend

By a Special OFNS Correspondent from Paris

A GROWING French interest in the rich Persian Gulf oil sheikhdom of Kuwait is the latest dividend from France's diplomatic investment in the Middle East last year. It follows a notable success for French oil interests in Iraq, and seems part of a general design by which France can discreetly increase her influence and interests in areas where the "Anglo-Saxons" are moving out.

The Kuwaiti minister of defence and the interior, Sheikh Saad Al Abdullah Al Salem Al Sabah, arrived in Paris Jan. 15 on what appeared from official details to be a five-day arms-buying expedition. He and the Kuwaiti chief of staff were scheduled to visit a French air force base, weapons establishments and the aircraft factories of the Sud Aviation and Nord Aviation companies.

The Dassault company was not on the itinerary, but if Kuwait wants to order the Mirage III or its more sophisticated and costly version, the Mirage V, no doubt they would be put on view.

In mid-December it was reported from Paris that the Kuwait government had quietly moved £60 million of the sterling it holds outside London into France, and that with equal secrecy the French nationalized bank Credit Lyonnais was preparing to open a branch in Kuwait. There was speculation then that the Kuwaiti cash could be used either to buy gold on the Paris market, thus helping, inadvertently or not, to shake the dollar, or to pay for French arms purchases. The latter seems to be the case.

What plans the French government has for Kuwait beyond selling arms and setting up a financial base remain to be seen.

But in the case of Iraq, the November trade agreement, under which France lent Iraq 225 million francs, and the December arms contract, which included Mirage aircraft to be delivered when the Middle East arms embargo is lifted, were balanced by the French state oil concern, ERAP, acquiring an important contract to explore and exploit 10,000 square kilometres in central and southern Iraq.

At the same time the Compagnie Francaise des Petroles, which holds a 23.75 per cent interest in the London-based Iraq Petroleum Company, admitted breaking ranks with its three partners in IPC—the United States, Great Britain and Holland—to try to negotiate separately with the Iraq government over its expropriation and proposed development of what were IPC's valuable Rumaila concessions.

In the event, France, and perhaps to an even greater extent the Soviet Union, may share with the Iraq government in developing the Rumaila fields. The Soviet Union very recently agreed with Iraq that in exchange for crude oil Iraq would receive Russian technical aid, equipment and assistance in prospecting and drilling.

Washington Calling

The Trap of Vietnam

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE diplomatic quadrille that began with Hanoi's change from "could" to "will" on peace talks to start with the end of the bombing is running down. The unanswered question is whether there was ever any intention to give serious consideration to what may have been an opening for negotiations to end the Vietnam war.

The trap of Vietnam is shown with appalling clarity in the inability, only slightly disguised by obscure promises to "explore" Hanoi's change of tense, to respond. The reason given privately is that the risk to more than a half-million men on the ground was far too great for a halt in the bombing.

The tragedy is that this may be true. Contrary to virtually all the most distinguished military authorities in the recent past, the United States is caught in a full-scale ground war in Asia, with no exit in the foreseeable future.

★ ★ ★

The risks in this massive involvement are weighed in different scales. The threat of a greatly enlarged war growing out of confrontation with Red China or the Soviet Union or both is rather cavalierly dismissed. Even after the latest report of damage to a Russian ship in Haiphong harbor and the strong Soviet note of protest the theory is that Moscow will avoid a confrontation. A direct hit on a Soviet vessel would bring a louder noise but nothing more.

As for China, the comfortable assumption is that Mao's cultural revolution created such conflict and disorder that Peking is paralyzed. Although no one really knows, this may be true. But in North Vietnam today a work force of more than 50,000 Chinese is helping to repair the bomb damage. Who can doubt that that force can be increased — doubled or even tripled — in short order?

★ ★ ★

Still another risk is the further alienation of world opinion. The Social Democratic party of Germany's deputy chancellor and foreign minister, Willy Brandt, called for a halt in the bombing to test Hanoi's intentions. How long Prime Minister Harold Wilson can continue to give nominal support to America's Vietnam policy is questionable, since he is under such grim pressure on so many other fronts as he tries to cut the cloth of Britain's economy to fit the urgent need for retrenchment.

The two Scandinavian NATO partners, Norway and Denmark, are convinced of the need for an immediate cessation of the bombing. There public opinion runs more strongly counter to the war than anywhere else in Western Europe, unless it be among the younger generation in the Netherlands.

In the United States the challenge can hardly be ignored. A responsible Rupublican, Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, and a responsible Democrat, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, are calling for a stop to the bombing of North Vietnam. They cannot be dismissed as peaceniks and draft-card burners. And they speak, it can hardly be denied, for many in each party who are either silent or who give mere lip service to administration policy.

Reports persist of a division within the administration over whether — and how — to respond to the declaration from Hanoi. Secretary of Defence Robert S. McNamara is said to favor the risk of a bombing pause. He is reported to have the support of certain of his associates in the Pentagon.

In the debate in the inner sanctum the hard liners insist that, if a bombing pause fails to bring talks and the communists use the pause to bring up more men and material while carrying out sneak attacks, the United States would be compelled to go to all-out attack on the North. With that eventuality — the destruction of North Vietnam's population centres — the risk of a larger war would be really great.

The diplomatic quadrille has had its curious aspects. While Secretary of State Dean Rusk has taken a cautious line and promised to "explore" the pledge of "could" to "will" the assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs, William P. Bundy, supplies the hard line. Even before Rusk's press conference Bundy in an interview said that the North was not yet ready to "yield." Yield presumably meant surrender.

★ ★ ★

And obligingly Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the president of South Vietnam, came through with a denunciation of Hanoi's gambit, dismissing it as propaganda. Nothing short of a Vietnam pacified by an even greater American force, no matter how many years it may take, will give Thieu and Company any security.

Only the president can find a way out of the trap if there is a way. And he seems at times to have dug himself in beyond rescue.

Becoming a Slum

MAY I draw your attention to the neglected state of the red brick building, formerly the Normal School and, more recently part of the Lansdowne campus of the University of Victoria.

The poor old place is fast becoming a slum. Can you tell me, who owns it? To whom do the owners delegate the responsibility for its care and maintenance?

The paint is peeling off the doors and window sashes, and the bare woodwork is exposed to the weather. The grime, on those window panes which are not cracked or broken, serves to hide some unpleasantly stained and tattered blinds or curtains.

The steps are filthy and weed-grown.

The clock has not been working for about a month, its south face is broken. (There is no watchman to curb the vandals, and no lights at night to discourage the furtive.)

The guttering of the building is stained with rust. Last year the lawns were full of weeds, there will be a bumper crop this year. The old tennis court was sodden during the height of a water shortage last year. Now it is awash; the old leak and the winter rains should help the local duck hunting.

The Lych (type) Gate opening onto Richmond Road lost a number of shingles about three years ago, they are still missing and the roof is rotting. The immediate vicinity of this gate is in a disgusting state, it stinks. The Rose Pergola is long overdue for a coat of paint. The rear of the building is strewn with weeks of accumulated garbage overspill; the rats are already there.

The fences are down on the north side, allowing the children to ride their bikes over the flower beds and lawns.

The parking lot is a mess.

If the owners of this building cannot keep the place clean, let them demolish it. At present it is a reproach to the community.

Are none of the former pupils interested enough to defend the place, or protest the neglect?

Indian Rights

Heartiest congratulations to Miss Kahn-Tineta Horn, the winsome Canadian Mohawk who delivered such a timely and hard-punching address at University of Victoria. If we have not been shattered out of our smugness and complacency, we by all means should have, for she has hit the target of truth fairly and squarely.

The veracity of her depiction of the white man's concept of Indians as savage barbarians can easily be attested to when one reflects on Hollywood movies over the years. Here the Indian was primarily the "bad guy" the white usually a pillar of righteousness and morality. The sad part was that nobody seemed to realize that the Indian was merely fighting for what he considered to be rightfully his.

Today we deny the Indian his God-given nook in society and consequently feel our obligations fulfilled after providing a soul-destroying pittance of welfare. But like anyone else, the Indian has his pride. Would not it be better to accept him as an equal, give him the type of employment that we as whites enjoy, thereby restoring his pride and self confidence which is so vital an element of living?

Bus Deficits

How many hundreds of acres, some of the choicest land in the city, are devoted or should one say, stagnated, to idle parked automobiles, either for sale, or just parked by the hour or the day?

There must be some connection between this wasted space and the lost bus revenue. If car owners were made to pay adequately for the idle land, that much more could be paid in subsidy for the buses, and perhaps, in time, more car owners would prefer to leave their cars at home and patronize the buses.

There is an enormous waste of power by the hundreds of cars rushing to and from work, almost all of them carrying only one person. The buses are ten times more economical and, given a faster schedule at a cheaper rate, would perhaps be able to compete and become self-supporting; many acres of valuable land, too, would be released and put to some more productive use than being idle space for the parking of idle cars.

New CBC President Counting on Brains

CP, from Ottawa

For the next few months, George Davidson plans to pick brains as fast as he can.

The senior civil servant appointed Friday to the presidency of the CBC says he has to learn the broadcasting business fast and absorbing knowledge from experts is one way to do it.

★ ★ ★

"I make no bones about that very real gap in my armory of knowledge about broadcasting," the slim and soft-spoken six-footer said in an interview.

"I expect I'll have to learn fast. But there are many expert people there."

He fully intends to "take advantage of the wisdom of others" while he builds up his own store of expertise.

Davidson

But Davidson's knowledge of how the CBC operates is not limited to being on the living room receiving end of a television or radio set.

He worked for more than a year on ways to put into actual practice the recommendations for higher efficiency made by the Glassco royal commission on government organization. The commission had many suggestions about the CBC structure.

★ ★ ★

Since 1964, he has been secretary of the treasury board. This cabinet committee watches over all government expenditures, including the $144,000,000 required by the publicly-owned CBC during the current fiscal year.

Davidson had many discussions with Alphonse Ouimet, who retired as CBC president in December, during implementation of the Glassco suggestions. But his main knowledge of how the corporation operates arose from study of the CBC budgets at treasury board.

★ ★ ★

"Now I'll get to see it from the other side."

Davidson says he is looking forward to the new challenge and is excited about it. This is a natural attitude in a man who has always moved towards the areas where important decisions are made.

George Forrester Davidson was born 58 years ago in Bass River, N.S., and went to elementary school there. He finished high school in New Westminster, B.C., after a family move and went on to the University of British Columbia.

★ ★ ★

He took a bachelor's degree there and went on to Harvard for a masters and a doctorate.

Returning to British Columbia, he plunged into the social work that was his chief concern for more than 25 years.

He started with the provincial government as superintendent of welfare and neglected children in 1934. In 1935 he became executive director of the Vancouver Welfare Federation, the same year that he married Elizabeth Ruth Henderson, a Vancouver girl.

★ ★ ★

From 1939 to 1942 he was director of social welfare for the province. In 1942, he became executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council.

When the federal government created its new department of health and welfare in 1944, it brought Davidson in as the first deputy minister.

The young deputy was a driving force behind the family allowance program brought in by the government in 1945. He also carried a key responsibility for the universal old age pensions initiated by the government seven years later.

★ ★ ★

In 1960 he moved to the immigration department as deputy minister, remaining there until he was handed the job of implementing the Glassco recommendations. Then he went to treasury board.

Throughout his career, Davidson has built up a solid reputation as a skilful organizer and solid administrator who gets things done without a flap.

He declined to discuss the specific kinds of problems and headaches he may have to deal with soon as head of the CBC or on some of the clashes inside Parliament and out that have brewed up around the CBC in the last couple of years.

★ ★ ★

"I'm still a civil servant and I don't propose to open my own mouth at this stage."

But he expects to be able to work out a good relationship with the new and more powerful regulatory agency for broadcasting that the legislation proposes as a successor to the Board of Broadcast Governors.

"If I thought otherwise, I think I would not be putting my neck into the noose," he said with a grin.

★ ★ ★

Davidson also expects to spend more time in front of that living room TV set now. He has not been an avid watcher in the past although he does often look in at the news.

One thing he will have to get used to is operating in the glare of publicity, something new for someone used to the general tranquility of the civil service.

★ ★ ★

His office Friday was a clutter of cameras and lights as a TV film crew set up for an interview. A secretary called in that another crew — the rival network — wanted to come up.

"They may as well," the new president replied, surveying with some dismay the equipment scattered around the office. "I don't suppose I'll get much work done today anyway."

Roblin Bid for Commons

Everything Was Fine Until Camp Arrived

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Been wondering what's back of those reports that former Manitoba premier Duff Roblin may be running for Parliament in the Southwestern Ontario rural riding of Grey Bruce?

Oh sure, the riding happens, conveniently, to be available as the result of the resignation of former MP and Conservative whip Eric Winkler, who quit to run for the Ontario legislature and a likely place in Ontario Premier John Robart's cabinet.

★ ★ ★

But that's not the real reason Roblin is looking to Ontario instead of Manitoba for his promised entry into the House of Commons.

What really happened was this:

It was pretty well set up that George Muir, Conservative MP for the southern Manitoba riding of Lisgar these past 11 years, was to step out so Roblin could step in.

★ ★ ★

After all Roblin had been premier of the province and did come within a couple of hundred votes of Robert Stanfield for the Conservative leadership.

Who better then to give the Tories a western leader, a Prairie deputy for Maritimer Stanfield?

So good old George Muir was nominated — and seemed to indicate his willingness — to make the big sacrifice.

The reward, probably the Senate if the Conservatives should win the next election, would come later.

★ ★ ★

It was all well enough laid on that Conservative leader Stanfield headed west this week for Winnipeg, Vancouver, Kamloops and points in between, including Lisgar.

The idea was that — surprise, surprise — he would announce Muir's retirement and Roblin's decision to step into his Lisgar shoes.

But his advisers forgot to tell Stanfield something of importance — that Lisgar is still Diefenbaker country, even after all these months since the unpleasantness over the leadership.

And in Diefenbaker country, Dalton Camp still is regarded as little less of a regional calamity than rust in the wheat or foot and mouth among the cattle.

Incredibly, Stanfield showed up there with, of all people, Dalton Camp.

So all deals were off.

Muir, who inconveniently happened to be a Diefendichard, said the heck with retiring. He kind of liked Ottawa anyway, and being an MP wasn't such a bad deal after all.

Everybody concerned, Stanfield, Camp and Muir, played it cool just as if nothing had really happened. But it had, and again the best laid plans of mice and men ...

Russians Getting Ready For Big Policy Shift

UPI, from London

The Soviet government is reported to be engaged in a sweeping policy review expected to set the stage for major diplomatic offensives on both the international and ideological fronts.

★ ★ ★

Recent travels of Kremlin leaders, soundings by Soviet diplomats in major world capitals, shifts in key Russian diplomatic posts and an impending meeting of the party's Central Committee are believed connected with the policy overhaul now in progress.

Vital parts in the reported policy review were believed to be the issues of the Vietnam war, the Middle East situation, the frozen dialogue with the United States and the future of split communist camp.

Kremlin leaders were reported anxious to break the international deadlock of the past two years.

Some diplomats hinted at possible shifts in Soviet policy in the months to come, although none of a spectacular nature in the foreseeable future. Others defined the current effort as aimed at consolidation of uneasy Soviet positions abroad — including the east bloc — and clarification of Moscow's shaky stance in the communist movement.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet position within the east bloc has taken several sharp knocks lately. Yugoslavia, after a short-lived published rapprochement, is showing signs of a new cooling off towards the Kremlin. Romania has become a member of the bloc in name rather than in fact.

These developments have been accompanied, moreover, by the removal of Antonin Novotny from the party leadership in Czechoslovakia and ominous rumblings within the one-time firmly Soviet-orientated country.

The secret talks of the Kremlin leaders — President Podgorny, Premier Kosygin and party chief Brezhnev in Warsaw and East Berlin earlier this week — were believed to have been prompted by acute political uneasiness as much as by current preparations for the communist rally in Budapest next month on the future of the split international movement.

★ ★ ★

Moscow's determined pressure for the Budapest rally, against the counsel of many of its friends and associates, is said to reflect the Kremlin's assessment that something must be done soon to arrest the communist rift, even at a considerable price.

B.C. Tories Eye Former MP

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Ex-Calgarian Could Be New Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sources within the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association said Friday night that Arthur R. Smith, former MP for Calgary South, has been asked to run for the provincial leadership of the party.

A party spokesman said that three other persons are also considering contesting the provincial leadership, vacant since Davie Fulton, MP for Kamloops, returned to federal politics in 1965.

UN REPRESENTATIVE

Mr. Smith, 48, represented Calgary South in Parliament from 1957 until 1963. During his years in Parliament, Mr. Smith was Canada's representative in the United Nations periodically and was also chairman of the House of Commons standing committee on estimates.

Smith

An anti-Diefenbaker Conservative, Mr. Smith declined to seek re-election in the 1963 general election. Harry Hays, mayor of Calgary at the time, won the riding for the Liberals and was later appointed agriculture minister.

HE LOST

Mr. Smith contested the mayoralty in Calgary the following year and lost by a wide margin to Grant MacEwan who is now Alberta's lieutenant-governor. He was subsequently elected an alderman on Calgary city council.

The Calgary Tory quit his aldermanic post and moved to Vancouver last year. He now is an executive of a management company in addition to operating a public relations firm in Calgary.

Prior to winning the Calgary South riding, Mr. Smith was a member of the Alberta legislature between 1954 and 1957. He also served as an alderman on Calgary city council between 1953 and 1955.

B.C. Tory officials saw the move to draft Mr. Smith for the party leadership as a step toward restoring confidence in the party provincially. The names of the other three potential candidates were not known.

FULTON LOST

The party's fortunes have gone steadily downhill since the 1963 provincial election, in which Mr. Fulton lost the Kamloops provincial riding to Highways Minister Gaglardi.

To date, there have been no officially announced candidates for the provincial leadership, though party officials were hopeful that a date would be set during the B.C. association's annual convention this weekend.

NO COMMENT

Mr. Smith had no immediate comment on the report of his candidacy from provincial sources. The sources said Mr. Smith had not made up his mind whether or not to accept the nomination.

Malcolm Wickson, president of the provincial association, said he had not heard whether or not Mr. Smith had been asked to run.

Mr. Wickson described Mr. Smith as "a fine Conservative whom we would be honored to have as a leader.

"If he would take it, we would be delighted, but I haven't heard about it," said Mr. Wickson. "But I just haven't heard anything about it."

Nothing Quite Like It To Cool Young Blood

TORONTO (CP) — T. W. Thompson, Metropolitan Toronto parks commissioner, want a huge mud puddle "for kids to wallow in or just sit on their fannies."

Mud, the commissioner said in an interview, is a "vastly underrated commodity in our antiseptic society."

"What kid wouldn't revel in it?

"It's really the finest grade of sand, this stuff we call dirt, and a big mud puddle could become one of the best things a child could get with.

"I'd like to make one 100 feet across and watch the fun. We'd put a shower at one end."

Thompson said he hasn't decided yet where he would like to have the mud puddle.

U.S. Shipyard Offers Jobs

Sunshine May Brighten Out-of-Work Gloom

Victoria shipyard workers may be lolling on Gulf of Mexico beaches this summer, courtesy of a Mississippi shipyard that will stage a recruiting drive here Monday and Tuesday.

A three man team under Mason Weeks of the Ingalls Shipbuilding Division of the Litton Industries in Pascagoula, Miss. will set up shop at 10 a.m. Monday in the Boilermakers' Hall on Esquimalt to recruit shipfitters from the 400 boilermakers' union workers of various trades, now unemployed.

CENTRE PLAN

The team is booked to move to the Union Centre at 11 a.m. to recruit plumbers and pipefitters, but this schedule may have to be shifted if it appears to be too tight.

Boilermakers' union representative Neil Hindle said he may try to set up evening meetings for men who are on shift during the day, but are interested in meeting the team from the southern shipyard.

SPOT HIRING

The Mississippi firm, which became interested in recruiting in Victoria after hearing about the Victoria Machinery Depot's retirement from shipbuilding, employs about 9,000 workers. The recruiters are looking for about 50 shipfitters and 100 plumbers and pipefitters, and are empowered to hire on the spot.

The delay in making the recruiting trip was caused by the U.S. firm's difficulty in obtaining a blanket immigration permit, enabling the workers from here to by-pass onerous border-crossing procedures.

The basic pay for comparable journeymen is about 33 cents an hour less—but benefits include nine paid statutory holidays, paid vacation, life insurance, hospitalization insurance, production bonus and overtime premium.

According to Mr. Weeks, other amenities include balmy year-round weather, plenty of beach and water recreation, and plenty of housing available.

Pascagoula is about 50,000 population, situated right on the gulf, and just about 30 miles from the gay night life of Biloxi.

BIG DECISION

Mr. Hindle said he did not care to conjecture on how many of his local's members might take the trip, which is fixed under the initial blanket permit, at six months.

"It is a big decision," Mr. Hindle said, "especially for a family man with roots in the community. However, we can't expect skilled men with ambition and the desire to work, to sit around on the unemployment rolls."

Neither he nor Tom Wheatley, business agent for the plumbers and pipefitters union, would conjecture on the number of men that might make the step. Both agreed there had been a number of inquiries.

MILITARY DRAFT

Mr. Wheatley said his union has about 35 or 40 pipefitters unemployed, among the total of about 70, but "No one has committed themselves to go. Some are worried about the military draft. But I have been assured they will not be affected by the draft if they are on a work permit."

The company plans to pay workers' transportation to Pascagoula and return them to Victoria at the expiration of the six-month period. A renewal of the permit would depend on the work situation and the decision of immigration officials.

Mr. Hindle said he was afraid an exodus of skilled workers could have "a serious impact on the future of the shipbuilding industry in Victoria."

"I am just a little afraid the shipbuilding industry on the entire west coast could suffer irreparable harm," he said.

The recruiting team will head for Montreal to look for more workers, Mr. Hindle said, and they may go to Vancouver to discuss further recruitment.

VANCOUVER STOP

"They were not aware there was any possibility of hiring any in Vancouver," Mr. Hindle said, "but they expressed an interest in stopping there once they learned there might be skilled workers available."

The whole idea for the recruitment program came from the publication of the VMD closure in a trade magazine last fall. The Pascagoula yard had built floating oil drilling rigs similar to the one VMD built last year, and were interested in the praise West Coast shipbuilders earned for their high standards of proficiency.

Prior to this, the firm recruited in Scotland.

Cairo Kills Mideast Peace Bid

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt has rejected Middle East peace proposals made by the United Nations special envoy Gunnar Jarring of Sweden in his latest visit here, the authoritative Daily Al-Ahram says.

Jarring, on his third trip to Cairo since December, arrived from Jerusalem three days ago, and departed for his Nicosia, Cyprus, headquarters Thursday.

The diplomatic correspondent of Al-Ahram says that during two meetings with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, Egypt again insisted that Israel must first withdraw from Arab territories occupied in last June's war, the paper says.

Al-Ahram says Jarring would return here after a further visit to Israel and after Riad's tour of Arab capitals starting today.

U.S. Dispute

Pipeline Hopes For Best

TORONTO (CP) — Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. said Thursday it is confident United States courts will not halt work on the natural gas pipeline being constructed by Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. to serve Eastern Canada.

Trans-Canada made the statement in answer to a petition by Northern Natural Gas Co. which asked a U.S. court to stop construction on the Great Lakes line.

LATEST MOVE

"This latest move is merely one more effort by Northern Natural to block construction of the new pipeline and will be vigorously opposed," said James W. Kerr, board chairman and president of Trans-Canada. "We are confident it will not be successful."

A Great Lakes pipeline had been approved by the Federal Power Commission and the first part of the line is delivering 113,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day to Eastern Canada.

SOLE PURPOSE

Trans-Canada said that Northern Natural's sole purpose in contesting the FPC decision is to block construction of the Great Lakes pipeline through its territory in Northern Minnesota and Michigan where it now is the monopoly pipeline supplier of natural gas.

"Suspension of construction and consequently delay in completion of Great Lakes would cause irreparable harm in Canada," Mr. Kerr said.

"If the lines were not completed as scheduled Trans-Canada would not be able to supply the needs of the gas consumers in Eastern Canada next winter."

BEHIND THE GLASS

By Jim Tang

THE BEND TURNED. There'll be some disagreement with this view but one of the more significant events in curling here this season was the enforcement of the sliding rule in the south Vancouver Island men's playdowns, and I believe congratulations are in order for Jack Smith, who had the courage to risk the criticism that insisting on adherence to the rules was certain to bring.

It wasn't as hard to take as some had expected, not even for Einar Hemstad, who was victimized by an eight-ender when he slid over the hog line in delivering his last rock on the first end of an early game. Hemstad was understandably upset at the moment, probably more at himself than at the calling of the penalty, but he could appreciate the merciless kidding he received at work the next day. He's a detective-constable on the Victoria police force, which, of course, is a job which calls for the enforcing of rules.

One rink claimed, and this is possible, that it was actually penalized by a call against an opposing skip but outside of momentary irritation from those who were called, those who disagreed with rules enforcement had no more than the argument that curling is a game apart, played by sportsmen of such quality that it is a disgrace to enforce rules.

It's a wonderful thing to have a belief like that but it is difficult to understand how anyone can really entertain it. Curlers are people, and that means that there will always be some curlers who, consciously or without design — and it doesn't matter which it is, as far as laws are concerned, will break rules.

★ ★ ★

The history of the sliding rule proves this beyond doubt. It first read that a curler must not cross the hog line in the delivery of his rock. But it neglected to say which hog line, and while the nearest one was inferred, it wasn't long before sliders were going all the way to the far hog line. It all came to a head when Gary Thode slid the whole length of the ice during a high school playoff and set his rock down on the pot.

That brought a new rule which stated that a curler must not cross the nearest hog line on his sliding foot. No sooner had it been put into effect than some sliders invented ways to circumvent it. Some did it by stepping over the line and continuing their slide, others by jumping over and some even perfected an agile switch which made it possible for them to slide over on the other foot.

It proved beyond any doubt that there are curlers, and many of the guilty ones were at the top level of ability, who will deliberately bend or break rules to their advantage, and it forced the present rule which states that no part of a curlers' body or equipment can project over the nearest hog line before he has come to a complete stop in the delivery of his rock.

This one is difficult to circumvent but it does get broken. Many who break the rule do not mean to, but in trying to take fullest possible advantage. They do sometimes slide over the line. Inasmuch as no one can judge who misjudged and who did it deliberately, it has to be called on everyone.

Anyone who feels otherwise has no argument at all. If the rule isn't a good one, then discard it and let the rocks be delivered from anywhere, but as long as it is in the book it should be enforced. No skip would permit an opposing skip to use his players out off turn but breaking the rule which gives the order in which rocks must be delivered is certainly no worse than breaking any other rule. It is not really our privilege anywhere in life to decide which laws can be broken and which must be obeyed. If we do make the decision then we shouldn't complain about having to pay the penalty.

GOOD LUCK: Best wishes of all Island curlers will go with the two Esquimalt rinks, and both have to rate excellent chances of winning, who will be taking part in regional playdowns on the mainland today and Monday.

Jim Armstong, Dave Paterson, Torrey Gillott and Dave Vyner will be in Chilliwack today for a round-robin competition against rinks from Chilliwack, West Vancouver and Winston Churchill high schools which will send the winner to the provincial schoolboys' final in Salmon Arm next weekend.

Leaving tomorrow for Richmond and the women's provincial semifinal, are Jessie Kinneard, Cora Treby, Helen Griffin and Onilea Crothers. They will play against Vancouver-area rinks skipped by Marg Kirstein and Louise Norquist and the Fraser Valley champion, skipped by Ethel Graham. Winner carries on to the provincial final in Prince Rupert, only one step away from the Canadian final in Ottawa next month.

★ ★ ★

EXTRA END: Draw has already been made for the annual men's bonspiel at the Alberni Valley Curling Club, which means that there are no vacancies. The limit entry of 64 rinks includes 33 visiting quartets, 11 from Victoria ... it brings the suggestion that anyone thinking about entering any bonspiel on the Island had better get their entries in quickly. All of them are likely to fill ... Canadian champion Alf Phillips of Toronto just missed elimination at the club level this season. He had to steal on the 12th and 13th ends to edge out veteran Lou Ross, who is the father of Phillips' vice-skip, John ... the Lower Mainland men's playdowns, which drew 62 rinks for the double-elimination bonspiel-type playoff, is currently in progress in Vancouver. Two rinks will carry on to the Pacific Coast Curling Association final against two rinks from each of the Fraser Valley and Vancouver Island zones ... the Island zone final starts today at the Nanaimo Curling Club with the the first draw at 10 this morning ... the Island mixed-rinks final is at the Victoria Curling Club next Saturday and Sunday, along with the South Island senior men's playdown ... annual ladies' bonspiel at the Victoria Curling Club doesn't start until Feb. 29 but already has an entry of about 30 out-of-town rinks ... it's just possible that there may be a vacancy or two in the mixed bonspiel (woman to skip) scheduled to start Friday at the Nanaimo Curling Club.

Olympic Oath

Ski Official Hints Victory Over Brundage

May Be Changed

OTTAWA (CP) — Vice-president H. R. Grinnell of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association said Friday as he hopes world skiers have opened the door to changes in the Olympic oath.

Mr. Grinnell told a panel discussion the International Ski Federation won its fight at a New York meeting Thursday to have its own eligibility rules adopted as an addition to the Olympic pledge that skiers must sign before competing in the Olympics in France next month.

The federation met with Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee and it was reported that skiers were prepared to have their competitions considered as a world meet rather than Olympic events if their conditions were not met.

The FIS additions note that skiers spend more than 30 days in training and they are entitled to repayment for broken time.

Mr. Grinnell, heading a panel discussion on amateurism sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Sports Federation, said Nancy Greene, Canada's top skier, at first refused to sign the Olympic pledge on the grounds she would be perjuring herself.

But she finally was persuaded to take the advice of a Canadian official who told her she was living up the spirit of the Olympics, Mr. Grinnell said.

Mr. Grinnell said the Canadian hockey team at one time considered taking a stand similar to that of the skiers but decided against it.

Jackie McLeod, coach of the Canadian team, described the forms players must sign as "so ridiculous I can't even believe it."

To be eligible, say the forms, no competing athlete is allowed to receive more than 30 days a year training expenses.

The athlete must swear that he does not intend to become a professional in his sport.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Kings exploded for four goals in the second period and outplayed New York the rest of the way to post a 5-2 victory over the Rangers Friday night in the only National Hockey League action of the night.

The Kings, in second place in the West Division with 40 points, are only the second expansion team to beat the Rangers this season. New York had piled up a 11-1-1 record against the first-year clubs before running into the fired-up Kings.

Rookie Howie Menard, who joined the Kings from their minor league club in Springfield, scored his first two league goals to spark the Kings to their second straight win and only their second in the last 11 contests.

After a scoreless first period, the Kings took a 3-0 second-period lead on goals by Lowell MacDonald, Howie Hughes and Menard. New York's Reg Fleming then beat King goalie Terry Sawchuk in the second period on a breakaway after racing from the penalty box to intercept a King pass.

Doug Robinson scored his first league goal in the second period for Los Angeles, making it 4-1, and Phil Goyette's 17th goal of the season ended Ranger scoring at 18:52 in the second period.

Menard scored a second goal at 11:32 of the final stanza.

Seattle Lacrosse Bid Abandoned by Promoter

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bid to get Seattle into the Inter-City Lacrosse league this year has been abandoned, league commissioner George Wainborn said Friday.

He said financing was the main problem. Vancouver's Roy Pinner was the driving force behind the idea, but he couldn't find enough support in Seattle. An exhibition there last year did not draw well.

Wainborn said, however, that he expects the league to push for Seattle, and maybe Portland, in 1969.

In the league now are teams from Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Coquitlam.

Next games: Tonight — Vancouver at Phoenix; San Diego at Springfield; Portland at Hershey.

Seattle Totems scored three goals in 57 seconds late in the first period Friday night and held off Vancouver Canucks the rest of the way for a 3-2 victory which put them back into first place in the Western Hockey League.

Totems passed Portland Buckaroos who were edged, 4-3, by Providence Reds. It was the fifth loss in six starts for the Bucks on their current eight-game swing through the AHL.

In other inter-league action, Baltimore Clippers trimmed San Diego Gulls, 5-2, at Baltimore.

Seattle spotted Vancouver an unassisted goal by Larry McNabb at 13:10 of the first but roared back with a goal by Chuck Holmes at 14:56 and two by Gerry Leonard at 15:13 and 15:53. Holmes drew assists on both goals by Leonard who had assisted Holmes.

A second-period goal by Bob Lemieux was the closest Canucks could come to overtaking the Totems as Seattle's Don Head was brilliant in goal.

John Sleaver drilled home a 60-foot slap shot at 14:29 of the third period to give Providence its only lead of the game and the win.

Andy Hebenton, Art Jones and Norm Johnson had given Portland the lead three times but Ed Kachur, Mo Mantha and Bob Leduc had fired matching counters for the Reds. Sleaver, Hebenton and Jones are all former Victoria Maple Leafs.

Bob Rivard powered a four-goal second-period splurge by Baltimore as the Clippers maintained their perfect record against WHL clubs.

Dick Meissner, Jom Barlett and Sandy McGregor got the other Baltimore goals while Edgar Ehrenverth and Len Ronson scored for San Diego.

Hockey Vikings Lead Despite Suspensions

Next games: Friday—Stockers vs. Tudors at 7:45 p.m.; Q.O.R.'s vs. Vikings at 9:15 p.m.

University of Victoria Vikings, with their coach and two players sidelined by suspensions, moved back into sole possession of first place in the Vancouver Island Hockey league Friday night with a big assist from Tudor Monarchs.

Vikings downed Comox Totems, 3-2, in an inter-locking game with the Pacific Coast League team while Tudors stopped Stocker's North Americans, 6-4, to spoil Stockers chances of keeping pace with the Vikings.

Stockers had moved into a tie with Vikings for the lead, with 15 points each, when they were awarded last Friday's game against Vikings on a protest.

University outscored Stockers, 6-2, but used an ineligible player, Jerry Ciochetti, who had been assessed a match penalty against Nanaimo the previous weekend.

WOODLEY PROVIDES SPARK

Ciochetti, and his coach Jim Wilson have been suspended for at least 30 days by the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association because he played.

Ted Sarkissian was the other Viking to miss the game against Comox as he was assessed a one-game suspension for his part in a brawl late in the third period of the game against Stockers.

Defenceman Mike Woodley sparked Vikings against Comox, setting up Bill Rudyk for the only goal of the first period and scoring what proved to be the winner after Mike McAvoy had put Vikings ahead, 2-0.

Comox closed to within one goal in the third period as Dick Lee and Mike Stephans scored and had a power play going for the last 33 seconds but couldn't get the tying goal.

Orv Coulter scored three goals to lead Monarchs to their victory over Stockers. Ray Gregoire scored twice and Wayne Anderson once for the winners.

Larry Myers, with three goals, and Ken Walz scored for Stockers.

Playable Pitches Too Scarce

Lack of playable pitches has forced postponment of all first division matches Sunday in the Victoria and District Soccer League.

A full slate of second-division matches will be played with a doubleheader at lower Beacon Hill Park. Gorge plays Mayfair Clippers at 12:30 followed by Falcons against Sidney Hotel at 2:15 p.m.

In the other games, Colony Inn plays at William Head, University Norsemen meet London Boxing Club at upper Beacon Hill Park and Victoria West plays Island Tug at Bullen Park. These games start at 2 p.m.

Next game: Thursday — Belmont at Mount View, 4 p.m.

Oak Bay retained its undefeated record while Victoria Totems lost in overtime in high school boys' basketball action against two of the top Vancouver area teams Friday at Victoria High School.

Bays took a 38-28 lead at halftime and then held on in the last quarter to defeat Burnaby Central, 62-58, while Totems, who were behind, 9-16, at half-time, were defeated by Lord Byng, 47-46, after earning a 40-40 tie at the end of regulation time.

Claremont moved into a second-place tie with Totems and Esquimalt Dockers in regular Victoria league play by defeating Mt. Douglas Rams, 66-28, at Mt. Douglas.

Brent Mullin, Don Burrows and Dave Morgan each scored 14 points for Bays against Burnaby, who, like Lord Byng, leads its division in Vancouver. Glen MacKenzie scored 13 points for the losers while Ron Matheson and Ian Kennedy each added 12 points.

Rick Burton was Lord Byng's top scorer with 14 points. Byng made sure not to foul Totem Barry Moen as he scored his 14th point just before full time to leave the Victoria team one point back at the whistle.

Ken Lundeen and Dave Tooby provided most of the scoring punch for Claremont, hitting for 21 and 17 points, respectively. Bob Rimmer led the Rams with 10 points.

In action at Oak Bay tonight, Totems play Burnaby at 7 p.m. and Lord Byng plays the Bays at 8:30.

Minor Hockey Playoffs Start

First games of two-game, total-goal minor hockey playoffs will be played today and Sunday at 4:30 p.m. at Memorial Arena.

Saanich meets Victoria in a bantam game on Saturday and Port Alberni plays Victoria in a midget semi-final on Sunday.

Vikings, Vikettes Top UBC Visitors

University of Victoria Vikings defeated UBC Jayvees for the first time in three collegiate men's basketball games Friday, with a 73-55 victory at the Gordon Head gymnasium.

Vikings were ahead throughout the game and held a 39-28 advantage at halftime.

Playing without Barry Brunwell, who suffered a broken nose in Portland last weekend, Vikings received 14-point performances from Ken Jackson and John Lauvaas while Bill Carlson added 11 points for the winners.

VIKETTES WIN TOO

Ken House had 14 points for UBC and Ron Thorsen added 11.

University of Victoria Vikettes dumped the UBC "B" team, 40-24, in the preliminary women's game. Marg Maysmith, with 12 points and Marg Woodley, with 10, led the winners.

University teams play three games tonight at Gordon Head. Vikettes meet UBC at 4:30; Jayvees meet Chinooks in an Inter-City Junior Men's game at 6 p.m. and Vikings meet UBC Jayvees at 8.

O'Keefe's Game Off

Today's game between Victoria O'Keefes and Columbus has been postponed because of poor field conditions. The important Pacific Coast Soccer League match was set for Macdonald Park but the middle of the field is too soggy.

Next game for O'Keefes is scheduled for Macdonald on Feb. 3, against Burnaby Villa. The game against Columbus will be played at a later date.

Shuttle Tourney Down to Finals

Bob Hunt and Ivor Goodmanson meet tonight in the men's singles final of the city badminton championships at the Racquet Club while Diana Rogers and Jean Wescott clash in the ladies singles.

Tonight's draw:

Essos Here Tonight

Anderson Plans Cougar Changes

Coach Doug Anderson is moving John Van Horlick back to centre for tonight's B.C. Junior Hockey League game against Vernon Essos to try and get more punch through the middle.

Van Horlick, who has been playing on left wing, will be between wingers Terry Mitchell and Dave Williams when the game starts at 8:30 p.m. at Memorial Arena.

Called "no points" by his mates because he has yet to score a goal or get credit for an assit, the aggressive forward has managed to contribute to Cougars' recent successes with his bodychecking and speed.

Victoria, currently six points out of the last playoff spot and eight points behind Vernon, need to generate a big win streak.

One of the problems has been the inability to break through the middle of the opposition's defence but Van Horlick may be the answer.

Garth Greig, who missed several games with knee problems, will be back tonight with linemates Dennis Ferrill and Barry Clarke while Greg Wedderburn will take Van Horlick's spot on the line with Larry Limacher and Neil Sanders. Greg Gow will be the utility forward.

Murray Finlay will again be in goal but Anderson has shifted his defensive pairings, putting Al McIvor with Bob Webb and Bill Mainland with Stacy Whiting.

Marr Leads Kaiser Golf

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Regaining the touch which won him the Professional Golfers Association tournament championship in 1965, Dave Marr added a 69 to lead at the midway point in the $125,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament with 137.

He needed the seven-under-par score to stay ahead of Kermit Zarley and George Archer, who finished a stroke behind with 67 and 68, respectively, for 138s.

Two-time U.S. Open champion Billy Casper also caught fire with a record seven-under-par 65 over the Silverado Country Club's new North Course for a 140 total after 36 holes.

George Knudson fired another 72 to join 10 others at 144.

The 34-year-old Marr dropped a three-foot birdie putt at the eighth hole, 25 feet at the 11th, 12 at the 14th and four at the 17th.

Casper was the star of the day.

★ ★ ★

After Thursday's 75, including a birdie in the dark on the final hole, Billy whipped back with his 65 including eight birdies. His putts included one of 30 feet and another of 25.

He needed only 26 putts on a day which saw him go over par only once.

Zarley turned in cards with two sub-par rounds on a single day. One of 39 golfers left on the course when darkness halted Thursday's play, the bespectacled 26-year-old finished his first round early Friday with a 71, then shot his 67.

After Friday's round, the field was cut to the low 74, with a score of 147 needed to stay in.

Rex Baxter, co-leader Thursday, soared to 76 and 144 while Howie Johnson, who also had an opening 68, went to 73 and 141.

Deadlocked at 140 with Casper were Don January, Bert Greene, and Jackie Cupit while Arnold Palmer put a 73 with his opening 70 to remain with 30 golfers under par 144 for the two rounds.

Pro Bowl Surprises Possible

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stars of the National Football League wound up a week of practice Friday and are as ready as they'll ever be to play in the annual East-West Pro Bowl game Sunday in Memorial Coliseum.

Game sponsors were certain the turnout will exceed last year's all-time low of 15,062.

There were no changes in the starting lineup plans. But the fans might see a few surprises when East's quarterbacks, Don Meredith of Dallas Cowboys and Fran Tarkenton of New York Giants, oppose Baltimore's Johnny Unitas and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles Rams.

American Football League All-Star Game can be seen Sunday on Channel 5 at 10:30 a.m. followed by the National League "Pro Bowl" on Channels 7 and 12 at 1 p.m.

Netter Admits Receiving Pay

LONDON (Reuters) — Orlando Sirola, former Italian Davis Cup tennis player, said in a newspaper interview here he was paid £40 ($104) a week by the Italian Lawn Tennis Federation.

The London Daily Mail quoted Sirola as saying "these payments, of course, were in addition to the allowable expenses recognized by the international rules."

The newspaper reproduced part of a photostat copy of a statement signed by Sirola, who for many years formed Italy's Davis Cup doubles team with Nicola Pietrangeli.

At his home in Bologna, Sirola confirmed admitting to The Daily Mail that he received regular payments from the Italian association.

Giorgio de Stefani, president of the International and Italian lawn tennis federations, denied that the Italian association ever paid money to Italian amateur players, except as legitimate expenses.

Speaking from the mountain resort of Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy, de Stefani refused to refer to any particular case.

Mt. Pleasant Here For Crucial Series

Rawlings, Victoria's entry in the Inter-City Senior Women's Basketball League, have a special aptitude for coming from behind.

And that's the way they found themselves going into the final two weeks of regular league play, two points behind co-leaders UBC Thunderettes and Mt. Pleasant Legion, who defeated Molsons 45-33, Wednesday.

TONIGHT AND SUNDAY

Victoria meets Mt. Pleasant in a crucial series at Central Junior High School tonight at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 3:00. If either team manages two wins, they have practically assured themselves of a bye to the league finals.

UBC has just two games left, Mt. Pleasant, three, and Rawlings, four, including two against the last-place Molsons in Vancouver next weekend.

Four wins for Rawlings would put them into the best-of-five finals with home-court advantage in three games. A win in the league finals would probably put Victoria into the Canadian championships.

NEW PLAYOFF SYSTEM

Under the new playoff system, the country has been divided into four zones, with Alberta and B.C. comprising the Pacific zone, but Alberta has indicated it may not contest the championship berth this year.

For Rawlings, much depends on their second-half spurts. They have come from behind for three league victories and last weekend, in winning the Thunderette Tournament at UBC, downed Mt. Pleasant, 48-35, after trailing, 13-26, at the half.

Senator Proposes Sports' Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R. Mich.) says the time has come for a bill of rights for amateur athletes to protect them from the feuding of rival sports federations.

He announced he would introduce a bill that would ban the disqualification from competition of any amateur athlete because he had engaged in a prior meet staged by a rival organization.

The legislation also would prevent sports associations from imposing what Griffin called unreasonable restraints on an athlete's freedom to participate in sports events.

Griffin's bill is aimed at the protracted feud between the NCAA and the AAU over control of track and field meets.

He said the feud "threatens to seriously cripple our Olympic team this year. Just as it has threatened to do in the past."

The senator cited seven recent cases involving suspensions of more than 30 athletes who took part in track and field events sponsored by competing associations.

"The endless, bitter wrangling among the sanctioning groups has led me to conclude that athletes need legislative protection so that their freedom to complete in amateur events will not be impaired."

Griffin was the second congressman to rap the AAU-NCAA feud in as many days. Wednesday, Rep. Thomas M. Rees, (Dem. — Calif.), said the fight "could decimate our U.S. Olympic team and ruin this country's chances in Mexico City this fall."

Government Rejects Clay Appeal Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. justice department, charging former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay with attempting to evade the military draft, said Thursday his claims for exemption as a Muslim minister and as a conscientious objector were not made until after he was classified as fit for service.

The department made its charges in a brief filed by mail with a U.S. Appeals Court in New Orleans. Clay has appealed his conviction for refusing to be inducted into the armed forces.

The government rejected each of six claims in his appeal.

Clay, who prefers to be known as Muhammad Ali, based his appeal principally on the claim that as a Black Muslim Minister and a conscientious objector he is entitled to be exempt from military service.

PROFESSIONAL BOXER

The government said that until he was actually reclassified 1A and found acceptable for service Clay gave his occupation as professional boxing.

The brief said Clay "was insincere in his conscientious objector claim."

The government also rejected Clay's contentions that because draft boards have few Negroes, members of his race have been systematically excluded and therefore he could not be drafted.

On his contention that he is entitled to a ministerial exemption, the government said it is clear that Clay "pursues a career in prize fighting," and there is no indication that his induction would deprive a Muslim congregation of its leader.

B.C. Netters Back Britain

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Lawn Tennis Association is backing Britain on open tennis.

Jack Volrich, B.C. Association president, said he would like to see Canada support Britain's move.

A BCLTA's recommendation that the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association declare its competitions "open" this year will be made at an association meeting this weekend in Toronto, Volrich said.

The British have declared that as of April 22, all their tournaments will be open to both amateurs and professionals.

Former amateurs have admitted they were paid thousands of dollars even before they joined the play-for-pay ranks of the professionals.

French Skier Wins Again

TARVISIO (CP-AP) — France's Patrick Russel Thursday won the giant slalom event of the Duke of Aosta international skiing competition in this Italian resort, making it a clean sweep after winning the special slalom Wednesday.

Among Canadians, Bill McKay, 20, of Calgary, Alta., and Vancouver, was 23rd in 2:28.01; Chapman Currie, 18, of Chelsea, Que., 26th in 2:28.77, and Dan Irwin, of Princeton, B.C., 40th in 2:32.19.

Team of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The 100-to-1 shot Boston Red Sox are the 1967 sports Team of the Year. In balloting conducted by The Associated Press, Red Sox beat out their World Series conquerors, the St. Louis Cardinals.

This June we're busting out all over.
Join us, for as little as $23 a day.

WHERE would you like to go this summer?
Good. That's where we go. Consider these three escorted P&O idylls, for example. Each includes special sightseeing and tours. The works.
1. Jolly Roger Round World Adventure.
89 glorious days leaving Vancouver June 28 aboard Iberia, returning September 28 on Canberra. You'll head west to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Ceylon, Africa, Europe and the Caribbean. En route you have a four-day overland tour of Japan, and a choice of escorted tours of Europe or the British Isles. The cost: as little as $2227 tourist, $3206 first class.
2. Summertime South Pacific and Orient Holiday.
Sailing June 29 on Orsova for Hawaii, Fiji, New Zealand, Australia, Hong Kong, Japan and home. 50 days including a 4-day overland tour of Japan. From $1283 tourist, $1632 first class.
3. Pearl of the Orient.
This one lasts 34 days, leaving on Iberia June 28. To Hawaii, Yokohama, Kobe and Hong Kong. Fly to Taiwan and Japan for a special 16-day tour of these fascinating lands. Then jet home. From $1340 tourist, $1421 first class.
4. Europe via Caribbean.
Our 22-day pleasure way to the Continent, showing you Panama and the Caribbean. Prices start at $444 tourist, $796 first class. Oriana sails June 22, Canberra July 10.
No matter which trip you take, you'll find acres of sunlit decks aboard your P&O liner, new friends from every part of the world, first-run movies, superb meals, deft service, convivial pubs, parties galore. And you'll find you can enjoy all this for as little as $23 a day, which you could easily pay for just a room at a hotel that doesn't go anywhere.

Tips You Off

LAKE TAHOE, California — The latest thing on powder snow is the Shortee, a mini-ski 33 inches long. "Anyone can learn to ski on these in a couple of hours," say the ski instructors. "Later, if you want, you can graduate to the big boards."

The ski resorts are full now around this blue lake, a mile high in the Sierra. Since many skiers are young (and on short money), they've developed ways of cutting costs.

★ ★ ★

They come in rented camper-trucks. Hamburgers-and-chili is the snow diet. "If you buy beer in the big resorts, you'll be tapioca — tapped out," says Poor Richard, the skier. "What you must do is buy a few pop-top cans at the store. Cache them in the snow outside. Now find an empty glass at a table. Go out and pop a can and fill your glass. Go back inside and mingle."

★ ★ ★

"Do you tip tour directors? What if the director is the man who runs the travel agency?"

Tour guides in Europe, Mexico, South America are usually local employees. They pick up 15 per cent or better on everything you buy. Often on your night club bills, too. So I am reluctant to tip them.

But it doesn't work that way. A tour group becomes an intimate thing. As close as a family. This extends to that nice fellow, the guide. And soon somebody says, "We must get up a collection for Pierre." So you go along with it.

With the tour director who owns the agency, I think you'll find somebody taking up a collection to get him a Swiss watch. It's a group action that simply grows.

★ ★ ★

A Thousand and One Travellers' Tales: Reader writes from Dublin: "Jammet's is closed." That wonderful, panelled restaurant where we ate Dublin bay oysters and Guinness in the back bar! From Portugal: "We paid $25 a day at the Ritz in Lisbon for the same thing we got two years ago for $14. But the hotels and prices south in the Algarve were wonderful! $10 a day with all meals."

Portugal is the country to spend a year and write a novel. About $5 a day for two with meals in a blue sea fishing village backed by pine tree hills.

★ ★ ★

"I am thinking of buying a Chevrolet and taking it to Europe . . ."

An American car on a European road looks as big as a truck. Lots of narrow streets in little towns you can't even get into. Then there's gasoline. At 50 to 80 cents a gallon. And shipping. I paid about $250 to ship home a mini-car three years ago.

★ ★ ★

"Can I use my electric razor in Europe?"

All big tourist hotels now have a special four-way outlet in the bathroom. It takes all the plugs and delivers both 110 and 220 volts. But you won't find them in the countryside. I'd favor the travel razors that convert. Or something with battery power.

★ ★ ★

". . . to get an International Driving Permit?"

I get mine from an AAA office. Two passport photos and $3 last time. You might find out if you need it first. European countries have been easing driving permits. Last I heard, only Spain and Portugal required the international license.

You'll need a "green card" insurance form to get across borders. The rental agency or seller should get this for you.

And get them to stick on the windshield the little decal that shows road signs and conversion of kilometers into miles.

Who Needs a Plaque?

HMCS Saskatchewan was awarded Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce plaque Friday for being best decorated ship in navy's Pacific Command over Christmas season. AB David Radmore thought plaque was nice but insisted Miss Victoria Margaret Vickers, who made presentation, was prettier.

Litter Foes Launch Battle

A new anti-litter club formed in Victoria received the warmest support Friday from Mayor Hugh Stephen.

All citizens were urged to attend the second meeting of the organization to be held at Willows School at 8 p.m. on Jan. 23.

★ ★ ★

"This year I recommended to council that we take the initiative in a concerted attack against all forms of untidiness in our beautiful city and I hope we shall develop a co-ordinated program of steps toward this objective.

"But whatever we may do at the official level it is upon the individual citizen that we just ultimately rely. A clean and tidy community can be achieved only through the conscience of its citizens and the example of its leaders.

★ ★ ★

"The new anti-litter club will operate at all levels and deserves the solid support of all the people," Mayor Stephen said.

Three Cities Must Show Road Proofs

Victoria and two other cities that receive provincial grants for arterial highways will have to show they are spending the money on those roads, R. K. Gervin said Thursday.

Mr. Gervin, president of the British Columbia Automobile Association, said this was the reaction of Premier Bennett to the association brief which sought higher arterial highway payments to Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

★ ★ ★

"The premier made no commitment to boost the grants. But he said his government will in future require the three cities to show that all the grant money they get is spent on roads."

Mr. Gervin added: "I got the impression the cabinet thinks some of the money has gone into the cities' general revenue in the past."

Another member of the delegation, Donald Bruce, quoted Premier Bennett as saying that widening of the Patricia Bay Highway to four lanes could not be expected "for quite a while."

★ ★ ★

"The premier agreed it was an excellent project," he said, "but he said other things had to be done first."

The automobile association has asked for the past two years to have the Patricia Bay Highway widened.

Three Nations Appeal Ruling on Fine Print

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to let Canada, Italy and Britain present their views in an appeal hinging on how fine the fine print should be on an international airline ticket.

Alitalia is appealing a U.S. court award to a relative of a victim of a 1960 crash at Shannon Airport.

Canada backs the Italian contention that the ticket involved adequately set out notice of the international liability ceiling in case of an accident—at that time $8,300.

Skaters Drown In Rescue Try

SEOUL (UPI) — Three school children drowned in Seoul when the ice on a river broke while they were skating Two of the boys were trying to save the third when all three went down.

Japan to Build Jet Transports

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan will start basic designs for a jet transport in the near future with which it hopes to capture a large share of the world transport plane market after 1973.

★ ★ ★

The ministry of international trade and industry, with a budget of 100,000,000 yen (about $275,000) allocated in the national budget for the coming financial year, has instructed the Japanese aircraft industry to start drawing basic designs.

The total development cost of the plane is expected to be about 15,000,000,000 yen (about $41,600,000).

The plane, equipped with imported jet engines and seating between 75 and 100 passengers, is expected to be completed before 1973, industry sources said.

The medium-range plane, to feature short landing and take-off distance, will replace the Japanese YS-11 turbo-prop transport which has just begun to enjoy popularity overseas, particularly in South American and Asian countries.

The industry sources said that in the year the new Japanese transport plane will be ready, a total of some 800 planes in this category will be required throughout the world — and the Japanese hope to obtain orders for 300 of them.

Don't Walk Blitz Ignored By Pedestrians

Pedestrians in the downtown area are still ignoring the "don't walk" signals at intersections in spite of the blitz being conducted by city police.

A spot check Friday afternoon showed the blitz, which began two weeks ago, hasn't had much effect on the habits of the careless pedestrians.

There were streams of people straggling across Yates at Douglas against the light, tying up traffic waiting to turn right.

* * *

Pedestrians figure prominently in the city traffic statistics. Last year, 110 pedestrians were injured on the city streets as opposed to 62 in 1966.

There were five pedestrians killed last year against three in 1966. And Victoria's only traffic fatality this year was a pedestrian.

The message from Insp. Richard Berry to pedestrians is: "Obey the signs, wear light clothing at night and be careful."

Guilty Pleas Made To 10 Charges

Stephen Seymour White, 55, pleaded guilty in central magistrate's court Friday to six counts of theft by conversion and four counts of false pretences.

White, 2825 Tudor, was remanded to Jan. 26 for a presentence report and sentence.

Det. Angus Stewart said White rented two television sets and a sewing machine during the last month from city stores and sold them to a second-hand store.

He also took an attache case, a set of wall faucets and an electric drill on approval from stores and sold them.

Det. Stewart said White wrote cheques on non-existent accounts to get a coat, a brief case, a transistor radio and a knife. All but the knife were also sold. White had the Gurkha knife concealed on him when arrested, court was told.

Total value of the goods was $542 and they were sold for $111.

□

Brian Davidson, 435 Michigan, was fined $350 and had his licence suspended for impaired driving. Robert McAllister, 518 Hampshire, was fined $300 and had his licence suspended for the same offence.

□

Arthur Pearson, 54, of 6840 Sooke, was fined $75 for an offence under the unemployment insurance act. He said in his application for unemployment insurance that he had been laid off when he had resigned. He received no payments.

□

Charles Perry, 1050 Redfern, was fined $100 for driving while his licence was suspended.

Raymond Scott, HMCS Mackenzie, was fined $100 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Lance Vrebosh, 703 Esquimalt, was fined $40 for careless driving.

Compensation Pension Increased

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson announced a 2-per-cent increase in Workmen's Compensation Act pensions for 5,000 B.C. widows and children and 10,000 disabled workmen.

The increase, retroactive to the beginning of this month, is automatic under the act, which was tied in 1965 to the cost-of-living index.

This month's cheques will be $124.48 for pensioned widows and will range from $43.30 to $59.54 for children's allowances, depending on ages and other circumstances.

Big Work List Means Busy Time

Saanich Council Off on Tour

Saanich council will have a busy time today when members take a tour of the municipality to inspect the sites of proposed and on-going projects.

Among projects to be considered are three programs handed to the public works committee this week by Municipal Engineer Neville Life — a $1,000,000 road budget, an $88,750 sidewalk program and a $327,600 drainage program.

FIRST PERIOD

Mr. Life said the report on major road construction in Saanich, prepared in 1965, recommended that during the first five-year period an average of $511,000 should be spent annually on construction.

He said he expects the pressure to build roads will increase substantially over the next few years because the road expenditure has been considerably less than this amount. He recommended greater expenditure for road reconstruction.

The $1,000,000 budget includes prior commitments for four lanes on Quadra from McKenzie to Nicholson and on Gorge from Colquitz to Dysart. It includes realignment, including culvert, of Prospect Lake Road at Lohr and a connection for San Pedro.

Four-lane construction is recommended for Carey, from Tillicum to Glanford; Lansdowne from the city to Foul Bay and west of Aldridge, and Cadboro Bay, from Sinclair to Maynard.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Mr. Life recommended road construction in connection with developments on Hampton (Senior Citizens Centre); Bodega, Obed North (arena); Shelbourne and North Dairy (Simpson's-Sears); Shelbourne (shopping centre); Raymond (Eaton's); Interurban (vocational school).

Work was also recommended on Gordon Head, Tyndall, Seymour, Tattersall, Majestic, Hastings, Courtland, Munns, Holland, Durrance, Edgelow and San Juan.

SIDEWALK WORK

The sidewalk program recommends construction of more than five miles of sidewalk at a cost of $88,750.

Locations are on Hampton from Seaton to Albina and from Albina to Tillicum; Bodega, from Obed to the Arena; Obed from Bodega to Dysart; Tattersall, from Savannah to Bethune; Cook from Maywood to Maplewood; Borden, from Reynolds to McKenzie, and from McKenzie to Cedar Hill Cross Road; Shelbourne, in front of the shopping centre, north of Ruby Road; Catalina, Lane to Lochside; Feltham, to San Lorenzo, to Sea Point.

SCHOOL ENTRANCE

Townley, from Richmond to school entrance; Claremont Hill, from Westley to Cordova Bay; Gregory Place, west of Cedar Hill; Karen at McKenzie; Torquay, Kenmore to Ash; Wesley, from Claremont to Haliburton; Burnside and Trans-Canada Highway; Richmond, Cedar to Poplar; Linwood, widen path; Majestic, Kenmore to Ash; Carey, Grange to Gerda; Cedar Hill Cross Road, Reynolds to short of McKenzie; Shelbourne, Cedarglen to Kenmore; and Telegraph Bay Road, from Cadboro Bay Road to Seaview continuation.

Mr. Life's drainage program includes $29,100 worth of items which were committed but not budgeted. They are Cedar Hill Cross Road at Ascot; Bowker Creek south of Earlston and Sinclair, from Haro to Cadboro Bay.

New projects include work following storm damage, continued maintenance and drains for new construction.

Total cost of proposed construction is $327,600, over $170,000 of which would be required to culvert Bowker Creek and Foot's Bottom.

Bear Hill Field Trip For Juniors Today

The junior-branch intermediate section of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet at 1:30 p.m. today at Douglas and Hillside for a field trip to Bear Hill. Hot Pursuit Rumors Cooled Off by U.S.

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The United States reassured Cambodia Friday that it was holding to its earlier promise of no desire or intention to violate Cambodian territory by waging "hot pursuit" against Viet Cong seeking sanctuary across the border.

The Cambodian government announced that an American message relayed by the Australian Embassy said "allegations" that the U.S. had renounced its conciliatory agreement "are without foundation."

Special U.S. envoy Chester Bowles and Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, last week issued a communique that the Americans had "no desire or intention to violate Cambodian territory" by pursuing enemy forces across Cambodia's frontiers. It was hailed in Cambodia as a significant step in confining the war to Vietnam.

But assistant secretary of state William Bundy said Jan. 12 the pact did not "bar the right of troops to self-defence" and Sihanouk accused the U.S. of "flouting" the agreement.

AT ALL COSTS

The U.S. note published by the Cambodian government Friday expressed America's "desire at all costs to eliminate all misunderstanding on this subject and to confirm there is no change in its attitude since the joint communique which exactly represents its position."

The communique provided for strengthened International Control Commission patrols of Cambodian frontiers to investigate complaints of border violations.

RUSSIANS OBJECT

The Russians were reported to have objected to the Cambodians over expansion of ICC duties.

Both the Soviet Union and China have warned the U.S. they would not ignore any crossing into Cambodia of U.S. troops. The state department, according to Washington reports, has asked Moscow to discuss the situation with Hanoi.

Elsewhere:

● According to Washington sources, a change in U.S. radar-jamming techniques apparently has overcome an increase in the effectiveness of North Vietnamese anti-aircraft missiles.

The loss of nine U.S. planes in four days last November to surface-to-air missiles — SAMs — sparked a study of the causes. As a result, the sources said, an adjustment was made in the electronic counter-measures used by U.S. planes against the Soviet-made radar-guided rockets.

● A Viet Cong radio broadcast Friday announced the release of 14 captured South Vietnamese army officers ranging in rank from second lieutenant to major.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen in Saigon said they were unable to confirm the release of any prisoners in guerilla captivity.

● The U.S. command said in Saigon an unidentified jet aircraft raided the special U.S. forces camp at Lang Vei in the northwest corner of South Vietnam Friday. President Nguyen Van Thieu said he had reports of a dogfight over the camp between a North Vietnamese MiG and a U.S. jet.

But U.S. headquarters said it had no information on any dogfights over the area and the MiG possibility was termed "remote as hell."

● U.S. fighter-bombers used breaks in monsoon clouds over North Vietnam Thursday for their heaviest visual raids in two weeks on objectives between Hanoi and the China frontier.

The U.S. command announced Friday two U.S. F-4 Phantoms were lost due to undetermined causes and a Communist MiG-17 was destroyed by a missile a Phantom fired up its tailpipe.

● Two ranking editors of Time-Life Corporation met with Soviet Premier Kosygin for two hours in Moscow Friday and found him "terribly serious" about wanting an end to the Vietnam war.

However, Hedley Donovan, editor-in-chief of Time magazine, and George P. Hunt, managing editor of Life Magazine, refused to divulge details of their interview with Kosygin, his first with representatives of the American press since he met James Reston, associate editor and columnist for the New York Times, in December, 1965.

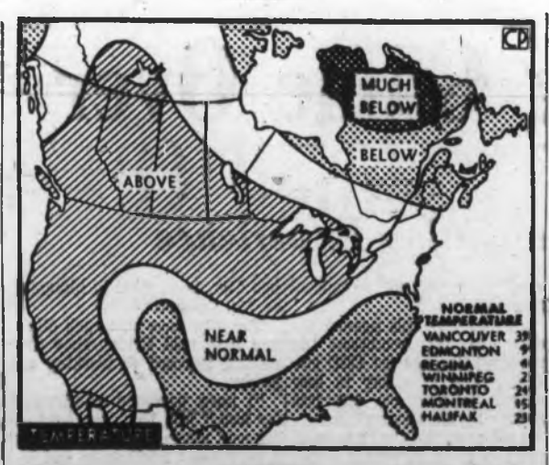

● In Vancouver, Liberal MP Ron Basford recommended Thursday that after Lester Pearson retires as prime minister, the Liberal leader should be appointed a special envoy to end the Vietnam war.

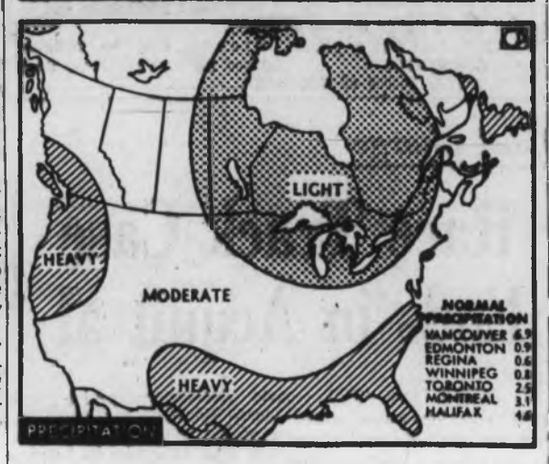

U.S. Sailors Ignore Peace Pleas

SASEBO, Japan (UPI)—Japanese demonstrators clashed with police and drove through Sailor Town Friday night urging men of the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and two other U.S. vessels to jump ship.

The U.S. sailors ignored anti-war appeal chief Makoto Oda and his peacecills, finding Sasebo's bar girls with their mini-skirts and beehive hairdos far more interesting.

Commanding officers of the three American vessels said they were sure none of the men would defect. The other two ships are frigates Truxton and Halsey. The Truxton is also nuclear-powered.

N-Blast Shakes Nevada, Frisco

HOT CREEK VALLEY, Nev. (UPI) — Scientists triggered a giant below-ground thermonuclear device in central Nevada Friday designed to clear the way for an acceleration of the United States underground atomic testing program.

The blast, 50 times more powerful than the atomic bomb which destroyed Hiroshima, shook central Nevada communities and pushed seismographic needles to six on the Richter Scale at the University of California at Berkeley.

GROUND ZERO

Residents in Tonopah, Nev., 70 miles from ground zero, rushed into the streets shortly after the blast. It took 20 seconds for the ground shock wave to jolt the small Nevada town. No damage was reported.

Persons in Eureka, Austin and Las Vegas, 175 miles away, felt only slight ground movement. But in San Francisco numerous residents called the University of California reporting an earthquake.

TOO LARGE

Residents in Salt Lake City also reported what they thought was an earthquake. Seismologists at the University of Nevada in Reno said the detonation was too large to record on their instruments.

The test, named "Faultless," was conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission to determine if central Nevada was a suitable area to experiment with the biggest underground nuclear weapons ever tested in United States history.

The government set up a network of 90 seismographs, located from 90 to several hundred miles away from Hot Creek Valley. The data will be used by scientists in determining the location of the new test site.

U.S. Highway 6, which runs through Hot Creek Valley, was closed two hours before the test. Hot Creek Valley, is a sage-covered table-land located 175 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

The AEC said the nuclear device was of intermediate yield, meaning it had a maximum punch of 1,000,000 tons of TNT. It was planted 1,200 feet below the snow-covered desert floor to avoid radiation leaks into the atmosphere.

No-Thrill Stanfield Makes Hit Among Students

By IAN STREET

VANCOUVER — Conservatism, Stanfield-style, seemed to make a hit with an audience of more than 1,000 students on the UBC campus Friday.

Opposition leader Robert Stanfield talked to them for about three quarters of an hour during noon recess on topics ranging from the generation gap to the Quebec question.

His manner was friendly, his speech lucid and not very enlightening.

The Tory leader's calm appeared unshakeable. He neatly disposed of questions dealing with Canada's responsibility in the Vietnam conflict, the possibility of this country becoming a republic, and once or twice mildly rebuked questioners who got out of line.

The proceedings, which lasted about an hour, were to the surprise of most outsiders quite tame. No one carried signs, there was no heckling, and on a couple of occasions when there was a bit of hissing the audience directed it at the questioners.

The whole affair prompted someone to remark: "The real Conservatives are in the audience."

Every Inch Packed

Well over 1,000 students (some estimates went as high as 12,00) jammed every inch of available space in the old auditorium. They applauded warmly before during and at the close of Stanfield's speech.

The occasion left observers asking: Were there that many young Tories or people interested in conservatism in a university of some 18,000 students? It's possible some came to escape the downpour outside. But where was the opposition?

Was everyone too polite or too bored?

During the question period a student took issue with Stanfield's support of Canada's two founding cultures. He said "within 20 years" most of the world would be speaking a single language so why should Canadians have to speak English and French, with all the cumbersome and expensive machinery this entails.

"My friend, if you're talking about a little money to preserve confederation I don't go along with that," the Tory leader replied.

'Pretty Good System'

"The bilingual aspect of our country is a source of enrichment and I suggest if you don't already know French, you, as I'm doing, should try to learn it." The audience applauded.

In reply to another question, dealing with the prospect of cutting ties with Britain and creating a republic in Canada, Stanfield said he is all in favor of repatriating the British North America Act.

But he added most Canadians including those of French descent think the present "democratic monarchy is a pretty good system."

Therefore, Stanfield said, he doesn't anticipate any strong movement towards republican status.

The Tory leader rebuked another questioner who called his plea for increased understanding of Quebec's position conventional. "There are people — maybe some in B.C. — who think that if they don't pay attention of this problem it will go away. That is imagination — it's unfortunately not the case."

Canada has guaranteed the protection of the two official languages, Stanfield said, and thereby is committed to "a society of diversity."

Stanfield said he is sympathetic of the American position in Vietnam and expects Canada to do all it can to encourage de-escalation of the war and negotiation of an eventual peace.

Another student asked what the Tory leader considered was the chief aspiration of the people of B.C.

"It would be presumptuous for me to take a firm position on that," said Stanfield. "But I imagine you are principally interested in leading the good life and making the greatest possible constructive contribution to the welfare of Canadians and mankind." He added amid laughter and applause that welled up: "How's that?"

Byelection Announced

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Smith announced a provincial by-election will be held Tuesday, Feb. 13, to fill one vacancy in the two-member legislature riding of Colchester.

The vacancy in the 46-seat house was brought about by the resignation of former premier Robert L. Stanfield, who was chosen national Conservative leader last September.

Get in the action at Banff Lake Louise -It's powder paradise

MOUNT NORQUAY (ALTITUDE 5,600')

Everybody's heard about this one and its two-mile downhill run with a 2,000' drop. However, if your personal skiing standards are short of Olympic, Norquay still has lots for you—two beginners' runs, four intermediate, four expert and powder, powder everywhere. Five lifts, including a double chairlift rising 1,300'. Day lodge, coffee shop, ski shop, patrol and ski school.

SUNSHINE VILLAGE (ALTITUDE 7,200')

A slice of ski heaven 14 miles south of Banff townsite. Sunshine had 229 inches of snow last year. Four runs for beginners, seven intermediate and four expert. Three lifts — a double-chair and two T-bars. Accommodation right in the village. There's entertainment, a dining room, cafeteria, ski school and patrol, a sport shop, and (if your accommodation is in Banff) bus service from the parking lot.

LAKE LOUISE (ALTITUDE 7,200')

Here the action starts right on the Trans-Canada Highway, at the lower terminal of the Whitehorn Sedan Lift. Skiers and see-ers are carried high above the famous lake to the upper terminal where more lifts rise to the upper slopes. Seven different lifts serve two ski areas here—Whitehorn and Mount Temple, which are linked together by a ten-mile downhill circuit. Two beginners' runs, six intermediate, three expert. Ski school, ski shops, ski tours, patrol, accommodation, entertainment—and 118 inches of powder.

PIGEON MOUNTAIN, CANMORE

Just outside the National Park, but close to Banff. Three beginners' runs, three intermediate and one expert. Three pomas, day lodge, free nursery, ski school, patrol and shop.

Rental equipment is available at all areas, and you can rent skierized cars at Edmonton, Calgary, Banff and Jasper, with ski-rack, snow tires, chains—the works.

Ski Monday-to-Friday At Special Low Rates.

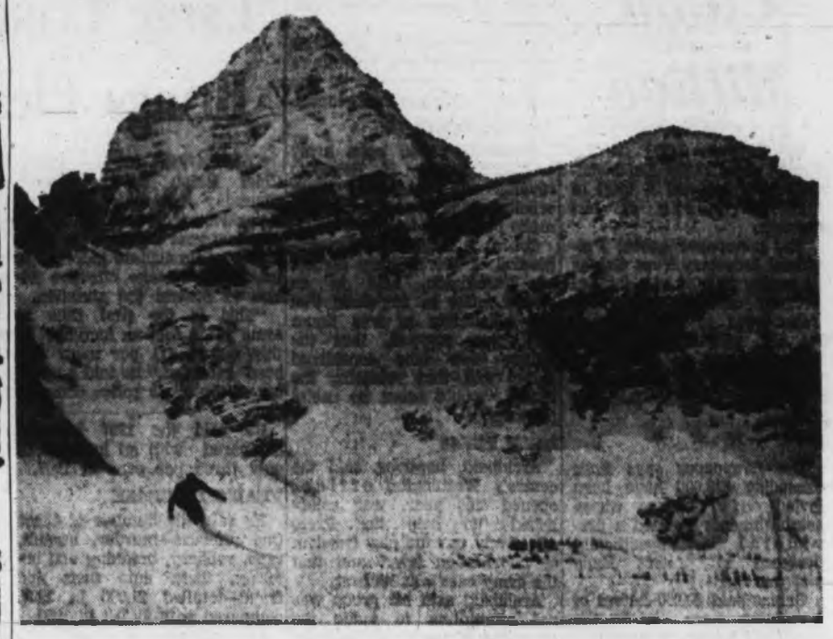

A wide range of accommodation at all prices.

Plenty of space on the slopes—no waiting at lifts.

Bring a camera—the "skinery" is superb, and there's unlimited scope for exciting action shots, both movie and still. Curling and skating are available too, so even if you don't ski, you'll find lots to do all day and plenty of apres-ski activity after dark.

Picard

CBC Guessing Game Over

* * * * * *

New Leaders Lack Broadcasting Experience

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson ended a 15-month guessing game Friday, picking an Ottawa career civil servant and a Montreal labor-management expert to fill the top jobs in the CBC.

George F. Davidson, 58, secretary of the federal cabinet committee that approves all government spending, becomes president of the publicly-owned corporation. He will be responsible for all policy decisions.

Laurent A. Picard, 40, Montreal teacher and consultant, becomes a chief vice-president, shouldering responsibility for the day-to-day running of the CBC and its more than 8,000 employees.

LONG WAIT

Pearson announced the long-awaited appointments at a press conference.

He said he was filling "two of the hardest and most responsible positions in the government service" with men who "have my complete confidence."

The appointments take effect Feb. 1.

The jobs had been hanging fire since former president J. Alphonse Ouimet left the job last Dec. 15.

FOR MONTHS

But they had been pending for months before that. Ouimet announced his intention to resign in 1966, saying he would stay on until new broadcasting legislation was brought in.

The legislation, which proposed splitting Ouimet's duties into the two categories now handed to the new appointees, was brought in last year. It got approval in principle and comes back before the Commons next Monday for clause-by-clause study.

Late last year, the names of Davidson and Picard became the ones most mentioned in the guessing of who would follow Ouimet.

NEW POSTS

Neither appointee has any real background in broadcasting —but both bring considerable experience to their posts.

Picard, who has conducted research and acted as consultant for a wide variety of industries, was tabbed by the federal government in 1966 to investigate a dispute over longshormen's operations on the Montreal, Quebec and Trois-Rivieres waterfronts.

Picard's one contact with the CBC has been as a consultant for a corporation training program.

DESK CLEARED

Ouimet decided to clear out his desk after a head-on clash with State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, the minister who handles liaison between the corporation and Parliament.

Miss LaMarsh told a television audience she was aware of many areas of "rotten management" within the CBC. When Ouimet asked her to name instances, she said her charge had been common knowledge for years and brushed off his demand as arrogant.

The new bill includes a provision that would place the CBC more firmly under the control of the new and more powerful regulatory body that is to succeed the Board of Broadcast Governors.

It would give this agency the power to set conditions on broadcast licences for CBC stations, giving it a say in how general policies are put into practice by the corporation.

In the past, the CBC has operated largely on its own in deciding just how it should operate a distinctly Canadian public broadcasting system.

Picard, a native of Quebec City, is as fluently bilingual as Mr. Ouimet.

The men have met each other and both said Friday they are looking forward to working together.

"I have profound admiration for him," Mr. Davidson said of his new vice-president. "He has a very great intelligence and integrity."

Picard said he believes he and his new president think alike.

Pearson Seeks Cleanup Before Affray

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Friday he hopes Parliament, which resumes Monday, can clean up all the legislative items now before it and wind up by March 10 to let aspiring cabinet ministers go campaigning for his job.

He also said he would like to see the long-discussed Canada Development Corp., plus "one or two" other items which he did not identify, added to the already heavy agenda. He also:

- Issued a formal statement of reassurance in the strength of the Canadian dollar, countering market speculation against the dollar;
- Reported the cabinet is continuing its review of the July 1 target date for medical care insurance and will announce a decision "shortly."

Pearson's suggestion that Parliament aim for a cleanup March 10—a Sunday—would leave only seven weeks for completion of the current session, now in overtime after running since May 8, 1967.

It would also leave only four weeks for cabinet ministers to drum up party support in advance of the Liberal leadership convention here April 4-6. The winner in the April 6 voting will take over as prime minister as well as party leader.

First item of debate when the Commons resumes Monday at 11:30 a.m. PST will be revised broadcasting legislation.

Waiting in the wings, along with a dozen other items, is the massive bill to amend the Criminal Code. This one touches on such controversial issues as abortion, homosexuals, compulsory breath tests for drivers and provincial lotteries.

The development corporation, which would sell shares to the public and invest in resource development projects, was on the original legislative program introduced when the Pearson government took office in April of 1963.

On the subject of leadership campaigning by cabinet members. Mr. Pearson said all ministers have subscribed to the policy of the government and would be expected to retain that stand.

He would meet with the leadership contenders about every 10 days to discuss the question of cabinet solidarity.

Retires

Familiar, friendly face was lost to Victoria Press Ltd. Friday when Marguerite Laughlin retired after 26 years of service. Her boss, general manager J. C. Melville, presented her with sewing machine while other presentations were made to long-service secretary by other company officials and fellow employees. —(Kinsman)

Libel Charge

Race Track Case Ends in Acquittal

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP) — Roch Deslauriers was acquitted Thursday of a criminal charge of defamatory libel against Yvon Dupuis, former Liberal cabinet minister.

District Judge Victor Chabot found the St. Johns chiropractor acted in good faith when he published a document which said Deslauriers paid Mr. Dupuis $10,000 to help obtain a provincial permit to operate a race track at nearby St. Luc in 1961.

The proposed race track would have been located in the federal riding Dupuis then represented in the House of Commons.

Deslauriers was a Crown witness at the trial in Sherbrooke, Que., of Dupuis, 40, who was convicted in April, 1966, of peddling his influence to Deslauriers and unnamed other persons for $10,000 to help get the permit.

NEW TRIAL

Dupuis was fined $5,000 or one year in jail but the Quebec Court of Appeals ordered a new trial for him last November after an appeal was launched in March, 1967.

The charge of defamatory libel was laid against Deslauriers in 1966 by Real Rousseau, mayor of Pointe de Moulin, a Montreal suburb.

It alleged libel in a document made public by Deslauriers between Jan. 1 and Feb. 29, 1964, which said Deslauriers had paid Dupuis $10,000 in return for his influence in getting the race track permit.

Rivard Friend Free After Court Appeal

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Court of Appeals reversed the decision of a lower court Thursday and acquitted Roger Gignac who was serving a 2½-year sentence for perjury.

Gignac, 37, a friend of convicted narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard, was found guilty of perjury in 1966 as a result of his testimony during the Dorion royal commission inquiry in 1965.

Army Sits Tight, Free Liquor Sparks Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Army was accused Friday of trying to pressure Washington area liquor lobbyists and wholesalers into supplying free drinks for 1,200 guests at a Valentine's Day ball here, and then trying to hush it up.

The charge was made by Samuel Archibald, executive director of the Washington office of the Freedom of Information Centre, a research adjunct of the University of Missouri's journalism school concerned with the problems of government restrictions on information.

ARMY GUESTS

Archibald said the army refused to make public correspondence in which the Military District of Washington attempted to "pressure liquor lobbyists and wholesalers in the Washington area to provide the drinks for 1,200 army guests at a social function."

Besides the hard liquor — 372 fifths — Archibald said the liquor groups were asked for 20 bottles of assorted wines and bitters.

His letter said the donations were for this year's Valentine's Day ball, sponsored by the district's commanding general.

'LOWER ECHELON'

Archibald called upon army secretary Stanley R. Resor to reverse the decision of lower echelon officials who refused to make public the letters.

Col. J. A. Ingerski, adjutant-general of the military district of Washington, said in an earlier letter to Archibald that the solicitation of free liquor had been stopped, that the matter was now considered closed and that releasing the letters "would serve no useful purpose."

HELP PRESS

Archibald, however, said the centre's Washington office, opened this year, was established "to help the Press effectively use the new freedom of information law," and that the army case was its first.

Archibald said his group was not attempting to judge the propriety of the liquor solicitation. In fact, he said he understood the Valentine's Day ball was a charity affair.

Expo

Visitors Claim Million

MONTREAL (CP) — La Presse says 12,279 Expo visitors have claimed a total of $1,000,000 worth of lost deposits.

The newspaper quotes Provincial Secretary Yves Gabias as saying $115,000 of a total of $909,637 already has been reimbursed to 2,000 visitors. He also said 600 files were being studied in connection with possible legal suits arising from charges laid by visitors.

* * *

The newspaper says fines exceeding $18,000 have been levied on 57 owners whose establishments violated a provincial law specifically designed to protect Expo visitors.

Gabias said 16,000 letters of complaints were sent to the provincial lodging service and 7,685 persons complained personally or by phone to the service.

Health Officials Anger Mayor

'I Was Stool Pigeon'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Mayor Stephen Juba angrily accused the Manitoba Health Department of breaching his trust and setting him up as a stool pigeon Thursday after a woman who had come to him for help was arrested as she left his office.

Policemen, who had been waiting downstairs at City Hall, later freed the woman when the mayor told them they would have to arrest him too.

WARRANT ISSUED

"I was furious," said Mayor Juba. "It's always been my policy that anyone seeking help or advice can come and see me. And I'm going to see to it that this remains so without people running the danger of being arrested."

The woman, 22, excaped from the Portage la Prairie school for retardates six months ago and a warrant was issued under the provincial health act.

Mayor Juba said she called him Thursday to ask for help because she felt her relatives were trying to force her back to the home. He called the health department for background and guidance on her case.

Juba

"I talked to her for about 15 minutes and then sent her home. I told her I would phone her later in the day and then she could go with me to the legislative building; that was the arrangement with Dr. R. H. Tavener of the health department.

"Five minutes after the woman left, I'm informed that several policemen are waiting downstairs to arrest her."

Dr. Tavener, provincial psychiatrist with the mental health services division, acknowledged to a reporter that he had ordered the woman's arrest. He said a second call was placed countermanding the order but apparently it came too late.

ONLY CONCERN

He said his department and the police had acted within their rights and responsibilities but their only concern was with the woman's welfare — he did not want a controversy with Mayor Juba. Dr. Tavener hoped the woman would get in touch with him.

Said Mayor Juba: "She is a troubled and disturbed girl and I'm not quarrelling with the medical authorities on their judgment; my complaint is that first I'm advised to come over to the provincial health department with her, and the next thing that happens is that the police are sicced on her in my office.

Large Crime Increase Brings Plea for Men

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police Chief Ralph Booth reported Thursday that major crime in Vancouver increased by 11 per cent last year and said his force needs an immediate increase in manpower to take effective action to control the situation.

"This is the first time in some years that an increase of this nature (11 per cent) has been recorded," he told a meeting of the city's police commission.

He said the 1967 increase compared with an increase of only three per cent in 1966.

YEAR'S INCREASE

He said the number of Class One offences—murder, assault, rape, robbery, breaking and entering, theft, auto theft and fraud—totalled 21,990 in 1967, compared with 19,788 in 1966.

The commission recently approved strengthening the city force by 50 constables, three nurses and three custodial guards. The $353,165 required for the additional personnel must be approved by city council.

The police chief said he could not state specifically why Vancouver has experienced the big increase in major crime but said he is convinced an immediate manpower increase is necessary "if we are to take effective action with a view to controlling the crime situation."

Chief Booth also expressed concern over the increase in traffic accidents in the city. The total number of accidents reached a new high of 14,623 in 1967, up 15 per cent from the 1966 total of 12,672.

Garden Notes

Meet the Newcomers

By M. V. CHESNUT

In my last column I described some of the new plants which will be making their debut in the 1968 seed and plant catalogues, including the new baby carrot "Popsicle." This one I will most certainly try, for we like our carrots small, sweet and tender.

Among the annual flowers, the greatest advance this year has been in China asters, with no fewer than four fine new varieties. Dwarf Blue and Snow White are companion plants, bushy and compact, growing to 10 inches in height and covering themselves with fully double two and one-half inch flowers, one in a deep violet blue, the other in pure white.

Li'l Daisy Mae is a dainty single-flowered aster, a foot tall, in pink, red, purple and white, while Carola is a fine large salmon-pink double aster. From England, Gusford Supreme is a most striking aster, scarlet daisy-like flowers with white centres on 18-inch plants.

★ ★ ★

There are more new sweet peas than I could possibly describe, but notable among the 1968 newcomers are Blue Argo, a rich medium blue, and Scarlet Whiz, a clear bright scarlet. England's leading entry is Noel Sutton, a beautifully formed and ruffled blue sweet pea, richly scented.

These are all the conventional climbing sweet peas. Among the dwarf bush type, that need no support, three outstanding newcomers are Opalette, rose-pink on white; Carminette, a deep carmine rose, and Garnette, chocolate maroon.

One new perennial flower which is certain to win widespread popularity is Dianthus deltoides "Zing." This is a bit like the earlier Japanese pink "Bravo," but more compact and flowering more freely. While reliably perennial, Zing is said to commence blooming only nine weeks after seeds are sown, continuing to produce its rose-pink flowers well into the fall.

★ ★ ★

An entirely new form of snapdragon will be available this year. Instead of the usual dragon's jaw type of floret, Star Snap makes round florets with five evenly spaced petals, the centres made up of five yellow-tipped segments. The plants stand three feet tall, very good for cutting, and come in a variety of colors.

Bowl of Cream is an outstanding new peony bearing very large double flowers in a glistening cream-white shade. Jaycee and Vivid Rose are new peonies of unusual vigor in red and pink respectively. A new day lily, artemis, sounds most attractive in its description — burnt orange flushed with red and old rose with a yellow throat. A single stalk of this flower is said to bear as many as 30 buds.

The University of Minnesota, renowned for its plant-breeding program, announces two new hardy chrysanthemums. Sunny Glow is an early-flowering variety, 18 inches tall, bearing sprays of two and one-half inch double flowers in orange-gold, while Minnewhite is a cushion-type mum with double white flowers; both varieties start blooming around the middle of August.

The University of New Hampshire has come up with a new yellow raspberry called Fallgold; it bears two crops of golden fruit, one in early summer and a second crop in autumn. University of Michigan's contribution is a new apricot, Goldcot, very hardy and said to ripen in Michigan around July 20.

Jan de Graaff of Oregon will have at least half a dozen fine new lilies this year. His Hallmark grows to four feet, each stem bearing 15 or more recurved white flowers speckled with black near the base of the petals. Mercury is a new strain of the Harlequin lilies with flowers ranging in color from lilac to old rose and spotted with vivid red. The Mercury lilies all bloom in late June. San Gabriel is a sweetly scented trumpet lily in shades from deep gold to pale yellow.

JACK SMITH in Barbersville

To Each His Comb

Being out of my usual orbit the other day, I dropped into a neighborhood barber shop for a haircut. It turned out to be near a high school. Most of its customers were teen-aged boys.

I am familiar with the hairdos in vogue among today's youth. They don't bother me. A man's hair style should be up to him. To each his own. Sometimes, though, I am amused.

I happen to like the Cary Grant cut, myself, though I hardly have the hair for it. One does what he can.

★ ★ ★

Both chairs were taken when I walked in. I sat down to wait. Idly, I watched the barber finish up on the lad in the front chair. The boy had a high, thick crown of long, pale blond hair, and a dark scraggy moustache that looked more like a set of artificial eyelashes.

The barber took a few nicks around the ears, then stepped back to study the result of his work. It looked to me like something that had been run over by a truck.

The barber got a spray bottle off a shelf and blew a cloud of something at his customer. The boy jumped.

"No!" he cried holding up a hand. "I have to comb it first!"

★ ★ ★

He reached into his hip pocket and extracted a comb of the kind women use, half being a toothed blade and the other half a long thin handle. The barber wheeled him around to face the mirror. The lad went to work.

He combed his hair meticulously all about, using the side of one hand to depress the swell at the temples and a palm to shape the crown.

Then, with exquisite care, he buried the blade of the comb in the crown and, with an expert flick of the wrist, spun it up.

Long, willowy strands of pale hair leaped up after the comb, crackling with electricity, then settled softly back.

Again he flicked, and again the hair spun up, writhing like seaweed and feathering down. Again and again.

It was, I realized, what women call teasing.

The young man combed this loosened pile as gently as a child stroking a kitten, shaping it with the palm of his left hand, working it with the comb in his right. I saw Ava Gardner comb her hair like that once in a movie, but she wasn't as good as this kid.

Finally he nodded. The barber raised the spray studiously and sprayed the sculptured head. I realized he was using some kind of fixative, to preserve the lad's coiffure.

★ ★ ★

"Next," the barber called.

I felt self-conscious, taking the chair. The other youths were behind me. One looked like Custer in the Famous Budweiser painting; actually rather masculine and dashing. The other looked more like Ray Nitschke, the Green Bay linebacker, but his hair reminded me of Jeanne Crain's, in State Fair. Not that I would have told him so.

"Yes, sir," the barber said. "How do you like it?"

"Nothing special," I said nervously. "Just, uh, neaten it up."

"You don't want it styled?"

"Oh, I don't think so," I said. "Not today. I don't think I have the time."

I kept a check on him in the mirror. He gave me a routine trim. When he was finished he swung me around to face the mirror.

★ ★ ★

"You want to comb it?" he inquired.

"No, thanks," I said. If anybody teases my hair it's going to be somebody like Deborah Kerr.

He reached for the spray.

"Never mind that," I told him. "I like it windblown."

He whipped the apron off and I got out of the chair and put my coat on. The boys were looking at me. They seemed amused.

Well, the hell with them. I've got a right to wear my hair the way I want, haven't I? It's a free country, isn't it?

David is praying the accident will not delay the completion of the picture because he is due to start another at the beginning of February — Victorian Comedy with Joanna Pettet for MGM. David was out of the current film with flu for a few days, and the one immediately before, Only When I Larf. No wonder the new wonder boy of the screen had no time for his non-legal bride, Gayle Hunnicutt. The lovely brunette from Texas hardly got to see her non-legal bridegroom.

★ ★ ★

Jackie Gleason believes The Honeymooners has run its course. Sheila MacRae, who plays Alice Cramden, is already off and away, rehearsing her new nightclub act, Alice and Her Friends, beginning Jan. 25 at the Palmer House in Chicago. Sheila is one of the actresses being considered for Mame, when Angela Lansbury takes the musical on the road. Meanwhile she is polishing her imitations which include Barbra Streisand, Carol Channing, Marlene and Zsa Zsa, who is so imitable.

Question: Is Jane Fonda hiding a happy secret? She was determined to be a mother when she left Italy several months ago ... Talking of motherhood, Maggie Smith, a recent mama, says it isn't true that "all women have an inborn mother feeling." She says the first thing most women think of after bearing a baby is the heavy responsibility of bringing it up.

★ ★ ★

Peter Ustinov who co-stars with Maggie Smith in Hot Millions — which Lynn Redgrave had to forego because of impending motherhood — believes that the family which plays together, stays together. His children are aged 18, 13, 11 and 8, and every year they spend the summer vacation visiting a different country on the Ustinov yacht. He may run out of countries before his children run out of childhood and inevitably go their separate ways.

Weather as Weapon

SYDNEY HARRIS

A few years ago, one of the most brilliant men of our age, Prof. John von Neumann, wrote these warning words:

"Measures in the arctic may control the weather in temperate regions, or measures in one temperate region critically affect another, one-quarter around the globe. All this will merge each nation's affairs with those of every other, more thoroughly than the threat of a nuclear war."

★ ★ ★

More than a dozen countries around the world are now deeply experimenting with some form of "weather change." Russia alone is spending from two to three times as much money and effort in this field as the U.S.

These experiments include cloud-seeding for rain, fog suppression, hail suppression, hurricane alteration, and large-scale climatic modification. In the not too distant future, it is expected, we will have the power to change the climate of other countries, and they the power to change ours.

★ ★ ★

Weather is local, but climate is worldwide. What happens in one area affects what happens in another. If a hurricane is diverted, it hits some other place; if rain is made here, it may cause drought elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

I raise this grim, and little-known, subject, not for alarmist reasons, but to point out the absurd paradox of modern nationalism. For while science and technology are drawing us all closer together, the spirit of recrudescent nationalism in the world is driving us farther apart.

Technology is making the world smaller, more compact, more inter-related, at a dizzying speed. Time and space have shrunk immeasurably in the 20th century. In travel, in weaponry, on communications, in environmental controls, the whole world is drawing closer today.

★ ★ ★

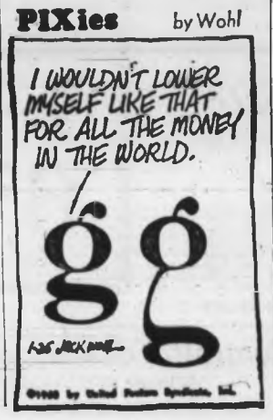

Yet, at the same time, the divisions among mankind have never been more sharp, more bitter, and more seemingly irreconcilable. The older nations are gripped by fear, and the newer nations by anger.

Allies and enemies change sides within a decade; and we seem no further on the road toward global amity through the UN than the disastrous Greek confederacy of 2,000 years ago.

★ ★ ★

National "sovereignty" is meaningless a phrase as national "defence." We can no longer defend; we can only retaliate. And our mythical sovereignty cannot protect us from vast climatic changes created elsewhere in the world, to the detriment of our agriculture, our animal life, and the very air we breathe as a "free" people.

Mothers' March Day Arranged for Feb. 5

The annual Mothers' March of the Rehabilitation Foundation of B.C. will be held Feb. 5, not Feb. 4 as reported in Friday's Colonist. The objective in Greater Victoria, which includes Sidney and Sooke, is $40,000 and the B.C. goal is $275,000. An estimated 3,100 mothers will march in Victoria.

Canadian Welfare Liaison Wanted

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial ministers responsible for welfare programs ended a two-day conference Friday with the conclusion that co-ordination of programs across the country is their top priority item.

Health Minister MacEachen told reporters after the closed session that delegates agreed co-ordination of programs "at all levels" should be their primary concern.

The conference did not reach hard decisions on specific programs but the views of the provinces and the federal government on a number of these will be discussed later at a meeting of federal officials with the deputy ministers from the provinces.

The suggestion by Jean-Paul Cloutier, Quebec welfare minister, that Quebec take over administration within provincial borders of the federal unemployment insurance and manpower programs was taken under advisement.

MacEachen said the programs fall under two other federal ministers and he would be passing on the Quebec views to them.

Cloutier said there was no reaction from the federal minister when he presented Quebec's view to the conference. But the idea had been to put the view before the federal government and Quebec was content to await a reply later, he said.

It Wasn't Muse That Reshaped Screws

Piece of modern art created by HMCS Qu'Appelle's propellers surveyed by Lt.-Cmdr. Mike Considine was one-only exhibition in Esquimalt graving dock. Ship entered dock Friday for damage estimate. Navy says propellers, which cost approximately $18,000, stand strong chance of being repaired rather than replaced. Vessel went aground on rocks northeast of Weir's Beach Monday after anchor chain parted in strong winds.

Timetables Change to Meet Demand

Bus Cuts Arrive Sunday

Alterations on 13 Greater Victoria bus routes which will see service cutbacks on most and minor improvements on two will go into effect Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Principal result of the cutbacks will be to change the interval between buses from 15 to 20 minutes on afternoon runs and from 30 to 60 minutes on some runs after 9 p.m.

One improvement is on the Burnside - Tillicum - Wilkinson route where 20-minute service will go into effect during rush hours (6:30 to 8 a.m. and 3 to 5:40 p.m.). Present service is on a 30-minute basis.

B.C. Hydro said Friday that Esquimalt bus passengers will benefit by the Colville-Munro feeder service, now operating in the evening and on Sundays, being discontinued and the Colville-Munro belt line routed directly to the city. This will save about five minutes on the run.

★ ★ ★

Two routes, Gonzales-Crescent-Mount Tolmie and Cadboro Bay will be unchanged.

Minor adjustments on a few trips in timing will be made on Gordon Head, Douglas-Beckwith, Carey, Cook-Cedar Hill-Maplewood routes.

Revisions have been made to afternoon and late evening schedules on the following routes: Richardson-Oak Bay, South Fairfield-Lake Hill, Uplands-Willows, University-Victoria West, Burnside-Tillicum-Wilkinson, Esquimalt, Colville-Munro.

On Outer Wharf-Gorge and Beacon-Hill-Haultain routes there will be changes in early morning, afternoon and late evening schedules.

★ ★ ★

New timetables incorporating changes have been available for more than a week and may be obtained at B.C. Hydro offices on Gorge Road and Pandora and at six locations where hydro service accounts are paid.

The public transportation committee of city council was given first official notice of the changes on Thursday when it met for the first time this year.

★ ★ ★

The letter was accepted without protest.

"I guess there isn't much that we can do is there?" observed Ald. Robert Baird.

The changes in service were described recently by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro Authority as "merely alternations to bring the service in line with patronage."

Local officials said that on some night runs not more than seven passengers were making use of the buses.

Joseph Belton, president of division 109, Amalgamated Transit Union, to which local drivers belong, said recently that cutbacks in service did not mean driver lay-offs.

★ ★ ★

The city service has been understaffed by several drivers, Mr. Belton said, and the reduction in service would merely bring working conditions more in line with normal operations.

Building Millions Up, Going Higher

By A. H. MURPHY

Region-wide building in 1967 reached its peak point in seven years and in at least one branch of the industry contractors expect the upward march to continue.

Figures released Friday by the Capital Region Planning Board set the last year's total at $46,128,282 as compared to $40,917,887 in 1966.

Components of the capital region and their building figures for 1967 were:

Victoria, $21,880,680; Saanich, $12,174,938; Oak Bay, $1,300,924; Esquimalt, $974,887; Central Saanich, $1,736,460; Sidney, $1,453,433; North Saanich, $1,253,270; View Royal, $1,216,984; Langford-Metchosin, $4,136,706.

SAANICH LEADS

The number of single family dwellings built in the area totalled 890 with Saanich in the lead with 411. The View Royal-Langford-Metchosin sector had 159 starts and Victoria only 66.

Builder A. A. Kasapi of the company bearing his name was optimistic Friday about prospects for 1968.

"We are prepared for a slight increase this year," he said.

The tight money situation seemed to put people off balance for a while, Mr. Kasapi said, but it didn't keep them there and if they wanted a home they went ahead and built it.

Bruce Cooke of Cooke Building and Construction Limited, winner of several home-design awards, felt equally optimistic.

"There has been a slackening off in construction of lower priced homes but I think things are going to hold up fairly well," Mr. Cooke said.

"The problem is getting mortgages at any price and of course qualifying under the National Housing Act. And, of course, land prices are high," he added.

MORE CAUTIOUS

Bigger contractors were more cautious in their forecasts.

"It's very hard to say right at the moment, certainly things are not moving very quickly at this point," said Dennis Hendra, general superintendent for Farmer Construction Ltd.

Many school construction jobs, one of the mainstays of the industry, were resting down in government offices awaiting approval and there would have to be an early release if builders were going to have schools ready for the beginning of the fall term, said the construction man.

Building in the district topped the $40,000,000 mark for the first time in 1964 and it has gradually mounted to this year's record.

Apartment building in the region dropped in 1967. The 667 total compared unfavorably with the 1966 figure of 874.

Manpower Chief Answers Trustee

'Bunn Should Take Course'

By GEORGE INGLIS

Greater Victoria school board chairman Peter Bunn could use a course in the operation of the federal government's retraining program, Canada Manpower Centre head George Bevis said Friday.

Mr. Bevis was commenting on a statement made by Mr. Bunn in a joint school board meeting Thursday night that "you have to be a hippie to get help" under the progress administered by Canada Manpower.

"This is certainly a kick in the face to our program," Mr. Bevis said, "and in no way reflects what we are doing."

THEIR AIMS

Mr. Bevis said he had volunteered to attend the school board meeting when he had discussed the manpower centre's retraining program with Mr. Bunn Thursday afternoon, in order to explain fully the aims of his department in retraining workers.

"After all, I wasn't sure he could pick up in a few hours what I have learned in seven years," Mr. Bevis said.

Mr. Bunn said Friday evening he had not attempted to downgrade the federal program, just attempted to show that "Canada Manpower is actually geared for adults . . . Our greatest concern is for people who are coming out of school and not knowing where to turn to acquire a vocational education."

PROPOSED PLANT

The school board chairman said he had directed his remarks mainly at the need for a vocational school, such as the proposed $4,000,000 plant the school board has been seeking for Victoria for five years.

Mr. Bevis agreed with the need for a vocational school — he disagreed with some statements Mr. Bunn made at the school board meeting:

- A person must have been three years in the labor market before receiving federal training. Actually, a person who is 16 years old may receive training—not allowances, unless he can qualify as head of the household;
- "They will take you and test you, and if you are still compos mentis, then they will give you some training . . . " Mr. Bevis said tests to ensure the candidate's probable success in retraining were "safeguarding public money," and were beneficial to the prospective trainee;
- The difficulty of obtaining a place in a vocational school was due to federal government control of the seats. Not so, said Mr. Bevis, in fact many seats were going begging for students;
- "What you want to do doesn't count unless you can pass all their sophisticated tests . . . " This was what the Canada Manpower Centre was all about, Mr. Bevis said.

"What this community needs is a year-round committee of volunteers from various fields in the labor field—representatives from unions, management, schools, etc.—dedicated to keeping abreast of the community's needs and anticipating them where possible," Mr. Bevis said.

PERMANENT BASIS

He said such a committee need not meet frequently, but should continue on a permanent basis.

"The Canada Manpower Centre should be the focal point or pivot for labor market indicators, trends for the future—after all, it is our business to anticipate the community's labor needs."

Mr. Bevis said there were 296 Victorians taking advantage of the federal retraining program, 25 of them unemployed former VMD welders who are upgrading their skill to fit themselves for a job.

To qualify, the applicant must be 16 and pass the necessary aptitude tests. To receive an allowance, he or she must have been in the labor force for three years, almost without interruption.

If he or she qualifies as the head of the household, or breadwinner, there is an allowance of $35 per week; $20 for the first dependent, and $10 apiece for the next two. If the course is out of town, there is an additional $15 per week and transportation is paid.

"We have the facilities, the staff with the know-how, plenty of resource materials for research," Mr. Bevis said.

"With a community committee such as I suggested, or an Economic Council, to give it a name, we would have a splendid chance of producing a more balanced economy."

Esquimalt Promotes Twelve Policemen

Esquimalt police department said Friday that several promotions will take place immediately.

Topping the promotion list is Sergeant James Owens promoted to staff sergeant. Cpl. Robert Duncan will be promoted to sergeant.

Constables second class M. G. E. Hill, S. W. Rhodes, R. J. Smart, S. P. Walker and H. S. Wetherell are promoted from second to first class constables; Constable P. J. Hicks from probationary rank to third class and Constables J. M. Wright, E. M. Taylor, H. S. Wetherell and S. W. Rhodes to fire duty.

No Home Like Old Home

After 22 years in same suite, Oleg Stavrakov, 1793 Rockland stayed right on while wreckers tumbled remainder of old house down around his ears to make way for new apartment block. He moved out Friday, one month after expiry of lease as rain leaked through linoleum covering partly removed roof. — (Jim Ryan)

Chimney Dies at Dawn

Sidewalk superintendents in Victoria will have to get up before breakfast if they want to see the first bricks being chewed from the old Empress Hotel laundry chimney, since the operation starts at 7 a.m. today.

The operation is not expected to be spectacular, since a clam shell on the end of a crane boom will simply bite out pieces of the chimney and drop them down the tall landmark until it is demolished.

Nevertheless, those with a touch of sentiment probably will be on hand for the event.

Anglican Youth Map Hunger Fight

'War' Thought for Food

By DON GAIN

A war on hunger opened in Victoria Friday night.

It was hard to associate the gathering with hunger — all well-fed high school and university students, listening to the haunting strains of Summer Wine sung by two folksingers.

But they are serious about combatting hunger and on Feb. 9, 10 and 11, Anglican Youth Movement members will gather at Camp Columbia on Thetis Island to plan their strategy.

Their coffeehouse evening in the basement of St. Luke's Church Friday was planned to make money for their project.

About 50 young people attended, most of them from St. Luke's and Christ Church Cathedral, the two sponsoring groups. But there were youth members from All Saints, St. Mary's, St. Peter's, St. John's, St. Barnabas and from St. Patrick's Roman Catholic and First United Churches.

★ ★ ★

What are they going to do about hunger?

"First of all they are going to acquaint themselves with the facts of hunger everywhere in the world and the potential hunger that could engulf the whole world," said Rev. Walter Donald, deacon of Christ Church Cathedral, who advises the groups.

They will read up on the subject, using more or less as a Bible, the book Famine, 1975, by brothers William and Paul Paddock. William is an experienced U.S. agronomist and his brother served in the U.S. foreign service in undeveloped countries for 21 years.

According to the book, the world is headed for famine in 1975.

"Hunger is hitting other countries right now," said Gary Rowlands, a third-year education student at UVic. "We could stop it but we're not. We'll be next."

"We will have a day of fast on the weekend," said Carol Seabrook, second-year arts student. "This will give us a small idea of what it's like to go hungry."

★ ★ ★

Major project is the writing and producing of a play to point up the problem. Outlines will be discussed at the Thetis Island weekend.

When the play is ready it will be taken on the road "to make the people aware."

Double Take on Twiggy

British fashion model "Twiggy"—Lesley Hornby—wears a Bonnie style 1930's jumper suit in London as she poses beside a photo of herself in a Clyde style outfit. Twiggy Loves Maxi

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — Twiggy "loves them long skirts," but the official Twiggy line is still mostly mini, sometimes so brief as barely to cover the bottom.

The Cockney model, who announced that she is to make a movie with the Beatles, paraded a spring collection of maxis and minis Thursday.

She made it clear that her own preference is for a long skirt, but her manufacturers, Paramina Textiles, are still strongest on the mini-skirt because they think it's what the buyers want.

The new movie, which will be produced by Justin de Villeneuve, Twiggy's business manager and boy-friend, will be financed by the Beatles, who also will write the music for it.

Title and location of the film still are to be decided.

A cowboy influence crept in by way of fringed trims on dresses and trouser suits at the Twiggy fashion show.

Brief shirt dresses and smocks came with pussy bows under prim white collars, lace bibs and cuff frills, shirred or corselet midriffs, and full sleeves.

Twiggy modelled one modified granny dress that would have shocked granny. A choker neckline, primly tucked bib and leg o' mutton sleeves with lace-edged cuffs, topped a thigh-high skirt.

Russian peasant influence was visible in braid-trimmed short smocks and in a maxi-tunic dress in red and yellow jersey with an officer's collar and shoulder tabs.

Shorts and culottes are still in, as far as Twiggy clothes are concerned.

Twiggy's show followed a week of high-fashion spring openings, mostly notable for a drop in hemlines to knee length or longer.

Hardy Amies gave the early warning signal of an attack on the mini-skirt with his knee-length and maxi collection last week.

Lachasse Thursday morning showed all skirts below the knee by an inch or two, while Michael cut them off at mid-knee. Mattli's hems were at the top of the knee.

Swallowed Diamond

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago woman, who swallowed another woman's $150 diamond ring rather than return it, was ordered to spend two days in a hospital so the ring could be recovered. A charge of grand theft was dismissed after a judge ruled there was insufficient evidence. The defendant was placed on six months' probation on another charge, with the first two days to be spent in the hospital.

Men and Women

Equal by Law

Provincial Legislation affecting Women was the subject of a stimulating talk by Mrs. Marney M. Stevenson at a recent meeting of the University Women's Club. The guest speaker, a lawyer of long standing in Victoria and with additional experience in social welfare work, spoke with specific regard to her specialty, matrimonial law.

★ ★ ★

She stressed that not only are women, both married and single, equal in the eyes of the law, but that they share with men full and equal responsibility and liability to the law.

Having personally encountered no discrimination in her profession, she feels that too many women are lobbying for preferential treatment under the law rather than for strict equality, particularly in matters of separate maintenance above and beyond present legislation.

Mrs. Stevenson cited many examples of provincial legislation that amply protect women and their children from exploitation and yet which specifically define their status as to responsibility and liability: the Female Minimum Wage Act, the Maternity Protection Act, the Provincial Secession Duty Act, the Estate Tax Act, the Testators' Family Maintenance Act, The Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act, the Married Womens Property Act, the Sex Disqualification Removal Act, in effect since 1871, and the Wives' Protection Act.

The speaker also applauded the long-awaited new Family Court building which lends the necessary atmosphere of dignity which was lacking in the previous makeshift quarters.

Asked to comment on the new amendments to the divorce laws, Mrs. Stevenson replied that, far from facilitating speedier divorce procedures, the new ground for divorce will involve lengthier and more complicated litigation. On the brighter side, however, the greater variety of grounds will make divorce proceedings more interesting for the judges.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Olga Bowes and thanked by Mrs. J. J. O'Reilly.

★ ★ ★

In order to economize on mailing costs, members were urged to pick up their copies of this year's Chronicle, and will have another opportunity to do so at the next general meeting in February.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. B. Hall and her helpers Mrs. J. L. Canty, Mrs. G. D. Coomes, Mrs. G. E. Simmons, and Mrs. J Walker.

New Members Initiated

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Britannia Branch No. 7 of the Royal Canadian Legion met recently for the final meeting before election of officers on January 30. Mrs. D. Smith presided.

New members initiated were Mrs. H. Ker, Mrs. J. Exelby, Mrs. J. Moffat and Mrs. M. Ascroft.

Money To Burn

OTTAWA (CP) — Margaret Fitzpatrick has money to burn.

Supervisor for seven years in the new note room of the Bank of Canada currency department, Miss Fitzpatrick is surrounded by millions of dollars and Canada Savings Bonds.

With her staff of 21 she checks the color quality of bills, looks for the signatures in the correct places and makes sure all notes are in numerical order.

Any notes not up to scratch are burned.

★ ★ ★

"In an average day we handle about $2,000,000 and during production of the bonds, it's close to $1,000,000,000," Miss Fitzpatrick said.

The bills are cut, counted and sealed in bundles before delivery to the vault.

They remain in safe keeping until requested by the bank's agencies. After distribution to chartered banks, the bills eventually end up in cash registers, wallets and purses.

★ ★ ★

After 20 years at the bank, Miss Fitzpatrick says she is immune to the fact that the millions of dollars she checks is money.

"I'm more interested in the quality of it and the bonds."

Miss Fitzpatrick, who loves to travel, finds herself automatically examining bank notes in other countries.

"Ours are much better. The quality of the paper is superior and the printing much clearer."

Beauty Cleansing The Skin

Many of the world's most beautiful women attribute the clear, fine loveliness of their complexions to the toning qualities of a special lemon cleanser that floats away all beauty - robbing impurities without depriving the skin of its natural beauty. The complexion immediately reflects the rewarding benefits as the cleanser is smoothed over the skin. Dry, ageing lines are eased and the skin becomes clear and softly endowed with a radiant bloom. Jelvyn cleansing milk is the perfect cleanser for all skin types.

Every Woman May Now Quickly

Lift Her Face Out Of Winter Lines, Wrinkles and Aging Dryness

...thanks to the "Wiesbaden Discovery" CEF-600

Helps Every Complexion Regain and Retain The Younger Look by Immediately Counteracting Effects of Winter's Icy Grip

No matter if your skin is typed dry, normal or even oily . . . no matter whether you enjoy being outdoors or prefer indoor protection . . . both frigid arctic air and overheated dry rooms dehydrate, drain skin of water and deprive it of the necessary moisture that pushes skin up and out to keep it as smooth, firm and wrinkle-free as the day you were married. And now, during the social season, when you particularly want to look your youngest best, "old man winter" works overtime to dry out and make your skin on face and neck flabby, sagging, rough, chapped and weatherbeaten. You look and feel years older than your age. And your husband . . . it makes him feel older too!

Your Chance for a Quicker Winter Youth

Medical journals have acclaimed the "Wiesbaden Discovery" known scientifically as CEF-600 and now embodied as the active ingredient in the cosmetic-like lotion named "2ND DEBUT." Apply "2ND DEBUT" nightly before retiring and daily before make-up. Day and night, it is constantly carrying water into the skin . . . counteracting all the skin drying effects of outside cold and inside overheating that chaps, dries, wrinkles your skin and makes it sag.

How 2ND DEBUT Works Quickly

Once again skin is moisturized, fresh, dewey radiant. Once again those aging lines and wrinkles are pushed up and out. Once again skin on face and throat is smoother and years younger in appearance. No matter how weather beaten your complexion may be, a youth-like color glows from within. Your complexion seems to have been born beautiful. Only 2ND DEBUT can bring about this fantastic skin youthifying miracle . . . in spite of winter's drying action!

For Extra Dry Skin— Or Mi-Lady In A Hurry— 2ND DEBUT With Double Strength CEF 1200

New DOUBLE STRENGTH 2ND DEBUT contains CEF 1200 instead of CEF 600. It acts much faster to smooth and flatten skin made scaly by winter's icy grip . . . and it works quicker to push up and out the more deeply seated lines and wrinkles.

Important To Regular Users of 2ND DEBUT

Particularly in these winter months, in time will your skin revert to the lined and wrinkled condition it was, unless you keep using 2ND DEBUT day and night. Your skin is constantly exfoliating . . . old skin flakes off and away and new skin is constantly being born. In winter weather it is more important than ever that you keep applying 2ND DEBUT before retiring and before make-up if you want to retain your soft, smooth youthful looking complexion. Users of 2ND DEBUT with CEF 600 are urged to switch to 2ND DEBUT with CEF 1200 . . . double strength and to use it all winter long.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me why normally intelligent people seem to take leave of their senses at Christmas time? I refer to those individuals who sit down and compose interminable chronicles of the year's activities, have them mimeographed (usually a poor job) and proceed to send the drivel to everyone whose last name they can spell.

Isn't this the height of egocentricity? What makes these people think anyone (save a special few) are interested in wading through all that stuff?

For several years we have been receiving family newsletters and I've had it up to here. I guess what really galls me is the way everyone tries to paint such a glowing picture of affluence and success. I have before me a fistful of chatty little Christmas letters. I'm going to lift a few sentences from each to illustrate the point. (The names of persons and organizations have been changed for obvious reasons):

"Dear Friends: What a wonderful year we had! Jim was named vice president of the bank so we celebrated by buying a Mercedes and taking a trip to the Orient. In addition to his Boy Scout work, Jim served as Chairman of the United Fund Drive. He is still on the hospital board and president of Kiwanis. Just for laughs he played the lead in the Little Theatre production last June and everyone said he was better than the star who did it on Broadway. His first love, however, is still conservation and he continues to work hard as chairman of the committee to fight Dutch Elm disease.

"After completing my term as Junior League president, I swore I would take life easy but it seems I am more involved than ever. I accepted the vice-presidency of the Garden Club and am still active in the DAR. Our church organist became ill and they asked me to substitute so I accepted. I ran the rummage sale for the Eastern Star again this year and managed to take a course in flower-arranging which was offered by a Japanese exchange student.

"Jim Jr. was elected class president and won his letters in football and basketball. He is on the All-State debate team and placed third in the national oratory contest last May. We were surprised when we read in the paper that he had won a $100 prize in an essay contest sponsored by the American Legion. We didn't even know he had entered. He has already been accepted by Harvard." And so it goes — until you could up-chuck.

Next year, Ann Landers, I am going to send a newsletter to all the people who have been sending US newsletters. It will read something like this and I hope they get the hint:

Dear Friends: We had a perfectly rotten year. Hal was passed over for promotion again so he got mad and quit. He hasn't lined up a new job as yet but he has his name in at two agencies and he looks in the papers every day.

Hal Jr. was defeated for homeroom monitor. He flunked French and will have to go to summer school. Billy has not had a haircut since August and had to hock his guitar to pay for repairing his Honda which he wrecked. My mother-in-law's annual two-week visit in May turned into two months, and my migraines got so bad I had to go back into therapy.

As I write this, the whole family is down with the flu and I don't feel so good myself. We hope next year is better. It couldn't be much worse. Love to all. — MARY

Fish Travelling Faster To Get There Fresher

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries researchers have found a way of getting fish fresher and faster from the ocean to your dinner plate.

The technique involves shipping "super-chilled" fish fillets in mechanically-refrigerated railway cars — in contrast to the present method of shipping fish packed in ice.

The experiments were undertaken by the federal fisheries department, the Atlantic fishing industry and the research division of the CNR.

The first commercial carload shipment of super-chilled fish — more than 15,000 pounds of cod and haddock fillets — rolled from Lunenburg, N.S., last October.

★ ★ ★

A CNR freight delivered the load to Windsor, Ont., 72 hours later. Refrigerated trucks distributed the fish to retail markets, many in the Detroit area but some in Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Toledo and as far south as Louisville, Ky.

The department reports the fillets were all of top quality on arrival at their destinations.

The October experiment began at the Lunenburg plant where polyethylene trays, each containing about six pounds of fillets, were placed in racks and the fillets chilled in a refrigerated, high-velocity air stream to just above the freezing point.

The fillets were removed from trays when the temperature of the fish reached 29 degrees fahrenheit. They were then packed in specially-construeted boxes and put in the refrigerated railway car with a controlled temperature of 29.

★ ★ ★

Plans now are proceeding for further trial shipments to Montreal and Ottawa, likely in February.

"Mommy, Susy ate some pills."

It can't happen to you.

It can happen to someone in the newspapers, someone on TV. It can even happen to the family right across the street. But to you? Never.

Last year, in B.C. alone, it happened to over two thousand parents who said it couldn't happen to them.

Somehow their children were accidentally poisoned.

Medicines are supposed to save lives, not take them. That's why the prescriptions you receive from your Cunningham dispensaries come in special safety vials.

They're childproof.

As a matter of fact, unless you're an adult and know the combination, you can't open one either. But it's quick and simple once you know how. All it takes is some firm palm pressure on the lid, and a twist to the left. It's easy for you, but not for your child. So dangerous drugs stay locked inside. Out of harm's way.

But remember. Most accidental poisonings still occur not because the child was able to open a poison container but because it was left within his reach in the first place. Please. Store your drugs, cleaning fluids and other household chemicals where your children can't get their hands on them. And just in case, jot down the number of the Poison Control Centre near you: in Vancouver it's 876-3211, in Victoria 386-3131.

You can take the first step towards preventing an accidental poisoning in your home right here and now. Say this out loud to yourself:

"It can happen to me."

Our safety vials will save lives, but we need your help.

Do it for us.

Because we want your children to live.

Because we care.

'Choice Wide Open'

Add Greene To Runners

REGINA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Green Friday announced his entry into the national Liberal leadership race.

Greene said at a news conference he decided to announce his candidacy after travelling extensively throughout Canada since the announcement of Prime Minister Pearson's intended resignation.

"My travels were for the purpose of determining whether there was any general consensus among Liberals across Canada as to who should succeed our prime minister.

"I have found that there was no such consensus and the Liberals across the country are generally undecided at the present time as to their choice and are in large part keeping an open mind until the convention. They are determined to take very seriously the heavy responsibility which will weigh upon the delegates who will be selecting not only a leader of their party but the prime minister of Canada."

Greene said he will base his campaign for the leadership on a platform of increased Canadian productivity, national unity and constitution amendments.

He said he intended to discuss the topics on a campaign tour which will be trimmed so as not to interfere with his parliamentary and cabinet responsibilities.

Important Question

The minister said he announced his candidacy here because "one of the very important questions in the campaign will be that we must become a party that has a place in western Canada."

"If we don't, we're not a political party. If we don't, we have not the strength and we will be weak in the west."

Greene, who said he had come to know western Canada and its people well, said he hoped to bring western Canada into the Liberal fold.

"We must associate with western Canada."

He said the Liberal party should determine which way it is going, and why, during the next three months.

"It should be determined what contribution the Liberal party intends to make to the development of our country, to the furthering of the high principles and leadership of Prime Minister Pearson on the issue of national unity.

"I have found that Liberals across Canada are determined that this should be the very nature of the campaign.

"It is my hope that our party will come out of this leadership campaign having demonstrated clearly the philosophies and principles of Liberalism in the context of today's world and the Canadian place in that world."

Warning Lecture

Maladjustment: The Danger Signs, the third lecture in a parish education program, will be given by Dean Brian Whitlow at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the parish hall of Christ Church Cathedral. The lectures, some with films, are open to the public. The final lecture will be given at 8 p.m. Jan. 31.

Official Candidate

Martin Brings Experience For Campaign Weapon

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Martin made his campaign for the Liberal leadership official Friday, saying he was the experienced candidate able to keep the country together.

Martin, at 64 the oldest candidate in the race, brushed off suggestions that he was too old to be prime minister.

"The people feel that experience is needed now to tide us over this difficult period," he told a news conference.

The French-English division is a "crisis of national unity" which can be solved, he said. Each candidate should be judged on his capacity solve it.

Martin, whose mother was French - Canadian, said his family background and his public service in the French and English communities give him the experience to try to solve unity problems.

FAMILIAR PROBLEM

"The new prime minister will have to have a deep understanding of the aspirations of both French and English-speaking Canadians," he said.

"I have lived with this problem as a boy and as a public man."

The constitution must be modernized with the elimination of "some of the 19th-century trappings," he said.

The unity question and allied constitutional problems affecting Quebec could not be solved overnight at the early-February constitutional conference, he suggested.

TWO COMMUNITIES

The unity question would be solved on the basis of recognition of French and English as the two founding communities, he added.

Martin said the "great men of our age" have become prime minister when they were old enough to have the experience to handle it.

He was roughly the same age as Prime Minister Pearson and his predecessor, Louis St. Laurent, when they took the country's top political post.

NO DRAWBACK

His unsuccessful 1958 attempt to succeed St. Laurent as Liberal leader was no drawback.

"It has given me some experience that other candidates do not have," he said.

Martin brushed off a question about his political future if he loses. He said he will win.

He promised—as other candidates have done—to lead a campaign to revitalize the Liberal party in the West. The new prime minister should get out there more, he said, and westerners should be made aware that easterners are concerned about their economic problems.

The much-discussed proposals for a guaranteed annual wage for Canadians should be carefully examined. Martin said he wanted to be sure it would not hinder the mass of the people from sharing in the affluent society.

During the leadership campaign, he said, he will put his cabinet duties ahead of the campaign. As long as a candidate is a member of the government, he should support government policy or resign. That was his policy in discussing the issues.

Race for Future

Unity Inside Cabinet No Problem—Sharp

WINNIPEG (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Friday he sees no difficulty in cabinet ministers running meaningful campaigns for the Liberal party leadership while maintaining the necessary unified cabinet responsibilities.

"We are all members of the government of Canada and as such we have agreed to make certain decisions which we must support or resign," Sharp told an airport news conference.

"In the leadership campaign, however, we are not talking about the present but about the future and I expect a very stimulating and meaningful campaign to take place."

Asked whether he would introduce medical care insurance on schedule July 1 if he becomes prime minister, Sharp said some provinces have asked for a review and that review is under way.

There will be no effort to force it on provinces not in a financial position to accept it, he said.

Humanists Elect Leader

Victoria Humanists have elected Mrs. May Campbell as president of the fellowship at the annual meeting.

Others elected were: Mrs. Elly Roloefson, treasurer, Dr. Marian Sherman, secretary; Lloyd Brereton and Wayne Lakberg, committee members.

★ ★ ★

The fellowship holds panel discussions throughout the year to study such questions as Should All Religions Be Studied in School? Can Formal Education Be Attractive? and What Are the Problems of Youth?

★ ★ ★

The gorup's publication Victoria Humanist has become The Humanist in Canada and is in close touch with a strong group in Montreal and a growing one in Toronto, secretary Dr. Sherman said. A group is being formed in Calgary and there are contacts with Humanists in several other parts of Canada.

Churches Must Adjust To Meet World Needs

The church must listen to the facts and serve the actual needs of the world of today if it is to avoid being relegated to a ghetto, Canon Hilary Butler of Christ Church Cathedral said Thursday.

He was giving the second talk in a series on The Church's Way in Victoria Today. Held at 12:30 p.m. each Thursday in the YM/YWCA, the series is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Council of Churches.

Its purpose is to examine and discuss the realities of the present age and the methods and mission of the Christian Church in meeting them, with particular reference to the Greater Victoria area. The talks are open to the public.

"A powerful habit of doubt and a small sense of sin are the marks of much modern thinking in a technological age," Canon Butler said.

"Today, Christian thought and action must be made meaningful to a generation which no longer accepts authoritarianism in the realm of religion.

"The whole concept of life has fundamentally changed with the vast expansion of man's horizons and creativity and this has led to serious gaps in rapport between the generations."

The canon said if the church is to avoid being relegated to a ghetto, it must listen to the facts and serve the actual needs of the world of today.

"Let the church go to work with courage and faith to fulfil its task of helping all mankind to find unity, freedom and peace."

He listed nine factors which Christians should seriously take into account in this new age. The very speed of change, he said, causes problems of understanding between age groups. Democracy is disappearing in favor of technocracy.

MORE LEISURE

The really important decisions are already being made by technical experts, he said, but they affect millions.

Cybernation is about to produce vastly more leisure time and increasing material prosperity but its social and psychological consequences will pose grave moral and spiritual problems.

FINE ARTS

Canon Butler saw grounds for believing that the fine arts may be on their way towards a socially more responsible role and spoke of the encouraging change of vision of educationists both religious and secular.

"The new morality arises from fundamental changes in the conditions of life in a technological age and the church must come forward with genuine reasons for the moral principles it proclaims," Canon Butler said.

NEW CHALLENGE

He stressed the importance of the one dynamic, the Holy Spirit, which alone empowers the church for her universal task.

It is the responsibility of the laity and clergy alike to meet the challenge of this new age in this spirit of charity and Christian understanding.

"But the time," he stressed, "if there is still time, is short.

"The churches must hasten to adjust their work and witness to this new order, because tomorrow is already here."

Congregations to Hear Of Indian Missions

A United Church missionary on furlough from India will talk to two congregations in Greater Victoria this weekend.

Rev. Hilda Johnson, who is director of the Christian Lay Training Centre at Indore, will preach at 11 a.m. in Esquimalt United and at 7 p.m. in Metropolitan United.

Miss Johnson was appointed a missionary to Central India in 1936 where she was engaged in women's evangelistic work until 1950. Then followed a period of 12 years during which time she was on the staff of Union Theological Seminary at Indore.

Miss Johnson was born in Birmingham, England, and received her BA at Acadia University and her BD at Pine Hill. In 1944 she was ordained to the ministry by the Maritime Conference.

During furlough years she attended the United Church Training School in Toronto and received her MTh from Victoria College of the University of Toronto.

Port Hardy Studying One Church for All

A community church combining Roman Catholic, Anglican and United Church congregations is being discussed for Port Hardy.

"We are now talking seriously with the other denominations," said Rev. I. H. Futter, priest-in-charge of St. Columba's Anglican Church at Port Hardy.

Mr. Futter, who is also chaplain of the Columbia Coast Mission, said his church needs a piano. Anyone willing to oblige may write him at Box 303, Port Hardy.

Archivist Will Light Fuse

Provincial archivist Willard Ireland will "place a bomb under the church and light the fuse" at the fifth annual service of prayer for Christian Unity in Christ Church Cathedral at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The service is being sponsored by the Victoria Council of Churches. Mr. Ireland, an active layman of Fairfield United Church, will deliver the address.

"In the words of one of the committee members, he was asked 'to place a bomb under the church and light the fuse,'" said Rev. Leighton Streight of Cadboro Bay United Church.

"Many of the clergy are concerned that to date theirs bas been the principal interest in the council of churches. They are very much aware that, until the laity of the church catch a vision of the possibilities of co-operative Christian endeavor in our community, little of significance is going to happen."

Mr. Ireland said he wants to show that the church is not just a building or a denomination.

"The laity and the clergy together form the church," he said. "Until they realize and act on this fact, the church will be a dead or dying duck."

He said he was tired of church members of various faiths coming together in a self-conscious or self-complacent way, "believing that this is all there is to ecumenicity."

"They're wrong," he said. "There's much more to it than that."

MODERN MUSIC

There will be special modern music for the service supplied by the boys' choir of the cathedral under the direction of Richard Proudman.

The service will end with a trumpet fanfare by a group of trumpeters from the Salvation Army Band and the congregation "will proceed out from worship in the world, singing Onward Christian Soldiers," Mr. Streight said.

□

St. Luke's Anglican and St. Aidan's United Churches will observe the week of prayer by attending each other's church.

This Sunday evening both congregations will gather in St. Luke's and Rev. Alistair MacLeod of St. Aidan's will preach. Next Sunday both congregations will attend St. Aidan's and the rector of St. Luke's, Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff, will preach.

"It is felt that during this week of prayer, the joining together of two congregations in worship is an encouraging example of ecumenical drive," Archdeacon Wolff said.

□

The Drug Controversy — A Psychiatrist's View will be discussed by Dr. D. E. Alcorn at 11 a.m. Sunday in The Unitarian Church of Victoria. A question and answer period will follow. Dr. Alcorn is a founding member of the Victoria church.

At 8 p.m. Sunday the Lesser Books Discussion Group will consider an article in Harvard Business Review by Clare Graves, professor of psychology at Union College in the Eastern U.S. His research suggests seven definable levels of human existence which should be recognized in dealing with people in organizations or society.

□

The God of Retribution is the subject for Dr. Emma Smiley at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Victoria Truth Centre. Her topic at 7:30 p.m. will be The Accepted Time. Healing meetings are held in the centre at 3 p.m. Tuesdays.

□

The lesson-sermon in First Church of Christ Scientist this Sunday is entitled Life. This verse from Acts is part of the responsive reading: "For in Him we live, and move and have our being."

□

Youth Week services begin in the First Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and continue till next Sunday. Rev. Warren Boyd, minister of First Church of the Nazarene in Vancouver, is the special speaker.

This Sunday morning Rev. William Bahan speaks on the subject Perfect Love, The Touchstone of Christian Ethics. This is the third message in his series on Holiness, God's Demands and Man's Privilege.

□

A fellowship hour will be held in the Kirk Hall Sunday night following the evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Colored movies showing assistance to under-developed countries will be shown. Refreshments will be served. Rev. Bruce Molloy's topic at the service will be The Moving Tent.

In the morning Dr. J. L. W. McLean will speak on the subject, When Life is in The Red. Kay Paulin, soloist, will sing Unto Thee O Lord.

□

Holly communion will be observed at both services Sunday in Metropolitan Church. In the morning new members will be welcomed into the church and Rev. A. E. King will give the meditation. Rev. Hilda Johnson will be guest speaker at 7 p.m. (See story, this page.)

□

A two-day rally of Presbyterian young people begins at 9 a.m. today in Knox Presbyterian Church, 2964 Richmond. Representatives will attend from several Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland congregations.

Theme speaker is Rev. Gilbert Smith of Trinity Presbyterian. He will speak at 9:30 a.m. today and at 11 a.m. Sunday. His theme is Why Are You Here?

Discussion leaders include Weith Hall, Jack Wester and Rev. Alan Beaton of Knox Church. The rally will end at 2 p.m. Sunday.

□

Dr. Samuel Parsons of Centennial United Church will begin a series of sermons at 11 a.m. Sunday, entitled What Can One Believe After 50 Years as a Christian Preacher?

His first sermon considers the reasons Why I Must Believe.

"It is just as easy to believe in 1968 as it was in 1920," Dr. Parsons said.

His series will be intermittent between now and the end of June and will contend for the primary articles of the Creeds, he said.

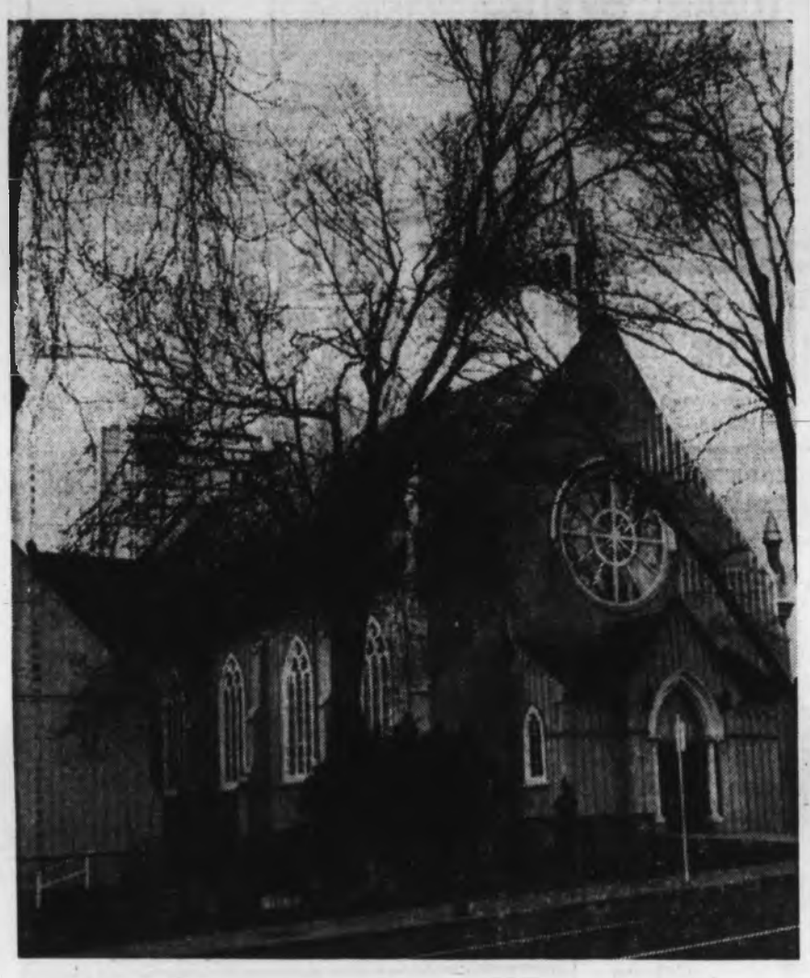

□

In First United Church Rev. R. J. D. Morris will preach on the disadvantages of leisure. Who Can Stand Eden? is his topic at 11 a.m. Raymond Briggs will share in the conduct of the service, which will be aired over CKDA at 7 p.m. as a delayed broadcast.

Rev. Marvin Fowler will give a report on the Parksville conference on evangelism when he speaks at the 7 p.m. service. When In Canaan is the title of his talk.

The inevitable mystery is the sermon topic chosen by Rev. H. R. Whitmore for both Garden City and Wilkinson Road United churches.

The junior choir will sing Holy, Holy, Holy in the 10 a.m. service in Garden City while at the 11:15 a.m. service at Wilkinson Road, the senior choir will sing Give Ear Unto My Prayer.

Pioneer Beauty Remains

Oldest church in Victoria still on original site is Church of Our Lord at Humboldt and Blanshard. Death in Oregon at 94

Priest Served 30 Years With Island Indian Folk

A Roman Catholic priest who served Indian settlements on the West Coast of Vancouver Island for 30 years has died in Oregon at the age of 94.

Requiem Mass was celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday for the funeral of Rev. Charles Moser, OSB, at Mount Angel Abbey.

Father Charles landed in the village of Clayoquot on Stubbs Island on May 16, 1900. He had come to the island on the ship Willapa with Rev. Maurus Snyder, and a group of Benedictine brothers and sisters.

The party reached their residence at Kakawis, three miles farther on, by rowboat. Father Charles' assignment lasted 30 years.

His chief concern for 10 years was the Opitsat Indians who lived about two miles from Kakawis. In addition to his priestly duties, he was also, in turns, doctor, dentist, bandmaster, carpenter and cook.

Slow Progress

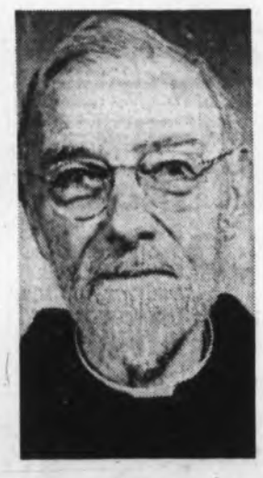

Associates say he cheerfully endured the dangers, the hardships, the physical and emotional sufferings involved in work so isolated and so slow to show progress.

From 1917 to 1922 he was principal of the 100 Indian children at Christie School at Kakawis as well as superior of the mission. For eight years following he took care of all the missions on the west coast north of Clayoquot.

He wrote a book in 1926 which gives documented information on the Indian missions prior to the period he served them. The book is entitled Reminiscences of the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

His name is marked geographically in two places near the sites of his missionary work—Father Charles Channel and Moser Point.

Father Charles was born in Berg, Switzerland, on Aug. 25, 1874. He came to the U.S. in 1893 and entered Mount Angel Abbey. He was ordained June 22, 1898. His first charge was as missionary to the Indians of Grande Ronde, Ore. After six months he was transferred to the Island.

Back to Abbey

He returned to the abbey in 1930 where he worked in the Benedictine Press until his appointment as subprior of the monastery the same year and archivist in 1933.

He served in Portland from 1935 to 1938 and in McKenzie Bridge, Ore., from 1940 to 1946.

For the past 20 years he was available as substitute for many of the priests when they were ill or away from their churches on business or rest periods.

His last appointment was as chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital in Astoria in November, 1966.

He became ill a year ago and was finally forced to retire because of the inroads of cancer.

At the time of his retirement he was one of the oldest priests in active service in the Pacific Northwest.

He lived his last days in his monastery where he died Tuesday.

Recreation Given

Choir School Starts For Cathedral Boys

Christ Church Cathedral has formed a boys' choir school, musical director Richard Proudman announced this week.

The school was launched last Saturday and will continue with sessions at 9 a.m. Saturdays and 6:30 p.m. Thursdays. The school combines singing, religious instruction and recreation.

The choirboys sing in the cathedral, on television, radio and make other appearances throughout the city.

The recreation program, of which Y-man Art Burgess is physical director, consists of elementary judo, swimming, softball, Olympic freestyle wrestling, track and field coaching and volleyball.

In the summer the boys will attend a camp, still undetermined, away from Victoria, where they will have daily choral rehearsals as well as a recreation program.

The cathedral staff gives the boys religious instruction.

Scottish Composer Will Preach Here

A series of sermons is being given in Central Baptist Church by Rev. John Moore of Ayr., Scotland.

Mr. Moore was superintendent of the Tent Hall in Glasgow for nine years and has preached at Bible Conferences in eastern Canada and the U.S.

He is the composer of more than 100 hymns and, during his sermons here, will tell the story behind some of the better known ones, such as Burdens are Lifted at Calvary and Why?

The Christian Life is his theme for meetings Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with the sub topics The New Birth, The New Life and The New Power.

At the 11 a.m. service Sunday his subject will be The Living God is Our God. He will preach on Three Attitudes to the Gospel at 7 p.m.

St. Andrew's Giving Vietnam-Aid Dinner

St. Andrew's Cathedral is sponsoring a symbolic dinner of rice and tea in Metropolitan United Church's Pendray Hall, Quadra and Johnson, at 7 p.m. Jan. 27, in support of Canadian Aid for Vietnam Civilians.

Presiding at the public event will be Msgr. M. T. O'Connell of the cathedral, assisted by Rev. Laura Butler, assistant minister of Metropolitan and vice-chairman of the Victoria committee of Canadian Aid for Vietnam Civilians.

Chairman Mira Yarwood said the meal is planned to enable participants to experience a sense of identification with and compassion for the people of Vietnam.

Member Lloyd Brereton said civilians in both North and South Vietnam will benefit from donations.

Among those sharing the meal will be a group of Victorians who have chosen to fast for three days prior to the event, Mrs. Yarwood said.

"They will donate a sum equal to the value of the meals not eaten during the period," she said. "They will break their fast at this token meal."

A program of music and ballet will follow the supper.

Already $1,100 has been raised locally to buy medical supplies for Vietnam in co-operation with the Vancouver committee. Supplies are sent through international agencies, Mrs. Yarwood said, to ensure delivery is made into the right hands.

Smut Ring Smashed

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Police cracked what they termed an "international pornography ring" Thursday night when they raided a swank apartment, arrested a public relations man and confiscated about 5,000 obscene photos and devices.

★ ★ ★

The raid by local police, Essex county sheriff's detectives and postal authorities came after post office investigators allegedly uncovered a "photo exchange club" which operated through the mails.

They said the club was operated by Gordon Taylor, 57, who was arrested, and involved more than 200 couples in 12 states, Canada and Sweden.

★ ★ ★

The officer said that when they raided Taylor's apartment they found a large quantity of pornographic photos and literature and a suitcase containing "obscene" objects.

According to detective Arthur Magnusson, who posed as a sado-masochist to crack the bizarre Newark "house of torture" operation in 1965, Taylor advertised in several magazines for couples who were willing to exchange photos.

★ ★ ★

He said persons responding to the ads were sent a chart which classified the types of photos available, and supplied a questionnaire asking for a "detailed history" of sexual activities.

Magnusson said the club solicited a $5 charge to cover postage and a $10 charge for a listing with the club.

The detectives said many of the photos confiscated at Taylor's apartment were categorized in albums according to the specific sexual aberration they depicted.

★ ★ ★

Newark police director Dominick Spina and county sheriff Ralph D'Ambola said they were amazed at the "lengths some depraved minds will go to."

"The ramifications of the case are widespread," they added in their joint statement. "The indications are that this was an international operation.

"The file we have gathered from the correspondence contains some interesting names, which will not be revealed until a thorough investigation is conducted."

★ ★ ★

Taylor was charged under the New Jersey statute prohibiting possession of pornography with intent to utter and with private lewdness.

JOSEPH EGOYAN
EVENING CLASSES IN INTERIOR DECORATING
The fascinating study of Interior Decoration will be introduced to you by theoretical and practical analysis of form, color, texture, dimension and values. These lectures will be held above the store and also supplemented by on-location studies, in selected homes, concluding the final class by a visit at the residence of Mr. Egoyan to discuss the problems arising in furniture arrangement, color schemes, lighting effects, drapery and carpet selection, and proper use of pictures and accessories.
Classes will be held on Monday or Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9, starting on Feb. 5th or 7th, at Ego Interiors. Total cost of 8 lectures, once a week, $20.00.
Mr. Joseph Egoyan, B.A.E., your instructor, is well qualified, with extensive theoretical and practical knowledge. He is a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago and the California College of Arts and Crafts; has taught at Oakland Tech High, Calif., the American College in Cairo and at the Evening Adult Education program in Victoria. In addition, he has a wealth of practical experience in the retail field as proprietor of Ego Arts Gallery in Cairo for 5 years, and Ego Interiors in Victoria for 6 years.

9 IN MEMORIAM

ELPHICK—In loving memory of Tina, who passed away January 19, 1966. Lovingly remembered by her husband Bob, and families.

FOSTER—In loving memory of our close friend, Billy Foster.
One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home—it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Jim and Lorraine.

FOSTER—In loving memory of our dear son "Billie" who left us last January 20th, 1967.
You cannot say, and you must not say
That he is dead; He is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.
So think of him still as the same, and say,
He is not dead, he is just away.
—Lovingly remembered by his Mom and Dad.

FOSTER—In loving memory of our close friend, Billy Foster.
He left us special memories which we shall never forget.
—Reg and Anne.

FOSTER—In loving memory of Bill, who passed away January 20, 1967.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Sadly missed by Bev, Debbie, Billy and Kelly.

FOSTER — In memory of Billy Foster from all his friends and members of the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association "V.I.T.R.A.", who passed away January 20, 1967.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend,
We think of you often and will to the end;
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.

FOSTER—In loving memory of our close friend, Billy Foster.
With us always, with unforgettable memories.
—Bob and Donna.

WOODRUFF—In loving memory of Gladys Woodruff, passed away January 20, 1967.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Always remembered by husband Bob, sons Harold and Fred, daughter Irene, and grand-daughters Carol and Pat.

TV TALK

By BRUCE LOWTHER

I don't suppose it's generally known that U.S. stations affiliated with TV networks don't have to pay for the programs the networks provide. Truth is, the stations are paid small amounts to carry the show.

But now the networks, whose growing financial woes have been reported here before, are thinking of levying a charge. The idea might be a fair one — ABC's pre-tax 1966 profit was 6.1 per cent of sales, the CBS figure was 15.2 but, among owners, the Storey chain boasted a 30.2 figure, the Cox chain 32.4 and the Taft chain a fantastic 45.

I have a feeling that a charge would mean better viewing. Local stations would be quick to demand improvements from the network if they had to pay for a show that was a ratings turkey.

BUREAU OF USELESS INFORMATION: Friday's flip answer — The small group in Artie Shaw's band was the Gramercy Five, and it was unusual because it included a harpsichord, played by Johnny Guarnieri. Who can forget the Summit Ridge Drive?

Today's question — There have been enough food songs to make anyone fed up. For instance, name two vegetables in Let's Call the Whole Thing Off. Also, you ought to bake what kind of a cake? I never get enough of what wonderful stuff? When it's what blossom time in where, New Jersey, we'll make a what of a what? Answer Tuesday.

Saturday Highlights

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

A lively mind can enable a player to transform a situation even though in theory he has no chance to win. Study the reasoning of Edgar Kaplan, editor of Bridge World magazine, when he held the East cards on this hand.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	1 ♠	1 N.T.	2 ♡
3 ◇	Pass	3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: Spade three

Kaplan was defending against three no trump, and it was clear from the bidding that declarer had a spade stopper. The problem was what to do after winning the spade opening with the king.

East judged that declarer would be able to grab nine tricks as soon as he got in. It would be impossible for the defence to take the first five tricks unless West had the club ace. And even if West did have the card, South would surely have the guarded queen.

The only hope was to persuade declarer that the situation was different from what it really was. At the second trick, East calmly laid down the club king. When he continued with a low club, South was completely taken in. South rose with the queen and Kaplan's subterfuge had worked to the tune of down two, for his spade ace provided the re-entry to two more club tricks.

NEW DATSUN FOR 1968

The "more-for-your-money car."

If somebody ever tells you he drives an economy import with 96 h.p. engine that goes 100 m.p.h. has a safer, impact absorbing body, the safest suspension money can buy, a wrap-around air-flow system that keeps windows clear, that it looks great, handles like a dream, and that he bought it from us for only $2025, believe him. It's the DATSUN 1600, the "more for your money car" at

THE BEST IN COUNTRY LIVING

Just what the doctor would order for city folk—sick—sick—sick of cheek by jowl living is this small but cosy home tucked away amongst 8½ acres of utter lovliness. The property is gently sloping with nice outlooks, extremely well treed with arbutus, fir, poplar and dogwood—secluded and yet only a few minutes drive from down town. There is a separate garage and workshop as well as another outbuilding suitable for guest cottage or hobby shop. A fully fenced corral could be used for raising dogs or fur farming or country livestock for that matter. A large spring fed pond stocked with trout and inhabited by wild ducks, geese and swans also enhances the property. As a hedge against inflation and a better way of life, to be sure, this could probably be the best investment you'll ever make. Price at $32,500 with clear title. SALT SPRING ISLAND

This seems to me to be just what so many people have been asking for; it fits the bill completely. THIS is a lovely old orchard on SEVEN reasonably secluded acres. There is power and phone and water from a new drilled well. ABOUT a hundred trees produce all the apples you and your friends could eat OR drink, and still leave enough to sell to pay the taxes. There is a thousand feet of sea shore and an old house you could fix up or burn down. There is a creek. It is all fenced. It faces south. The price is $35,000 with terms.

Nanaimo child evacuated

Hillside Swept By Mudslide

CAMPBELL RIVER — "We felt the building shake as if a big gust of wind had hit it," said Mrs. William McPherson Friday, describing a huge slide of mud that hit an apartment building Thursday.

No official damage estimate has yet been given.

Tons of water, followed by tons of mud and debris, cascaded down the hill behind the 22-year-old structure.

Two stores downstairs are occupied by Campbell River Sheet shop, was shifted by the mud. The pipeline broke, allowing the gas to escape.

Firemen stood by for 4½ hours. On the hill above, homes fronting Thulin Street were evacuated until the fumes evaporated.

A house adjacent to the McPherson building occupied by the Louis Tournier family, was damaged by the slide.

The basement was filled with mud and debris, and part of the side of the house ripped off. No one was hurt.

Boulder Blasted

PORT ALBERNI—A highways department crew had to blast a 30-ton boulder off the highway, just east of the summit on the road into the city, Friday afternoon.

Traffic was delayed more than an hour.

The boulder rolled down from the side of the mountain, but no one was injured.

Earlier, crews were called out to clear a slide seven miles east of Port Alberni.

★ ★ ★

The Tofino Highway, to the west, was closed Friday when Kennedy Lake overflowed. The road was flooded to a depth of five feet.

Public works crews in Port Alberni are still on 24-hour shifts. Superintendent Len Crowshaw said River Road was not flooded Friday at high tide, however the river is within a few inches of nearby houses.

The Somass River is rising at the rate of one inch an hour, and officials had no idea late Friday night when it would level off.

Public works supervisor Bill Bos warned parents to keep youngsters away from drainage ditches, some of which are three feet deep with fast-flowing water.

McCoy Lake weather station reported 8.31 inches of rain in the 48 hours to Friday morning.

Barge Stuck

UCLUELET — The big tug Sudbury II failed in a Friday attempt to free a log barge from Long Beach sand.

The tug arrived at Long Beach at high tide, and planned to throw a line on the B.C. Forest Products log barge Forest Prince, which is full of logs.

The Forest Prince went aground 500 feet from shore at Long Beach, and a chain from the craft is embedded in the sand.

Bad weather, fog, and other conditions kept the Sudbury II far from the stranded barge.

The tug is now at Ucluelet Harbor.

The logs will be off-loaded by helicopter when weather improves, and moved to Ucluelet where they will be loaded onto another barge.

Labor Bill 'On Level'

OTTAWA (CP) — A controversial labor bill now before Parliament was defended Friday by Prime Minister Pearson who denied that it is a "sellout to Quebec."

He said the bill, which would remove from the Canada Labor Relations Board the decision on certifying regional bargaining units, will probably go before a Commons committee next week.

"We'll make it quite clear then why we put this bill forward at this time," Pearson told a press conference.

★ ★ ★

The bill, an amendment to the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigations Act, has been under criticism from labor unions across the country who contend it will destroy the long-standing principle that employees in nationwide industries should bargain as a single unit.

Pearson was asked by a French-speaking reporter about complaints that the bill is a "sellout to Quebec."

"It is not a sellout to anybody or anything," the prime minister replied.

The question apparently referred to the campaign mounted by the Confederation of National Trade Unions to take Quebec groups out of CBC and railway units now established on a national basis.

During the last two years the CNTU, which has the bulk of its 200,000 members in Quebec, has been rejected four times by the labor relations board in bids to break up national bargaining groups.

The proposed legislation would provide for an appeal against future decisions of the labor board on regional units. Two of the three appeal board members would be drawn from outside the regular board membership.

★ ★ ★

A few weeks ago reliable informants said the government was not anxious to proceed with the bill because of opposition from both labor and management.

Invitation to Quebec Rocks Ottawa Boat

OTTAWA (CP) — The question of whether diplomatic courtesy was ignored by Gabon in an invitation for Quebec to send a representative to an international conference on education is under study by the federal government.

An external affairs spokesman said Friday the facts in the matter are being sought and it would be up to External Affairs Minister Martin to make any statement or take any action. Gabon is a former French colony in West Africa.

The invitation is to an educational conference, and Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson said his province can make its own international agreements on matters such as education.

FOOT-DEEP TORRENT swirls down Nanaimo's Harewood Avenue Friday, gouging away roadside and trapping car. Small river began several blocks away on Wakesiah Avenue. Trapped car, pulled free by wrecker as traffic moves by, went off road in darkness.

Floods Persist

ISLAND MOPS SOGGY FACE

By NANCY BROWN

Floods were beginning to recede from soggy basements and sloppy roads throughout Vancouver Island by late afternoon, Friday, after two days of record rainfall.

From two to nine inches of rain pelted down Thursday and Friday to block, flood and wash out roads and cause mud slides.

Higher than normal temperatures which melted snow combined with near record rainfalls and high tides to cause heavy flooding.

ISLAND CUT OFF

According to officials most of the snow is now gone except from the high levels, and even repeated storms are unlikely to cause the havoc that came in the wake of Thursday's rain.

Predictions of Port Renfrew residents came true Thursday and Friday, when some 30 families and 175 men on an island in Harrison Cove at the mouth of the San Juan River were completely isolated.

A tree was carried by the rapidly rising waters, hitting a pier of the 110-foot-long Harrison Cove bridge, and knocking it nearly two feet out of line.

"It was touch and go for a while there," said B.C. Forest Products engineer Burley Bowler. "It looked like the bridge might go Friday afternoon, but I think it'll still be there in the morning.

BRIDGE CLOSED

"How much good it will be, and how soon it will be in use is a different matter, though."

The bridge, which local residents want replaced because they claim it is dangerous, was closed by provincial highways department crews Friday.

Some 200 men were thrown out of work, when they could not cross the bridge to work,

Defence

Johnson Chooses Close Friend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson Friday chose Clark M. Clifford, a close friend, prominent Washington lawyer and "insider's insider" at the White House under three Democratic presidents, to succeed Robert McNamara by March 1 as secretary of defence.

★ ★ ★

A suave, silver-haired man of 61, Clifford told newsmen he much preferred to be an outside adviser to the President, and told Johnson so.

But, he said, "when the President of the United States looks you straight in the eye and says as President of the country, 'I ask you as a citizen to take this assignment,' then I cannot conceive of anyone having but one answer — yes."

★ ★ ★

Johnson made the announcement at a hastily-called White House news conference. He tapped Clifford Friday from among four or five men McNamara had suggested as his successor in one of the most demanding and exhausting jobs in Washington.

McNamara announced in November he was quitting

'Dove' Leads Cheers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Powerful members of Congress greeted President Johnson's selection of Washington lawyer Clark Clifford as secretary of defence with enthusiasm. Vietnam dove Sen. J. William Fulbright was the cheerleader.

★ ★ ★

"He will make an excellent defence secretary and he will be capable of re-evaluating policies," the Arkansas Democrat said "It is an outstanding appointment. I didn't know he'd accept it."

Fulbright said he did not know Clifford's views on Vietnam but he described him as a "reasonable" man who was "willing to listen." He predicted he would be a "team player."

★ ★ ★

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, (D—S.C.) of the House armed services committee, applauded the selection. He is in the "hawk" category.

"I believe the President has made a very wise choice," he said in a statement issued by the committee. "I've known Clark Clifford for many years and I'm confident that the defence of the nation will be in good hands."

Stanfield on Medicare:

It's Provincial Task

By IAN STREET

VANCOUVER—The federal government must redraft its national medicare plan, scheduled for implementation July 1, after "genuine consultation" with the provinces, Opposition Leader Stanfield said here Friday.

Stanfield told reporters that the process by which the Pearson administration arrived at the current medicare scheme made a "farce" and a "mockery" of the principle of consultation with the 10 provinces. (See also Page 15.)

Later, at a $50-a-plate non-partisan dinner, he told 400 listeners that a Tory government in Ottawa for some time to come would give priority to economic growth in Canada.

GRITS INCAPABLE

He attacked the Liberal government for allowing inflation to reach the existing serious proportions and said the present administration has shown itself to be incapable of solving the major problems which face Canada today.

"I suggest real consultation must be held because medical care, after all, falls within the jurisdiction of the provinces," said Stanfield at the airport press conference.

FOUR PRINCIPLES

After the federal government settled on the four principles on which medicare is based, Stanfield said, provincial spokesman tried in vain to obtain a meeting to discuss the matter with federal authorities. They were faced with a solid "take-it-or-leave-it" attitude.

Stanfield attacked Finance Minister Sharp's inconsistency in, on the one hand, urging provincial governments to exercise fiscal restraint, and on the other, attempting to force a costly medicare program upon the country.

FUNDS DIVERTED

Most of the provinces oppose a medicare plan starting July 1, the Tory leader said, because this would mean diverting funds from other projects which they consider hold a higher priority.

This threatens "a serious deterioration" of federal provincial relations, Stanfield said, at a time with constitution talks scheduled for early February when accord with the provinces is vital to Canadian unity.

"I am very anxious to see a

'Canada First' Bennett Label

VANCOUVER (Special) — Opposition Leader Stanfield said Friday he doesn't agree with critics who claim Premier Bennett has separatist leanings because he hasn't attended some recent federal-provincial conferences.

In reply to the question at a press conference here, Stanfield said: "I can't believe that a man like Mr. Bennett who was born in the Maritimes and now lives in the west can be anything but a good Canadian."

Stanfield, who resigned a premier of Nova Scotia to take over as national leader of the Conservatives last October, added: "Over the past 10 years I've attended a number of federal-provincial meetings where Mr. Bennett was present and I always found him co-operative and understanding so far as the rest of the country was concerned."

★ ★ ★

He said he hoped Prime Minister Pearson would permit some opposition members to attend the February conference on constitutional matters as observers. The prime minister said he would consider such a move when it was proposed recently in the Commons.

Stanfield said it was vital that the opposition as well as the government know first-hand what transpires and what views are expressed. He had earlier called the February federal-provincial conference the "most important of our lifetimes."

Liquor Prices Rise Twice in Month

Retail liquor prices were increased by a B.C. cabinet order-in-council passed Friday.

The retail price list was revised upwards last month following federal government tax increases.

A new price list approved Friday raised prices from five to 45 cents on more than 170 brands. Most increases were in the 5-10 cent range. There were also a few reductions, of between five and 30 cents.

Prices on most 12-ounce size ryes and gins went from $2.40 to $2.45. Prices increased from $4.70 to $4.80 on most 25-ounce bottles.

And Now There Are Eight

Eight Liberals have announced their intentions to seek the leadership of their party and the office of prime minister that goes with it (See Page 22.)

The leader will be chosen in Ottawa April 6.

In the field:

J. J. Greene, 47, minister of agriculture.

Paul Martin, 64, minister for external affairs.

Mitchell Sharp, 56, finance minister.

John Turner, 38, minister of consumer affairs.

Allan MacEachen, 46, health minister.

Paul Hellyer, 44, transport minister.

Eric Kierans, 53, former Quebec minister of health and past-president of the Quebec Liberal Federation.

Rev. Lloyd Henderson, 60, former mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man.

Kasperak 'Critical'

PALO ALTO, Calif. (Reuters) —Mike Kasperak, the fourth person to undergo a heart transplant operation, remained in "extremely critical" condition after a 2½-hour emergency operation Friday for an "actively bleeding" stomach ulcer.

Derelict Dutch Freighter

Little Trawler Dares Giant Rescue Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — An audacious band of Grand Banks fishermen watched the rescue of all 16 persons aboard the stricken Dutch freighter Ocean Sprinter Friday, then braved North Atlantic wind and waves to seize the derelict as a prize of the sea.

The 312-ton trawler, Zebreinney, put men aboard the Ocean Sprinter and took her briefly in tow. But the line broke and the freighter, without lights, drifted alist through the blackness of the ocean right.

★ ★ ★

"We are waiting until morning and will put a line aboard again at dawn if the weather permits," the Zebreinney's skipper, Capt. James Chayter, said.

Asked if he considered her a salvage prize, Capt. Chayter replied: "Yes. We only hope to God we get her in."

The drama of the little trawler boldly seeking to make captive a ship four times her size overshadowed the rescue of 15 men and one woman from the Ocean Sprinter after three days at the mercy of the cruel sea.

★ ★ ★

The tug Clyde was en route to the scene 245 miles off Newfoundland, commissioned to salvage the freighter.

Capt. Chayter was asked if he would make way for the Clyde upon her arrival, or whether he would seek to retain his prize.

"If we get a towline on her," he replied, "under no circumstances would we give the towline up."

The Zebreinney is a 142-foot trawler out of Trepassey, Nfld. She has 14 men aboard.

Capt. Chayter said the U.S. coast guard asked him to stand by after one of its cutters had a lifeboat smashed during the rescue of the Ocean Sprinter's crew.

"We were more manoeuverable," Chayter explained. "We would have had no difficulty in aiding the Ocean Sprinter."

However, all survivors were taken aboard the coast guard cutter, climaxing a chain of ill-fortune that plagued the Ocean Sprinter ever since she set out on a transatlantic voyage eight days ago from Summerside, P.E.I.

Trudeau Promised B.C.'s Co-operation

Justice Minister Pierre-Elliott Trudeau met with Premier Bennett Friday only hours after a similar meeting with Alberta's Premier Manning to discuss the forthcoming federal-provincial constitutional conference.

Both the premier and the federal minister shied at reporters' questions.

"I'm not here publicly," Trudeau said. "I'm not seeing the press.

"I'm not granting any interviews."

Following a 45-minute meeting with the premier, Trudeau said "we just talked about the conference to come and how we envisage it."

Premier Bennett said "I've just had a very frank discussion with the minister from Ottawa."

He said "we reached complete agreement."

Asked for more comment on the agreement, the premier said, "No further statement."

Trudeau said the complete agreement involved a promise by the premier to take Trudeau into the provincial cabinet if he ever decided to move from Ottawa to B.C.

Trudeau declined to answer reporters' questions here about the Liberal party leadership, saying "it would be wrong for me to discuss the political leadership."

Trudeau arrived here from Edmonton where he met with Premier Manning Friday morning.

ICC Help Denied

NEW DELHI (LAT) — An official spokesman of the Indian government said Friday that the U.S. could expect no help from the International Control Commission in deciding what to do about Viet Cong use of Cambodian territory in the Vietnam war.

"Our government's aim is not to contain the war in Vietnam, but to see peace restored throughout Indochina," the official spokesman said.

The Indian spokesman's statement was in accord with Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk's negative response to American efforts to get him to request a beefing up of the three-nation commission, of which India is chairman.

The official spokesman said: "The commission cannot take on the job of safeguarding the safety of Cambodia all along the border."

The ICC was set up under the Geneva agreements of 1954 as an investigative and advisory agency with no official enforcement powers. Composed of representatives from India, Canada and Poland, its recommendations hinge on the Indian vote, since Canada nearly always sides with the Americans and Poland with the communists.

Asked about the long delay in the ICC investigation of evidence in the case of the Viet Cong camp discovered by three American journalists in Kompong Cham province last November, the spokesman said; "The commission is not bound to consider complaints made by our journalist friends. It considers complaints from the Cambodian government."

Around the Island

Dark Brown Show Staged Tonight

NANAIMO — Tonight Nanaimo Theatre Group and Powell River Players combine efforts for an evening of two one-act plays.

Dark Brown by Philip Johnson is being produced by the visiting group, which brings to Nanaimo a new cast of players, with a new outlook on drama.

It is directed by Mrs. Lillian Saxby.

This club has come into the Island's drama zone, due to the amalgamation over the past three years of the north and south Island zones.

The second play is Overruled, directed by Mrs. Louise Wood.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. at Nanaimo Senior Secondary School.

UCLUELET — Local contractors Thomas Gibson and Sons recently completed the rebuilding of MacMillan Bloedel's Kennedy Lake division log dump in a record 10 days. The dump, 22 feet by 120 feet, is located at the top of Ucluelet Inlet.

DUNCAN — The third annual citizen of the year award will be presented Feb. 20 at a regular Kinsmen Club meeting. Chairman of this year's project, Bob Lewis, said he would like as many nominations as possible. Claude Green, chairman of the local hospital board, was the 1967 citizen.

□

UCLUELET — The women's auxiliary to the local Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association, which organizes many community projects, recently purchased a stainless steel instrument table and utility chair for the Tofino Hospital's operating room.

□

TOFINO — As soon as snow on roads clears sufficiently, work will start on construction of the CBC satellite station on nearby Mount Frederick, which will re-broadcast Channel 2 programs on Channel 7. Signals will be beamed along the whole west coast.

□

NANAIMO — The Hungarian Society has presented 50 books, written in Hungarian, to the Vancouver Island Regional Library. Past-president Frank Anzik said the donation would aid both the library and Hungarians seeking something in their mother language. Another 10 books will be donated in the near future.

□

UCLUELET — The recreation commission will hold its annual meeting Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. in the home economics room of the Ucluelet-Tofino Secondary School. The public is invited to attend.

□

NANAIMO — A total of $14,400,000 in construction permits was issued in Nanaimo during 1967, reports building inspector Ben Boers. The figure compares with a total of $9,400,000 for 1966.

□

FULFORD — The South Salt Spring Women's Institute will act as host for the district conference April 4. More than 200 women from up-Island are expected to attend. The meeting will be held in the Fulford hall. The local institute's card party will next be held in Nan's Coffee Bar Feb. 7. January's card party was cancelled because of poor weather and a busy round of other events.

□

CAMPBELL RIVER — Robert Roberts, grand exalted ruler of the BPO Elks, will visit Campbell River on Tuesday night, Jan. 30. He is from Vegreville, Sask. The lodge from Duncan will visit Campbell River March 9 for ritualistic competition, while Campbell River will visit Lake Cowichan April 30 for more of the same.

□

UCLUELET — The local unit of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association has been honored with the presentation of centennial medals to three senior officers. They are Douglas Robson, president; Murray Ralston, past president, and Harold Chorley, secretary.

□

NANAIMO — The annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will be held in Powell River March 14-16. William Anderson, Canadian chamber president, will be guest speaker on the final day.

□

CAMPBELL RIVER — Scandia Lodge of the Sons of Norway will hold a dance in St. Peter's Parish Hall next Saturday night, Jan. 27. Convenors are Mr. and Mrs. John Westlee, Mr. and Mrs. Trugve Renaas and Mr. and Mrs. John Johansson.

Driver Was 'Accident'

NANAIMO — John Edward Joseph Purdhomme, 32, 785 Hockley Street, Victoria, was fined $250, and prohibited from driving for six months, when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Magistrate Stan Wardill said after hearing the details of arrest, "You were an accident going somewhere to happen."

★ ★ ★

Prudhomme was followed along Commercial Street, when police noticed his poor driving.

He turned left onto Terminal at a no-left-turn intersection, and at each stop his car rolled back, almost into the police car, which had to be driven back to avoid collision.

The police car's red light was on all the time.

★ ★ ★

As a result of complaints by Wakesiah Avenue residents, Alan Burton was caught in a radar trap, January 15.

Police clocked his car at 48 miles an hour.

Giving chase, the police car reached speeds of 60 miles an hour, without drawing closer.

When caught, Burton became abusive, telling police the street was in good enough condition for the speed he had been travelling.

Magistrate Wardill referred to Burton's driving as being close to criminal.

★ ★ ★

Burton, who had pleaded guilty, was fined $25 and suspended from driving for 60 days.

Burton asked, "How am I going to get back to the vocational school?"

Magistrate Wardill replied, "You can walk."

Police followed John Miller, 42, Wellington, along his car's gouged trail, after he had hit and run, Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Miller was fined $200 for hit and run, and prohibited from driving for six months, and an additional $35 for careless driving.

After he pleaded guilty, court was told police followed the trail left by Miller's tire rim when he fled with a blown tire, from the accident at Rock City Road and the Island Highway.

Underwater Tunnel Idea Shown

NANAIMO—The man who developed the submarine tunnel has announced he will demonstrate a model in Seattle this spring.

Ernie Danielson of Ladysmith, demonstrated his idea to engineers of federal and provincial bodies two years ago, and since then has been perfecting it.

He has spent seven and a half years on it.

OWN BUOYANCY

"I had to be dead sure," he explained. The idea is a tunnel open on both ends, using its own buoyancy.

In simplest form, the idea is somewhat like having a garden hose stretched over a body of water.

Floatation is not the problem, but rather anchoring the tunnel so that it remains below the surface, presenting no obstruction to ships.

LIKE SUBMARINE

"Actually, it is like a ship, or a submarine," he said, "it uses the same principle of displacement."

He said the buoyancy is such that at maximum safety standards of construction, the tunnel still needs 30 per cent ballast to overcome buoyancy.

He said the tunnel, once submerged would need no upkeep, as does a bridge, because corrosion will not occur.

BARGES OUT

He predicts the principle could be used for transporting materials across bodies of water, eliminating need for boats and barges.

He said the basic problem facing islanders is not solved by ferries, either in the form of conventional ships or hovercraft, or hydrofoils.

Salt Spring Islanders have expressed interest in the tunnel, and have gathered information from him, with possibilities of having a single lane tunnel installed, with traffic alternating every half hour.

Happy Birthday With Sunshine

PORT ALBERNI — A birthday party for members of the senior citizens; Sunshine Club will be held Monday afternoon in the Echo 67 Centre.

The club, which has more than 120 members, meets Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in the Dogwood Room at the centre. Any adult is eligible to join.

The group's choir gathers Mondays to practice, and it will provide part of the entertainment at the party.

★ ★ ★

Carpet bowling is held on each of the four days, and rug-making and other hobbies are conducted Tuesdays.

The most popular day however, is Thursday, when games of bingo, whist, bridge, cribbage, chess and checkers are played.

Monday's party will be the start of a monthly event to honor those members who have a birthday in January.

★ ★ ★

It is extra special, because it is also in honor of all the birthdays which have occurred since the centre opened in late October.

Postmaster Les Hammer, an excellent amateur photographer has a fascinating collection of pictures taken during visits to farflung parts of Canada and the U.S., will show slides Monday. Tea will be served, and a birthday cake will be provided by the executive for the birthday members.

★ ★ ★

"It's an excellent chance to find out what the Sunshine Club is and what it does," a club spokesman suggested. "There are lots of plans for varied entertainment and hobbies during the months ahead, and everyone is welcome."

Chamber Convention

Wickett Chosen By Parksville

PARKSVILLE — Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce president Dudley Wickett will represent Parksville at the annual convention of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island at Powell River in March.

Discussions on resolutions to be presented to the convention were held at the first January meeting. These will be made final before the Feb. 15 deadline.

★ ★ ★

An important item on the agenda of the regular meeting was the chamber's request to the highways department for a traffic light at the intersection of the Island and Port Alberni highways.

Mr. Wickett said an engineer from the department had been to Parksville to look at the intersection, but no definite promise of action has yet been made.

★ ★ ★

Miss Parksville, Janice Moncrieff, will represent the district at the Vernon Winter Carnival, under sponsorship of the chamber.

Plans were discussed for this year's Miss Parksville celebration and pageant. Robert Flitton was appointed pageant committee chairman for the second successive year.

Vehicles Crunch At Home

NANAIMO — Two accidents happened together. Beverly Laffin, 120 Columbia Street, Nanaimo, suffered knee and head injuries. Her car and another driven by Brian Calvin, 121 Columbia Street, collided at the Needham and Princess Street intersection, only several hundred yards from either of their homes.

Estimated damage was $1,000.

The other accident resulted in minor injuries to Tom Hicks, 489 Seventh Street when his car, and one driven by Beryl Forester, 971 Malaspina Crescent, collided at the MacLeary and Campbell Street intersection.

The force of the crash sent one of the cars into another driven by Theresa Morten, 848 Albert Street.

Bridge Crash Kills Driver

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Henry Trevor Towes, 19, of Steinbach, Man., was killed Friday when his car slammed into a bridge abutment 25 miles east of here.

Jessie Wiebe, 17, of Morris, Man., suffered undetermined injuries. She was taken to hospital in Kamloops, where her condition was listed as serious.

WE NEED ANOTHER WAT TYLER TODAY!

In 1381, Wat Tyler led the Peasants' Revolt against excessive taxation and poor living conditions.

Dear Wat:

Times are hard again. We need you to haunt Ottawa and remind them that the peasants are not happy about taxes and housing conditions today.

Stewart & Hudson are leading a revolt against poor housing conditions on Vancouver Island. We regret we cannot help much in the fight against heavy taxation, except to run an efficient operation where you consistently BUY FOR LESS. For this we are already well known.

Yes, Sir! You can rely on Stewart & Hudson to help improve your living conditions with good housing. Space, privacy, comfort and relaxing surroundings are needed most in these tense and crowded times. Come in and see our large new selection of plans for new homes and improvements.

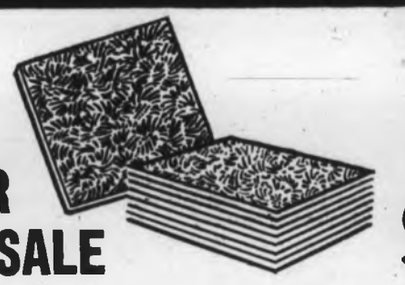

See us for long term financing with up to 5 years to pay for major home improvements in which labor costs can be included. Ask for advice on how to do it.

Lonely road near Extension becomes lagoon

Families Flushed By Angry Waters

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Continuous pouring rain Thursday night and part of Friday brought more floods to the Cowichan and Chemainus valleys.

About 100 men of public works crews and volunteers, including school children, tried to prevent serious flooding in the Beverley Street subdivision in North Cowichan.

The Cowichan Indian Agency, Civil Defence and Social Welfare pooled resources to prepare evacuation of several Indian families.

No Flood Control

Thursday night two Indian families were taken from their threatened homes to the Indian Recreation Centre, and Cowichan Band secretary Louise Underwood said if the heavy rains continue and the river keeps rising between 20 and 30 families would have to be evacuated.

Some homes in the city's Townsite area are inundated, and Kurt Peter of Marchmont Road said "They talk about flood control, but nothing is being done."

"This is ridiculous. They should come down here and have a look.

"I spoke to a fellow who has lived here for the past 20 years and he told me he has never seen the water so high."

Salmon on Road

Mr. Peter's next door neighbor, H. E. Day, commented "I know they are trying, but we think the city should have done more."

In his opinion the lengthening of the dike would keep flood waters from two site roads.

While Mr. Day was checking the water level at the front of his home a salmon jumped from a foot of water which covered the end of the road.

Civil Defence Co-ordinator Ted Bolin said he released 50 blankets from his stores at Duncan for possible evacuation and a number of residents are making their homes available for people who have to leave their homes.

Referring to the large effort at Beverley Street, Mr. Bolin said "We had a lot of co-operation from many people.

Work Together

Brentwood College sent a bus with 50 students and two teachers to help."

He said the City of Duncan made trucks and workers available.

"It is the first time that I have seen the city and the municipality work together so well.

"It is as if they loved each other, and I hope they keep it up."

North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton said Friday afternoon "I would like to give credit to the volunteers including the young people who worked at Beverley Street all night (Thursday) and Friday."

Meeting Soon

It feared, however, some of the families in that subdivision will have to be evacuated.

The reeve said the co-operation between the city and the municipality was very good and a meeting with the deputy minister for water resources is planned for the near future.

Duncan Mayor Jim Quaife said the city's sewage lagoon near the Cowichan River is 100 per cent safe.

Some problems are being experienced at the end of the dike along the river, but members of the Duncan Kinsmen Club and City works crews will work to strengthen the dike.

At Lake Cowichan part of the main road was not passable for traffic Friday afternoon and some homes had flooded basements.

Smokey and Sloop

Wild Wavy Blue Yonder

By WAYNE THOMAS

COMOX — Unification won't be quite so hard for Wing Commander Walter L. (Smokey) Drake to adjust to.

Smokey loves the sea.

But it almost killed him last year, when he was one-and-a-half hours out of Campbell River. His inboard-outboard motor cruiser blew up.

Helicopters

"The boat was loaded with 70 gallons of fuel and it erupted like napalm," he said.

Fortunately, search and rescue helicopter squadron from Comox arrived on the scene promptly and the retired wing commander was rescued virtually unhurt.

He has been retired for just over a year now, and lives with his wife Georgette on Yates Road. His house, appropriately enough, overlooks the navy spit.

Australia

"What do I do in my spare time? When I'm not in the garden I'm working around my sloop.

"She's a 31-footer, named the Condor.

"Two chaps built it and sailed her through the South Seas to Australia. I bought her last summer in Nanaimo."

He said he has been all over the world, and considers the sheltered east coast of Vancouver Island among the most beautiful spots for boating and cruising.

6,000 Hours

"I can think of nothing which gives me more pleasure than just calling in to a small bay for the night, and tying up alongside the shore."

Wing Commander Drake, 48, who was born in Kingston, Ont., logged slightly more than 6,000 flying hours.

"I enjoyed it while I was in the service, but I don't think I'll bother flying again," he said.

He had 27 years active service; in Canada, two tours of duty in the U.S., and flew Mosquito night fighters in England during the Second World War for a year, with 416 Squadron.

"I flew 52 odd types all told, including a couple of trips in Spitfires and Hurricanes."

He was transferred to Comox in June 1965. "I liked it so much I bought land immediately."

His previous posting was air attache in Moscow.

"I've sold all my trunks and don't care if I never travel again."

Wing Commander and Mrs. Drake have two daughters.

Black Forest

They are both involved, somehow or rather, with aircraft.

Cherie, 25, is a secretary at the USAF Strategic Air Command base in Omaha, Neb.

Diane, 23, is married to a flight lieutenant flying CF-104s at Lahr, in West Germany's Black Forest region.

Explaining why he didn't intend taking the controls again, Wing Commander Drake said, "I've got a lot of jet time. The thought of landing one of these light planes at less than 150 miles-an-hour frightens me."

'Must Fly Now'

He said he had no serious accidents during his career.

"No, I never scratched one," he said.

He last flew in July.

"You must excuse me now," he said. I've got some plywood glue drying and it sets very quickly."

Mud Swept Hillside At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — "We felt the building shake as if a big gust of wind had hit it," said Mrs. William McPherson Friday, describing a huge slide of mud that hit an apartment building Thursday.

No official damage estimate has yet been given.

Tons of water, followed by tons of mud and debris, cascaded down the hill behind the 22-year-old structure.

Two stores downstairs are occupied by Campbell River Sheet Metal Works and Island Outboard Ltd.

Upstairs are three apartments, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Crompton and John Humphries.

The slide pushed two cars in the driveway right across the highway.

The fire department was called to remove all upstairs tenants on fire ladders.

A 500-gallon tank of propane gas, belonging to the sheet metal shop, was shifted by the mud. The pipeline broke, allowing the gas to escape.

Firemen stood by for 4½ hours. On the hill above, homes fronting Thulin Street were evacuated until the fumes evaporated.

A house adjacent to the McPherson building occupied by the Louis Tournier family, was damaged by the slide.

The basement was filled with mud and debris, and part of the side of the house ripped off. No one was hurt.

Dialing Goes North

CAMPBELL RIVER — Campbell River will shortly become the hub of long distance telephone services for the Island from the Courtenay area north.

Direct dialing systems are being installed at a cost of $515,000, as part of a direct dialing project also being carried out in Victoria and Terrace.

The combined project will cost $3,000,000.

The service was introduced last year in more than 20 communities in the Interior, centreing around Kamloops, said B.C. Telephone vice-president of operations, Gordon MacFarlane Thursday.

* * *

He added that by the end of the year, 90 per cent of the 810,000 telephones in B.C. will be linked to the direct dialing system, which will permit station-to-station long distance calls.

There are about 20,000 telephones in Campbell River, Quadra Island, Willow Point, Alert Bay, Beaver Cove, Gold River, Holberg, Kelsey Bay, Ocean Falls, Oyster Bay, Port Alice, Port Hardy, Port McNeill, Sointula and Tahsis.

Courtenay, Comox, Union Bay, Oyster Bay and Cumberland, which have had direct dialing through Nanaimo, will be connected to Campbell River.

Robbie's Memory Honored

PARKSVILLE—The immortal memory of Robert Burns will be honored at the annual Burn's Night dinner and dance at the Island Hall Hotel tonight at 7 p.m.

The haggis will be piped in with due ceremony and Scots and Sassenachs alike will be entertained with a program of Scottish songs presented by John Dunbar and Miss Duff of Victoria.

Dirty Detail Prescribed In Immoral Acts Charge

NANAIMO — Ronald Hinksman, 18, was given a one-year suspended sentence in magistrate's court Friday, when he pleaded guilty to contributing to juvenile delinquency of a 15-year-old girl Dec. 6, by acts "sexually immoral by nature."

He was placed on a $250 bond, and told he must report to the RCMP Sanitary Crew every Saturday for two months, beginning April 1.

It is known by youthful offenders as the "dirty detail."

* * *

He was also placed on a 9 p.m. curfew all week, except for Fridays and Saturdays, when he may stay out until 11 p.m.

He and Douglas Saunders had been termed as not being active in the actual act.

Saunders' sentence, imposed Wednesday, had been read in court as a guide for Hinksman's sentence, with the exception that Saunders' curfew is one hour later.

* * *

John Halliday, 23, had been fined $500, David Gillis had been given a year probation on $500 bond, and a 17-year-old juvenile had been given suspended sentence.

Another juvenile who appeared Friday was given one last chance.

He must attend school regularly, and on time.

Juvenile Court Judge Stan Wardill told him an infraction of conditions would mean transfer to adult court, with a possibility of being sentenced to either Haney or Oakalla.

He said, "That's what's facing you, if you don't smarten up.

Tardiness in getting to school, for any reason, would be a breach.

"If you have to get yourself an alarm clock, do so," advised Mr. Wardill.

Boulder Blasted To Clear Road

PORT ALBERNI—A highways department crew had to blast a 30-ton boulder off the highway, just east of the summit on the road into the city, Friday afternoon.

Traffic was delayed more than an hour.

The boulder rolled down from the side of the mountain, but no one was injured.

Earlier, crews were called out to clear a slide seven miles east of Port Alberni.

* * *

The Tofino Highway, to the west, was closed Friday when Kennedy Lake overflowed. The road was flooded to a depth of five feet.

Public works crews in Port Alberni are still on 24-hour shifts. Superintendent Len Crowshaw said River Road was not flooded Friday at high tide, however the river is within a few inches of nearby houses.

The Somass River is rising at the rate of one inch an hour, and officials had no idea late Friday night when it would level off.

* * *

Public works supervisor Bill Bos warned parents to keep youngsters away from drainage ditches, some of which are three feet deep with fast-flowing water.

He asked that children refrain from throwing debris into ditches, because crews were just holding their own without additional hinderance.

McCoy Lake weather station reported 8.31 inches of rain in the 48 hours to Friday morning.

Barge Still Stuck

UCLUELET — The big tug Sudbury II failed in a Friday attempt to free a log barge from Long Beach sand.

The tug arrived at Long Beach at high tide, and planned to throw a line on the B.C. Forest Products log barge Forest Prince, which is full of logs.

The Forest Prince went aground 500 feet from shore at Long Beach, and a chain from the craft is embedded in the sand of Long Beach.

Bad weather, fog, and other conditions kept the Sudbury II far from the stranded barge.

The tug is now at Ucluelet Harbor.

The logs will be off-loaded by helicopter when weather improves and moved to Ucluelet where they will be loaded onto another barge.

They came from Mooyah Bay, Nootka Sound.

Boatman Saved Second Time

A 32-year-old Sidney man, who already this week was the object of a search by the Canadian Coast Guard, was hunted again by a rescue vessel Thursday night in the Gulf Islands.

R. M. Lansdowne, 10392 All Bay Road, was picked up at Princess Margaret Island at 10:35 p.m., more than four hours after he was reported missing in a 14-foot boat.

He was reported to have left Sidney's Van Isle Marina for the island early Thursday morning for the purpose of towing back a 24-foot skiff that had been at the island since Thursday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Lansdowne, a fisherman, told the Coast Guard that the small boat had hit a submerged log and the bow was stove in, an official said.

On Tuesday, Mr. Lansdowne and Mrs. L. H. Fowler, also of Sidney, were stranded on the island when a rope fouled the skiff's propeller while they beachcombed. They were rescued 20 hours later by the Ready.

Students Prevent Barge Destruction

A $150,000 barge and gravel loader would have been destroyed Thursday morning if two Victoria university students had not rescued it from rocks in Cordova Bay, one of the students said Thursday night.

John Genn, 24, of 5271 Parker, with the aid of Gerald Limbrick, 20, of 4930 Lochside, pulled the 150-foot barge to sandy ground.

The barge drifted into the bay after breaking loose Wednesday night in Haro Strait from a tug owned by Dunlop Towing Company of Laconnor, Washington.

The steel-hulled barge was empty. It was used for carrying gravel between Port Angeles and Friday Harbor, Mr. Genn said. A gravel loader was on board.

The barge went ashore in front of the Genn home and was first heard pounding on the rocks at 5:30 a.m. by the Genn family.

At first light the two students began their bid for salvage benefits.

B.C. Tax Form Under Attack

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis Thursday blasted the timing of a cabinet order which makes it compulsory for municipalities to use new standardized tax notices this year.

"An absolutely foolish move," he called it. "I'm pretty angry about it."

The reeve said he had no criticism of the standardization of the forms, "but all logic says there should be a year's notice."

Saanich ordered tax forms for this year a number of weeks—ago. They have been received, and some information has already been put on them for 1968.

SAME SITUATION

Also unhappy about the cabinet order was Oak Bay treasurer I. B. Forster.

Mr. Forster said the municipalities of Port Alberni, North Cowichan, Campbell River and Nanaimo, among others, were all in the same situation.

The cabinet order Thursday gave notice that, for the first time, all municipalities in the province must send out a standard tax notice.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said the new form would be made part of the Municipal Act at the coming session, and would have to be used this year.

He said samples of the form would be sent out to all municiipalities this weekend.

Mr. Peterson said the government would be prepared to share the costs of any extra expense in making the sudden changeover this year.

Mr. Peterson said the new form would improve efficiency and save money for taxpayers, "as well as making it possible for him to know what his bill is all about without needing a lawyer to explain."

Hush Law Drafted

Moving swiftly to end tire-squealing and motor-roaring on city streets, council finance committee Thursday approved the draft of a bylaw to be submitted to city council.

Only 10 days ago, in his inaugural address, Mayor Hugh Stephen warned that the city was going to move in on "that small minority of drivers who delight in operating their automobiles to the maximum annoyance of the public."

★ ★ ★

The mayor said Thursday that the bylaw here would be modelled on one passed in Vancouver late last year. He said it was something of an experiment, but would undoubtedly point the way to a permanent solution of the problem.

Specifically, the law will forbid "squeal" of tires when cars are accelerating or making turns, and "loud roaring and explosive sounds" emitted by motors.

No one will be allowed to perpetrate a "nuisance by noise" while operating a car.

Labor Bill 'On Level'

OTTAWA (CP) — A controversial labor bill now before Parliament was defended Friday by Prime Minister Pearson who denied that it is a "sellout to Quebec."

He said the bill, which would remove from the Canada Labor Relations Board the decision on certifying regional bargaining units, will probably go before a Commons committee next week.

"We'll make it quite clear then why we put this bill forward at this time," Pearson told a press conference.

★ ★ ★

The bill, an amendment to the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigations Act, has been under criticism from labor unions across the country who contend it will destroy the long-standing principle that employees in nationwide industries should bargain as a single unit.

Pearson was asked by a French-speaking reporter about complaints that the bill is a "sellout to Quebec."

"It is not a sellout to anybody or anything," the prime minister replied.

The question apparently referred to the campaign mounted by the Confederation of National Trade Unions to take Quebec groups out of CBC and railway units now established on a national basis.

During the last two years the CNTU, which has the bulk of its 200,000 members in Quebec, has been rejected four times by the labor relations board in bids to break up national bargaining groups.

The proposed legislation would provide for an appeal against future decisions of the labor board on regional units. Two of the three appeal board members would be drawn from outside the regular board membership.

★ ★ ★

A few weeks ago reliable informants said the government was not anxious to proceed with the bill because of opposition from both labor and management.

Invitation to Quebec Rocks Ottawa Boat

OTTAWA (CP) — The question of whether diplomatic courtesy was ignored by Gabon in an invitation for Quebec to send a representative to an international conference on education is under study by the federal government.

An external affairs spokesman said Friday the facts in the matter are being sought and it would be up to External Affairs Minister Martin to make any statement or take any action. Gabon is a former French colony in West Africa.

The invitation is to an educational conference, and Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson said his province can make its own international agreements on matters such as education.

FOOT-DEEP TORRENT swirls down Nanaimo's Harewood Avenue Friday, gouging away roadside and trapping car. Small river began several blocks away on Wakesiah Avenue. Trapped car, pulled free by wrecker as traffic moves by, went off road in darkness. See story below.—(Agnes Flett)

Daring Salvage

SHIP GRABBED BY TRAWLER

NEW YORK (AP) — An audacious band of Grand Banks fishermen watched the rescue of all 16 persons aboard the stricken Dutch freighter Ocean Sprinter Friday, then braved North Atlantic wind and waves to seize the derelict as a prize of the sea.

The 312-ton trawler, Zebreinney, put men aboard the Ocean Sprinter and took her briefly in tow. But the line broke and the freighter, without lights, drifted alist through the blackness of the ocean night.

★ ★ ★

"We are waiting until morning and will put a line aboard again at dawn if the weather, permits," the Zebreinney's skipper, Capt. James Chayter, said.

Asked if he considered her a salvage prize, Capt. Chayter replied: "Yes. We only hope to God we get her in."

The drama of the little trawler boldly seeking to make captive a ship four times her size overshadowed the rescue of 15 men and one woman from the Ocean Sprinter after three days at the mercy of the cruel sea.

★ ★ ★

The tug Clyde was en route to the scene 245 miles off Newfoundland, commissioned to salvage the freighter.

Capt. Chayter was asked if he would make way for the Clyde upon her arrival, or whether he would seek to retain his prize.

"If we get a towline on her," he replied, "under no circumstances would we give the towline up."

The Zebreinney is a 142-foot trawler out of Trepassey, Nfld. She has 14 men aboard.

Capt. Chayter said the U.S. coast guard asked him to stand by after one of its cutters had a lifeboat smashed during the rescue of the Ocean Sprinter's crew.

"We were more manoeuverable," Chayter explained. "We would have had no difficulty in aiding the Ocean Sprinter."

Defence

Johnson Chooses Close Friend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson Friday chose Clark M. Clifford, a close friend, prominent Washington lawyer and "insider's insider" at the White House under three Democratic presidents, to succeed Robert McNamara by March 1 as secretary of defence.

★ ★ ★

A suave, silver-haired man of 61, Clifford told newsmen he much preferred to be an outside adviser to the President, and told Johnson so.

But, he said, "when the President of the United States looks you straight in the eye and says as President of the country, 'I ask you as a citizen to take this assignment,' then I cannot conceive of anyone having but one answer — yes."

★ ★ ★

Johnson made the announcement at a hastily-called White House news conference. He tapped Clifford Friday from among four or five men McNamara had suggested as his successor in one of the most demanding and exhausting jobs in Washington.

McNamara announced in November he was quitting

'Dove' Leads Cheers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Powerful members of Congress greeted President Johnson's selection of Washington lawyer Clark Clifford as secretary of defence with enthusiasm. Vietnam dove Sen. J. William Fulbright was the cheerleader.

★ ★ ★

"He will make an excellent defence secretary and he will be capable of re-evaluating policies," the Arkansas Democrat said "It is an outstanding appointment. I didn't know he'd accept it."

Fulbright said he did not know Clifford's views on Vietnam but he described him as a "reasonable" man who was "willing to listen." He predicted he would be a "team player."

★ ★ ★

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, (D—S.C.) of the House armed services committee, applauded the selection. He is in the "hawk" category.

"I believe the President has made a very wise choice," he said in a statement issued by the committee. "I've known Clark Clifford for many years and I'm confident that the defence of the nation will be in good hands."

Stanfield on Medicare:

It's Provincial Task

★ ★ ★

'Canada First' Bennett Label

VANCOUVER (Special) — Opposition Leader Stanfield said Friday he doesn't agree with critics who claim Premier Bennett has separatist leanings because he hasn't attended some recent federal-provincial conferences.

In reply to the question at a press conference here, Stanfield said: "I can't believe that a man like Mr. Bennett who was born in the Maritimes and now lives in the west can be anything but a good Canadian."

Stanfield, who resigned a premier of Nova Scotia to take over as national leader of the Conservatives last October, added: "Over the past 10 years I've attended a number of federal-provincial meetings where Mr. Bennett was present and I always found him co-operative and understanding so far as the rest of the country was concerned."

★ ★ ★

He said he hoped Prime Minister Pearson would permit some opposition members to attend the February conference on constitutional matters as observers. The prime minister said he would consider such a move when it was proposed recently in the Commons.

Stanfield said it was vital that the opposition as well as the government know first-hand what transpires and what views are expressed. He had earlier called the February federal-provincial conference the "most important of our lifetimes."

By IAN STREET

VANCOUVER—The federal government must redraft its national medicare plan, scheduled for implementation July 1, after "genuine consultation" with the provinces, Opposition Leader Stanfield said here Friday.

Stanfield told reporters that the process by which the Pearson administration arrived at the current medicare scheme made a "farce" and a "mockery" of the principle of consultation with the 10 provinces. (See also Pages 6, 15.)

Later, at a $50-a-plate non-partisan dinner, he told 400 listeners that a Tory government in Ottawa for some time to come would give priority to economic growth in Canada.

GRITS INCAPABLE

He attacked the Liberal government for allowing inflation to reach the existing serious proportions and said the present administration has shown itself to be incapable of solving the major problems which face Canada today.

"I suggest real consultation must be held because medical care, after all, falls within the jurisdiction of the provinces," said Stanfield at the airport press conference.

FOUR PRINCIPLES

After the federal government settled on the four principles on which medicare is based, Stanfield said, provincial spokesmen tried in vain to obtain a meeting to discuss the matter with federal authorities. They were faced with a solid "take-it-or-leave-it" attitude.

Stanfield attacked Finance Minister Sharp's inconsistency in, on the one hand, urging provincial governments to exercise fiscal restraint, and on the other, attempting to force a costly medicare program upon the country.

FUNDS DIVERTED

Most of the provinces oppose a medicare plan starting July 1, the Tory leader said, because this would mean diverting funds from other projects which they consider hold a higher priority.

This threatens "a serious deterioration" of federal provincial relations, Stanfield said, at a time with constitution talks scheduled for early February when accord with the provinces is vital to Canadian unity.

Liquor Prices Rise Twice in Month

Retail liquor prices were increased by a B.C. cabinet order-in-council passed Friday.

The retail price list was revised upwards last month following federal government tax increases.

A new price list approved Friday raised prices from five to 45 cents on more than 170 brands. Most increases were in the 5-10 cent range. There were also a few reductions, of between five and 30 cents.

Prices on most 12-ounce size ryes and gins went from $2.40 to $2.45. Prices increased from $4.70 to $4.80 on most 25-ounce bottles.

And Now There Are Eight

Eight Liberals have announced their intentions to seek the leadership of their party and the office of prime minister that goes with it (See Page 22.)

The leader will be chosen in Ottawa April 6.

In the field:

J. J. Greene, 47, minister of agriculture.

Paul Martin, 64, minister for external affairs.

Mitchell Sharp, 56, finance minister.

John Turner, 38, minister of consumer affairs.

Allan MacEachen, 46, health minister.

Paul Hellyer, 44, transport minister.

Eric Kierans, 53, former Quebec minister of health and past-president of the Quebec Liberal Federation.

Rev. Lloyd Henderson, 60, former mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man.

Island Mopping Up After Big Deluge

By NANCY BROWN

Floods were beginning to recede from soggy basements and sloppy roads throughout Vancouver Island by late afternoon, Friday, after two days of record rainfall.

From two to nine inches of rain pelted down Thursday and Friday to block, flood and wash out roads and cause mud slides.

Higher than normal temperatures which melted snow combined with near record rainfalls and high tides to cause heavy flooding. (See also Page 34).

ISLAND CUT OFF

According to officials most of the snow is now gone except from the high levels, and even repeated storms are unlikely to cause the havoc that came in the wake of Thursday's rain.

Predictions of Port Renfrew residents came true Thursday and Friday, when some 30 families and 175 men on an island in Harrison Cove at the mouth of the San Juan River were completely isolated.

A tree was carried by the rapidly rising waters, hitting a pier of the 110-foot-long Harrison Cove bridge, and knocking it nearly two feet out of line.

"It was touch and go for a while there," said B.C. Forest Products engineer Burley Bowler. "It looked like the bridge might go Friday afternoon, but I think it'll still be there in the morning.

"How much good it will be, and how soon it will be in use is a different matter, though."

The bridge, which local residents want replaced because they claim it is dangerous, was closed by provincial highways department crews Friday.

Some 200 men were thrown out of work, when they could not cross the bridge to work,

Pass Reopened

KAMLOOPS (CP)—The Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada highway, blocked 46 miles east of Revelstoke by a snowslide early Friday, was reopened later in the day.

Trudeau Promised B.C.'s Co-operation

Justice Minister Pierre-Elliott Trudeau met with Premier Bennett Friday only hours after a similar meeting with Alberta's Premier Manning to discuss the forthcoming federal-provincial constitutional conference.

Both the premier and the federal minister shied at reporters' questions.

"I'm not here publicly," Trudeau said. "I'm not seeing the press.

"I'm not granting any interviews."

Following a 45-minute meeting with the premier, Trudeau said "we just talked about the conference to come and how we envisage it."

Premier Bennett said "I've just had a very frank discussion with the minister from Ottawa."

He said "we reached complete agreement."

Asked for more comment on the agreement, the premier said, "No further statement."

Trudeau said the complete agreement involved a promise by the premier to take Trudeau into the provincial cabinet if he ever decided to move from Ottawa to B.C.

Trudeau declined to answer reporters' questions here about the Liberal party leadership, saying "it would be wrong for me to discuss the political leadership."

Trudeau arrived here from Edmonton where he met with Premier Manning Friday morning.

ICC Help Denied

NEW DELHI (LAT) — An official spokesman of the Indian government said Friday that the U.S. could expect no help from the International Control Commission in deciding what to do about Viet Cong use of Cambodian territory in the Vietnam war.

"Our government's aim is not to contain the war in Vietnam, but to see peace restored throughout Indochina," the offi-cial spokesman said.

The Indian spokesman's statement was in accord with Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk's negative response to American efforts to get him to request a beefing up of the three-nation commission, of which India is chairman.

The official spokesman said: "The commission cannot take on the job of safeguarding the safety of Cambodia all along the border."

The ICC was set up under the Geneva agreements of 1954 as an investigative and advisory agency with no official enforcement powers. Composed of representatives from India, Canada and Poland, its recommendations hinge on the Indian vote, since Canada nearly always sides with the Americans and Poland with the communists.

Asked about the long delay in the ICC investigation of evidence in the case of the Viet Cong camp discovered by three American journalists in Kompong Cham province last November, the spokesman said:

"The commission is not bound to consider complaints made by our journalist friends. It considers complaints from the Cambodian government."
